YANKS TAKE PALOMPON, FOE'S LAST ESCAPE PORT

'Destruction Rarely Paralleled,' Says Gen. MacArthur.

MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Dec. 26 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Gen. MacArthur announced today that the Leyte-Samar campaign was closed except for mopping up operations. American doughboys yesterday captured Palompon, last escape port on Leyte Island.

Asserting that Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the Jap commander, "has sustained perhaps the greatest defeat in the military annals of the Japanese army," MacArthur's bulletin said the Japanese had lost an estimated 112,728 killed and 493 captured in the 67 day campaign.

"The completeness of this destruction," said MacArthur, "has seldom been paralleled in the history of warfare."

2,748 Jap Planes Bagged.

MacArthur said 2,748 enemy planes were destroyed in the islands, since the landing on Leyte Oct. 20, by the 3d and 7th fleet carrier planes, the army's 5th air force, marine units, and American shore and ship anti-aircraft guns.

A total of 27 warships and 41 transports sunk during destruction of 10 Leyte bound Japanese convoys does not include enemy losses in naval battles in Leyte gulf Oct. 25.

The American casualties of 2,623 killed, 8,422 wounded and 172 missing cover only the American ground force losses.

The coup de grace was given the Japanese on Leyte Christmas morning when a 77th division force entered Palompon bay and stormed ashore while escorting PT boats beat a tattoo against the beach, and the division's artillery laid down a bombardment.

Taken on Christmas.

The enemy had little with which to reply to the two-way barrage. By the time the "Long Toms" had lifted their barrage, Japanese survivors of the blasting were doomed just as their comrades were on Dec. 7 when the 77th landed just below Ormoc, to provide the anvil iron on which the 7th United States infantry division smashed the Japanese 26th division.

By nightfall the 77th's commander, Maj. Gen. A. D. Bruce, was able to message army headquarters:

"The 77th infantry division's Christmas contribution to the Leyte campaign is the capture of Palompon, last main Japanese port on Leyte. We are grateful to the Almighty on this birthday of his Son."

Pocket Cleared Out.

The capture of Palompon followed the cleaning out of a small Japanese pocket around San Isidro, 25 miles to the north. Most of the Japanese there were relics of reenforcing convoys destroyed before they could reach Ormoc.

When appointed commander in October, Yamashita was said by the Manila radio to have boasted he would demand "unconditional surrender" of MacArthur. The Tokyo radio had said that Japanese militarists viewed the battle for Leyte as "the decisive battle for our homeland."

Yamashita commanded the successful drives that resulted in capture of the Malaya peninsula and Singapore early in the war.

Today's bulletin reported another of the daily strikes at Clark field, near Manila, where 18 of 50 or 60 Japanese interceptors were shot down by American planes Sunday.

Yank Finds Japs Buried with Feet Above Ground

AMERICAN 10TH AIR FORCE HDQ., North Burma, Dec. 24 [delayed]—(AP).—Lt. Col. G. Robert Dodson, air force liaison officer, returned today from a forward liaison plane strip in north Burma and reported seeing 15 pairs of Japanese feet sticking out of the ground. Villagers said the Japanese had buried their own soldiers that way—upside down in neat rows.

WARSHIPS, B-29S AND LIBERATORS BLAST IWO ISLE

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Dec. 25 (AP).—Iwo Island, Japanese base in the Volcano Islands 750 miles south of Tokyo, was shelled by American warships and bombed by Super Fortresses and Liberators Sunday in the second coordinated sea-air assault of the war, Adm. Nimitz announced today.

The warships bombarded coastal defenses of the lava rock island and shore guns offered some return fire, Nimitz reported. None of the American ships was damaged.

A Japanese destroyer escort vessel was caught in the raid and sunk by shellfire. A patrol craft and a medium-sized landing ship also were sunk by gunfire.

Interception Is Weak.

Iwo is the closest Japanese base to Saipan, home grounds of the Super Fortresses which have been blasting Tokyo.

Lightning fighters escorted the Liberators on the 1,500 mile round-trip flight and strafed Iwo's air strips and shore defenses. One enemy plane was destroyed on the ground and six others damaged. Only two Jap fighters attempted to intercept the raiders. All the planes returned.

Chichi Island in the Bonins, north of Iwo, also was hammered Saturday by bombers. The air strips were the major target.

Blasted for 16 Days.

On Saturday a force of 50 Super Fortresses dumped bombs on Iwo and "heavy explosions in military installations" were observed, the 20th air force announced.

The assault followed an attack on the island Friday when Liberators blasted it for the 16th consecutive day. The B-29s all returned to their Marianas base.

Girl Meets Boy Yank; Result: a New Lingo

WITH U. S. FORCES ON WESTERN FRONT, Dec. 25.—Friendship between American soldiers and French girls has produced a strange new literature in a language approximating English. For example, the following letter from a young French woman to her American friend:

"Yesterday I have waited for you during 20 minutes [seven hours to seven hours 20].

"Do you want not to come with my parents in the house, or do you may not go out? Why?

Mother Has Her Say.

"My mother says 'He forget we, he has finded another family, and we shall see him never.'

"I may not go to you see at Mazeville. I go only to buy milk the evening.

"A young girl must not always walked with a mann in the street. The people says, 'She is a bad girl,' but with father and mother, or in the father's house it is good [well]. She must not smoke in the street in France. I smoke with you in the dining room but not outside.

The Pronounce Baffles Her.

"Says me where I write many mistakes. You are my teacher. When you are not here I may not learn to speak Americain. I like to write. I know not the pronounce.

"Yesterday your friend give me the hand and says, 'Come with,' but I go not, only with you, and you come not."

If that isn't genuine literature, at least in a minor key, I'll eat anybody's hat.

WE LOOK AHEAD TO OTHER CHRISTMASES

2 COLONELS, MAJOR LOST WHEN B-29 IS SHOT DOWN AT TOKYO

TWENTY-FIRST U. S. BOMBER COMMAND, Saipan, Dec. 3 [Delayed]—(AP).—A Super Fortress was lost over Tokyo today, carrying two colonels, a major, and nine others to death. It was the second B-29 downed in combat there.

Among those lost were Col. Byron Elias Brugge, 35, son-in-law of the late Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, Col. Richard Thomas King Jr., 36, and Maj. Robert Flood Goldsworthy, 27, of Rosalia, Wash., the pilot.

Disabled by the gunfire of a Japanese plane, the Super Fortress went down with two engines smoking and enemy fighters trailing her closely. One wing was apparently buckling when last seen. Nobody was seen to parachute. Col. Brugge of Tampa, Fla., trained for flying at Chanute Field, Ill. Among the enlisted men aboard was Corp. Harold O. Schroeder, 21, left gunner, of Appleton, Wis.

SPECIAL DINNER DENIED CAPTIVES AT FT. SHERIDAN

German prisoners of war at Fort Sheridan did not participate in the special Christmas turkey dinner served yesterday to American troops at the post.

Instead, the prisoners were given the regular menu which would have been fed to United States soldiers had the day not been one of special celebration, an officer representing the post's public relations department asserted.

The exclusion of the prisoners from the Christmas treat was not intended as punishment for their work strike of Dec. 12, the officer said, but merely was the interpretation of the Geneva convention articles stipulating that captives be given the same food customarily fed their captors.

Scapa Flow's Raider Held, Break Reveals

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 25 [Special].—Presence in a prisoner of war camp here of the famous German submarine commander, Guenther Prien, reported missing by the German high command in May, 1941, was disclosed today by a prison break in which 12 of his fellow officers scaled an 8 foot barbed wire fence and escaped.

Prien was the commander of the U-boat which slipped into the British naval base at Scapa Flow, Scotland, when the war was less than six weeks old and sank the 29,000 ton British battleship, Royal Oak, with a torpedo.

Unconfirmed reports previously had been circulated that Prien was among the prisoners in the Papago park camp near here, but officers admitted this for the first time in specifically denying that the German underseas service "hero of heroes" was among the men who participated in "a carefully planned escape" some time between yesterday afternoon and last night.

Six Enlisted Men Caught.

Accompanying the 12 officers in the break were 13 enlisted men, also members of the German submarine service, it was announced. Six of the enlisted men have been recaptured, the federal bureau of investigation announced.

Prien was 31 and a lieutenant commander at the time his exploit in sinking the Royal Oak startled the world.

He managed to get his submarine safely out of the British stronghold and returned to Germany where Adolf Hitler personally decorated him with the knight's cross of the iron cross. At that time Prien said he had also torpedoed and damaged the British battle cruiser, Repulse, but this the British denied.

Missing Since April, '41.

During the next year and a half, Prien had a dramatic career. In July, 1940, it was announced he had sunk 66,587 tons of shipping. The following November, Hitler added the oak leaf emblem to his knight's cross of the iron cross. In March he was promoted to commander.

The British radio reported on May 2, 1941, that Prien had been missing since April 13, 1941, but how the British knew this was never disclosed. Three weeks later the German high command acknowledged that Prien and his submarine had failed to return from a cruise. German sources thereafter never publicly mentioned his name.

Officials at the Papago park camp refused to reveal any of the circumstances regarding Prien's capture.

The prison break followed a disturbance at the camp Saturday afternoon which Col. William A. Holden, camp commander, termed a demonstration by the prisoners ostensibly as "a combination celebration of Von Runstedt's success and Christmas." Holden said this demonstration, in which about 200 Nazis participated, was "broken up with clubs."

"We hesitate to say exactly what happened," said Holden, who explained that the 25 men apparently made their break either under cover of the disturbance or last night during a heavy rainstorm. Some of those recaptured appeared at nearby ranch homes and surrendered, it was reported.

Reports published locally that the mass escape was a smoke screen to decoy the flight of "two or three Nazi big shots" were denied by Holden.

PREDICT NEAR ZERO COLD HERE IN WAKE OF 1.1 INCH SNOW

A cold wave of short duration was predicted for the middle-west by the weather bureau yesterday, with the temperature slated to fall today to around 5 above zero in Chicago.

The forecaster said the temperature would rise tomorrow, but not a great deal.

In Chicago, the snowfall on Christmas eve totaled 1.1 inches, bringing the month's accumulation to 13.6 inches. This compared with only 0.1 of an inch for December last year, when the ground was bare on Christmas day.

War Brings U. S. Couple Together for Paris Holiday

PARIS, Dec. 25 (AP).—Brown-eyed Capt. Jean Dickinson's Christmas gift was a reunion with her husband. Capt. Dickinson, an air evacuation nurse from Taunton, Mass., was based in England and her husband, Maj. Frank Carroll, of North Platte, Neb., was stationed on the continent. A sudden change in orders brought Capt. Dickinson to the Paris area in mid-afternoon today. The couple met in a crowded Red Cross hut.

Confer Today to End Strife; Call Leftists

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 25.—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden late today arrived in Athens with the announced intention of meeting tomorrow with representatives of both the Greek government and the ELAS, leftist liberation forces, in an effort to end the civil revolution which has wracked Athens since Dec. 3.

A spokesman said the British officials already had spent several hours here conferring with Field Marshal Alexander, Harold McMillan, British resident minister for the central Mediterranean, and British Ambassador Rex Leeper. They met also with Premier Papandreou of Greece.

"To Resume Her Place."

Churchill and Eden will convene a conference representative as far as possible of all Greek political opinion, it was explained, for the purpose of putting an end to "the fratricidal strife in Greece and to enable her to resume her place among the united nations."

The ELAS central political committee, which has been exchanging notes with British Lt. Gen. R. M. Scobie, was invited to send three or possibly four delegates to take part in the conference which will be at 4 p. m. Churchill and Eden guaranteed such delegates would receive safe conduct thru British lines.

Archbishop Damaskinos of Athens, who had been suggested earlier as the man who should become regent of Greece in event a regency was established, has accepted an invitation to preside.

Reads Message to ELAS.

Arrival of Churchill and Eden was announced in the crowded hotel press room tonight. The embassy spokesman first read a message to the ELAS central committee from Gen. Scobie. In the message, Scobie said he was forwarding to the ELAS committee a copy of a bulletin issued in Athens tonight and that he was inviting the ELAS to take part in the conference mentioned in the bulletin. The bulletin itself, which was read later, formally disclosed the arrival of Churchill and Eden and plans for tomorrow's conference.

Fighting Goes On.

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 25 (AP).—British Beaufighters blasted left wing ELAS forces' concentrations with rockets and cannon fire today in the northern suburbs of Athens. Artillery fire also was heard in the central part of the city.

The forces of the ELAS, military branch of the leftist EAM party, were reported using 37 mm. anti-tank guns as field artillery for bombardment of the British perimeter of defenses. Their firing, however, had become less frequent.

In Athens square, 1,000 yards from British headquarters and around quarters of the Americans, heavy mortar and sniper duels raged. Sherman tanks raided sniper nests west of the square.

Refrigeration Plant Seized.

Earlier the British in Athens' port, Piraeus, captured the main refrigerating plant for the capital area after a stiff fight in which the plant was damaged.

Tank-supported British parachute troops increased their hold on the western sections of central Athens.

Archbishop Damaskinos broadcast a Christmas appeal to Athenians for a cessation of hostilities and charged Italians with having sown seeds of discord.

Labor Group Protests.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Another labor voice was raised today in protest against Britain's policy in Greece. The executive council of Electrical Trades unions passed a resolution expressing "alarm at the efforts of reactionary elements in the British government responsible for the direction of policy in Greece."

NAZIS GAIN UP TO 3 MILES IN BURST TOWARD MEUSE

BIG U. S. FORCES LAUNCH ATTACK, BERLIN ASSERTS

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—The Berlin radio said tonight that United States forces in "great strength," with seasoned divisions from both the 3d and 7th armies, went over to the attack on a broad front yesterday and advances had been scored up the Arlon-Bastogne road.

The broadcast admitted that the attack on Field Marshal von Rundstedt's southern flank had forced the Germans from the village of Warnach, 10 miles south of the Belgian road center of Bastogne.

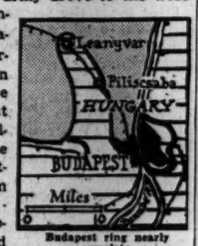

The capture of Warnach was reported by supreme headquarters in Paris in tracing developments up to early Sunday. Berlin said the Germans cleared out "after a prolonged struggle."

Enemy accounts claimed a rapid departure of heavy weapons and fast units from the 3d and 7th army fronts had been spotted, and that these had been thrown into the flank attack.

Russians Cut Nazis' Escape Gap to 10 Mi.

LONDON, Dec. 26 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Red army drove to the western city limits of Budapest yesterday and, in a 15 mile advance, cut the last railway escape route westward from the Hungarian capital and came within 10 miles of completely surrounding it.

Budapest ring nearly complete.

The Russians also surged westward thru southern Czechoslovakia toward the Hron [Garam] river north and south of Leva [Levice] in a drive within less than 65 miles of Bratislava and 98 miles from Vienna.

The soviet bulletin, announcing these successes last night, said they were accomplished with severe cost to the Nazis in both men and material, inflicted by Russian bombers as well as ground troops.

14,000 Slain, Reds Claim.

The toll of German and Hungarian dead in the five days of fighting southwest of Budapest has risen, by Russian account, to more than 14,000 and hundreds of Nazi dead were left on the battlefields of southern Czechoslovakia.

The soviet drive brought capture of Piliscsaba, 13 miles northwest of Budapest, thru which runs the electric railroad to Vienna. This was the last rail escape route remaining to the Germans.

The enemy has remaining a gap of 9.9 miles between Piliscsaba and the Danube river, but this is a roadless tract of wooded hills, and the Russians north of the Danube already are driving westward with a view to cutting even that doubtful pathway.

Two Suburbs Captured.

The suburbs of Budapest which the soviets announced they had captured along with more than 40 other communities west and southwest of the capital were Budakeszi and Diosd. Budakeszi adjoins the city limits of Buda, western half of the city of Budapest, while Diosd lies to the south.

Also captured was Leanyvar, 18 miles northwest of Budapest.

Santa Gives Buenos Aires Relief from 101° Heat

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 25.—A few days ago the temperature here reached 101 degrees, but a breeze today spared the city from "typical Christmas weather." In the afternoon, crowds filled the race tracks and watched other sporting events as is customary on Sundays.

Take Belgian Town 23 Miles from Sedan, France.

PARIS, Dec. 25 (AP).—The Germans were bursting toward the Meuse river in a new show of armored power on this bitter cold Christmas day in which allied air armadas for the third straight day struck mighty blows.

On the basis of latest positions disclosed at supreme headquarters tonight as of midday Sunday, the German advances were measured in perhaps one to three miles, but from field dispatches describing the force of the onslaught it seemed probable they had gone farther. [The British 2d army sector to the north was quiet.]

Against toughened American resistance, the Germans this time were not reeling off big gains, but they had definitely broken the 48 hour virtual stalemate.

14½ Miles from Meuse.

One of the new surges was aimed west of Laroche toward the Meuse, probably no more than 15 miles ahead of advanced enemy units farther south, reported operating near Rochefort, 14½ miles from the river. A second was aimed northward from Laroche in what appeared to be an attempt to outflank the St. Vith wedge which has split in two the big German push in Belgium.

One German force, pressing southward within 16 miles of the French border, seized Libramont, 23 miles northeast of the French gateway city of Sedan, and drove the Americans from Rosieres, eight miles to the east.

As these forces traveled southward, an American relief force some four miles farther east was fighting north in an attempt to relieve forces cut off in the Belgian road center of Bastogne, six miles ahead of its advanced positions.

Greatest Force Westward.

Along the 25 miles of Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's southern flank in the Ardennes hills, Gen. Eisenhower's counter-attack kept up its steady battering but there were no further gains reported since this morning's announcement of the capture of three towns.

Von Rundstedt still was throwing his greatest weight due west. Bastogne, in the center of his southernmost wedge, still was denied him by an epic American defense which scorned surrender and was being supplied by air.

Supreme headquarters said a heavy battle developed near Marvie, a mile and a half southeast of the town, where the Germans fell upon the perimeter of the doughboy defenses with tanks and infantry.

Yanks in Greater Danger.

On the north, the German drive reached the vicinity of Lierneux and Grandmenil, 14 and nine miles southwest of Stavelot at the apex of the American triangle splitting the German drives. It was not immediately disclosed what had happened inside the triangle, but it was apparent that the American forces holding strong ridge positions there were in increasing danger of being cut off.

Along the north flank, the enemy was driven from the village of La Gleize, three miles west of Stavelot, and 150 prisoners were taken. The line running west from Malmedy thru Stavelot and Stoumont still was firmly held by the Americans.

The Germans were losing heavily in men and armor and it seemed clear that American losses, too, were running into costly figures.

Report Division Destroyed.

One front dispatch reported an entire German division had been destroyed on an unnamed sector. A second dispatch, possibly referring to the same action, said an armored division which speared the drive originally aimed at the fortress of Liege lost 178 tanks, armored vehicles, and guns.

American prisoners rescued by their comrades said their captor officers told them the offensive's schedule called for arrival in Paris on

Jan. 17, after which, they were told, perhaps "Roosevelt will talk peace terms."

Field Marshal Von Runstedt lashed back yesterday at southern flanking assaults which had swept to within six miles of encircled Bastogne. The assaults narrowed the base of the entire Bastogne bulge to possibly 27 miles in Belgium and upper Luxemburg.

A dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent with an armored outfit spearheading the Bastogne relief thrust quoted a staff officer tonight as describing the situation as "a bit more promising," and "we are confident about the outcome."

Supply Garrison by Planes.

The Bastogne garrison again was supplied by planes. Five Nazi tanks which penetrated into Bastogne were destroyed.

Elements of more than 15 German divisions have been sent into the German counter-offensive now in its 10th day. It is known that the Germans still have more in reserve on the western front.

V-bomb activity has dropped off sharply. One possible answer is that the Germans need their transportation facilities for more important loads.

The Germans were forced to send strong forces south for a counter-attack after the Americans seized the village of Chaumont, six miles south of Bastogne.

Americans Win Town.

Von Rundstedt sent other forces to meet a menace to the base of his wedge, after the Americans seized Heiderscheid in northern Luxemburg and pressed on toward Tadler, nearly two miles beyond, where fighting broke out. [This would indicate a possible four mile gain from last reported positions north of Grosbous.]

Tadler, 21 miles north of Luxemburg's capital, is about 27 miles from the Americans' ridge positions west of St. Vith.

Most of the front line action elsewhere was German patrol probing for secrets of allied troop shifts.

The Germans crossed the Maas [Meuse] river at numerous points in eastern Holland, and also were active in the Saar.

The Americans reported a flare-up of small arms and mortar fire across the Roer from Linnich, but no attack developed.

To the south, doughboys cleared the enemy from most of Winden, four miles south of Duren, and mopped up Obermaubach, on the Roer bank a mile farther south.

Gain 300 Yards in Saar.

On the United States 3d army front in the Saar basin, Lt. Gen. Patton's forces gained 300 yards in the Saarlautern sector on the east bank of the Saar river.

There was "nothing to report" on the United States 7th army's Siegfried line front, headquarters said. The Germans made slight gains in a counter-attack against the French 1st army northwest of Colmar, in southern Alsace.

The French gained slightly at Bennwihr, four miles northeast of Colmar, but lost ground to German counter-attacks northwest of Colmar.

Striking in almost as great force as yesterday's 7,000 plane blow, allied warplanes wrecked at least 56 tanks, destroyed or damaged 791 other armored vehicles and motor transport in a renewed aerial onslaught that lacked only the full weight of the heavy bomber effort of the two previous days.

Blows at Rail Lines.

The United States 8th air force based in England sent 800 warplanes—half of them heavy bombers—across the channel in renewed blows at the railroad and highway life lines.

Thirteen bombers and 19 fighters were missing from the day's operations, bringing American and British losses for the three days to 198 planes. Fifty-five were heavy bombers, 39 medium bombers, and 104 fighters.

American flyers today bagged 44 German planes and brought the total of enemy planes destroyed during the same period to 375. On Saturday 183 Nazi planes were shot down. Yesterday 148 more were accounted for by allied pilots.

American targets included road and rail junctions just opposite the bulge driven into the United States 1st army lines by the German push and a number of railway bridges west of the Rhine on vital enemy supply routes.

Led by Fort Wayne Flyer.

"The weather was clear and cold and the formations were the best I have seen in some time," said Lt. Col. Gibson E. Sisco, of Fort Wayne, Ind., air commander of the Liberators on the attack.

In attacks near Coblenz, squadrons of R. A. F. Spitfires and Mustangs shot up military trains.

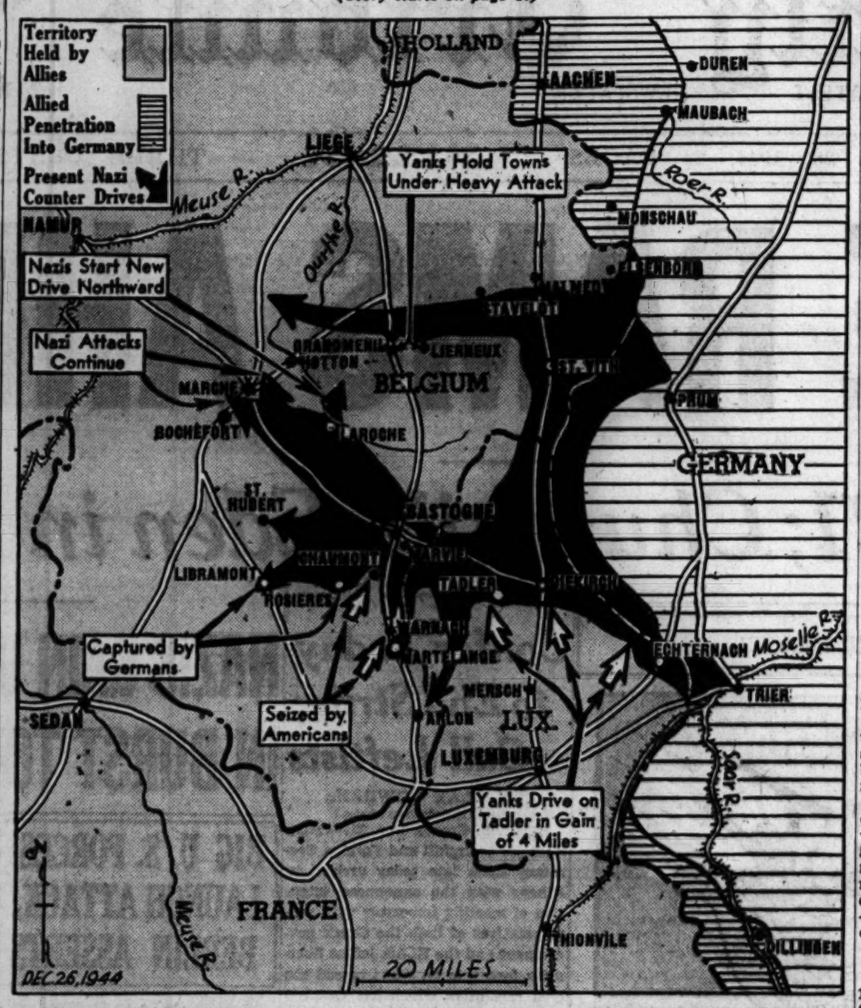

Once more the German air force came up to intercept the raiders, and one 30 minute battle was fought over Cologne.

American pilots who scored double kills in the air included Lt. Robert E. Welch, Brown City, Mich., and Lt. Horace Waggoner, Waggoner, Ill., got one.

Thunderbolts supporting the 7th army bombed and strafed from dawn to dusk. Incomplete reports said 19 locomotives, 270 freight cars, and 40 motor transports were destroyed. At least two enemy planes were destroyed. Previously unreported victories credited one to Lt. Richard Birnie, Geneva, Ill.

Germans Fight to Keep Winter Offensive from Stalling

FRESH FORCES HURLED INTO BATTLE, GERMAN WAR BULLETIN SAYS

The German Monday war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin said:

"Fresh forces were thrown into the winter battle in Belgium on both sides of the front.

"Enemy pressure on the northwest of the Rhenish and Saar Palatinate area was eliminated and his attempts at aiming at a breakthru against the central and lower Rhine were foiled.

"Americans, after their first defeat, were unable to continue their relief attacks between Elsenborn and Stavelot. Our troops in the Bastogne area started a concentric attack against strong American forces encircled there.

"The enemy, on a broad front, continued his strong attacks against the south flank of our wedge in central Luxemburg.

"In the area between the Saar and Rhine our troops repulsed the Americans from numerous localities and closely followed up the retreating enemy.

"The fire of our long-distance weapons on Antwerp and London was continued."

CENSORS REVEAL DETAILS OF BLITZ BY GEN. S. CLAUS

Army of Gnomes in Chimney Drive.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 25.—THE TRIBUNE is now allowed to reveal that Santa Claus this year operated from his headquarters at the North Pole and used reindeer to locate little boys' chimneys. Last night SHAEF issued the following "Christmas guidance" covering stories of Santa Claus' operations:

"Ground action— pass: 1. That a new North Pole command has been formed; 2. That Santa Claus is directing operations; 3. That he has under his command a small army of gnomes.

Stop: 1. Any speculation as to exact location of North Pole; 2. exact location of Santa's headquarters [pass names of department stores]; 3. Any estimate of strength and equipment of army of gnomes; 4. Any indication of buildup; 5. Any speculation as to contents of Christmas packages. [This embargo effective until 24 hours].

[Pass is censor's language for material which is allowable. Stop designates matter which may not be used.]

"Air action—pass: 1. That long range night operations are carried out by North Pole command; 2. that reindeer are showing antennae; 3. that these operations are carried out at night and in 10-10ths overcast 'by use of instruments.'

"Stop: 1. Any reference to radar or speculation on the purpose of reindeer antennae; 2. Any details how bundles are dropped down chimneys [beyond what is done 'by secret devices' or 'special scientific techniques]; 3. Any details of counter-measures taken by bad little boys; 4. All code names such as 'Donder, Blitzen, etc.'; 5. Any estimates as to speed, range, and load carrying capacity of reindeer.

"Signed by authority, SHAEF censors."

French Purge Court Tries Reporter-Writer Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 25.— Henri Beraud, French writer and reporter, will go to trial tomorrow before the collaboration purge court. Beraud has been charged with intelligence with the enemy largely on the basis of articles he wrote between 1940 and 1942 in which he proclaimed he was an Anglophobe as well as a Germanophobe.

CHANNEL ISLANDS EXPECT ARRIVAL OF RELIEF VESSEL TODAY

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Residents of the Channel Islands of Jersey and Guernsey will get a belated Christmas present tomorrow, when the Swedish merchant ship Vega from Lisbon, Portugal, which is taking the islanders food, medical supplies, and mail, is expected to arrive. The ship was chartered by the International Red Cross and was loaded with supplies in Lisbon. It has a German guarantee of safe conduct.

The Channel Islands of Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, and Sark are held by the Germans, altho they form a strong position and greatly reinforce the German submarines' position. They also strengthen the position of the Germans at La Rochelle and St. Nazaire in the Loire estuary.

The Germans are strongly entrenched in the Channel Islands and no effort has ever been made to drive them out. The isles are largely inhabited by retired members of wealthy British families who by spending six months there avoid payment of income taxes.

MECHANICS AND COOKS FIGHT OFF GERMANS 7 DAYS

SOMEWHERE IN BELGIUM, Dec. 24 [Delayed]—(AP).—The adjutant of an anti-aircraft automatic weapons battalion today explained how cooks, clerks, and mechanics of his headquarters battery, pinch-hitting as infantrymen, fought for seven days to help hold back German panzer [armored] forces which had made a deep penetration of any American sector.

"It was the first time any of these boys had ever fired at the enemy, yet they fought like veteran infantrymen and I'm sure proud of them," Lt. Charles Boevers of West Bend, Ia., said wearily.

"Our battery was moving out when a tiger tank shot up in front of our column in a Belgian town," the officer explained. "So we joined up with a cavalry troop. The cavalry colonel then gave orders to dig in and hold the town at all costs—there would be no retreat. Our mission was to hold the road open so other troops could get out with technical equipment which couldn't be replaced.

Borrow Some Bazookas.

"With cavalry, ordnance, and quartermaster troops we held that town for three days and three nights. All we had were carbine rifles, so we borrowed some bazookas and a platoon of light tanks.

"Finally we had to evacuate the town because the Germans had started bombing us. So we moved back into the foxholes and dug in for the first time.

"It was so cold that the water in our canteens froze and my boys were soaking wet. Some of them had only two blankets, others had none at all. They'd wake up in the morning with a mass of white frost on their faces—yet they stuck it out—and at one time they even went on an offensive patrol.

Destroy Five Tanks.

"All told we didn't kill more than 10 Germans, but we kept the rest of them from coming in. Now I'm busy trying to find the rest of our battalion."

One of the standout jobs in the vicinity of Stavelot was that of an anti-aircraft battery commanded by Lt. Leon Kent of Los Angeles, which destroyed five German tanks in two or three hours.

Two panther tanks were knocked out with borrowed bazookas by a pair of ack-ack boys who never had fired a bazooka before. Never given to wasting ammunition, they nailed the tanks with a total of four rounds.

Americans who helped destroy the enemy tanks included Sgt. John Davis of Coon Rapids, Ia.; Corp. Kenneth Humphry of Waterloo, Ia., and Corp. Clement Guigar of Peck, Mich.

OWI Reports Massacre of 300 Civilians in Italy

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The office of war information reported last night that members of the German S. S. [elite guard] and Italian Fascists had massacred about 300 civilians at Monchio, in the Reggio Emilia region of northern Italy, according to reports received from abroad. The OWI said the persons massacred were accused of sympathizing with Italian patriots.

YANKS CUT OFF, REPLY TO NAZIS: 'NO SURRENDER'

Knock Out at Least 55 Enemy Tanks.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS ON THE ROAD TO BASTOGNE, Belgium, Dec. 22 [Delayed]—(AP).—The first major counter-blow against Germany's offensive was launched with tanks and infantry before dawn today and our forces advanced [distance censored] against light resistance in three inches of snow. A famous armored outfit is spearheading the thrust.

American forces in the Bastogne area, who have been encircled by the Germans since Wednesday, rejected at 11:30 a. m. today [Friday] a German demand that they surrender. A German carrying a white flag came forward with the demand and gave the American commander a false report that three towns far to the west were in German hands. The American, however, sent him right back with a "No."

[Germany's broadcast war bulletin said yesterday: "Our troops in the Bastogne area started a concentric attack against strong American forces encircled there." Allied headquarters said: "There has been only local ground activity in the area of Bastogne, but enemy pressure continues to be strong just southwest of the town."]

Nazis Value Road Hub.

The Americans holding the Bastogne sector have knocked out 55 German tanks and that is described as a conservative estimate. It shows how badly the Germans want the road network that centers in that little town just inside Belgium near Luxemburg's frontier.

As the Americans were rejecting the demand for surrender, a rescue expedition was plodding toward them.

When correspondents entered a village this afternoon it was still being cleared in a house to house search. The Germans had been pulling back all day and the snowy, frozen stillness was broken only by occasional fire from rifles and machine guns.

The Americans in Bastogne and St. Vith were not the only ones surrounded by Nazi tank columns that cut thru our lines for six days like hot knives thru butter. Another sizeable group of men also is holding fast [13 words censored].

A Picture Postcard Scene.

As great tanks moved up to the front today, the scene on every side was like that of a picture postcard, with unspoiled miles of solid white and, shimmering in the background, masses of snowfilled evergreen trees of even size.

Skirting the western fringe of the German bulge all day yesterday on the way to this area, the Yanks found Belgians still waving enthusiastically in all the little towns.

They have seen some hurried departures from certain places and some civilians have bundled up their belongings and hit the road, but not many.

When the full story of the last seven days can be told, there will be some new "hero" divisions whose deeds will live long in the nation's history.

In the beginning, some of our forces were spread so thinly over the long front that at certain places the lines were held only by patrols. When massed enemy tanks and infantry hit them, they suffered. In some places costly disorganization was inevitable, but our soldiers regained their balance. Tonight they are hitting back, and trying to keep warm around little fires beside tanks that dot the moonlit snow.

SWISS TOWN BOMBED BY YANKS, RADIO SAYS; PLANE DOWNED; 3 DIE

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—An American squadron bombed Thayngen, Swiss town on the southwest German border today, an official bulletin broadcast by the Swiss reported. The bombing damaged the German rail station on the frontier, some factories and a number of houses, the bulletin said. One German was killed and four Swiss were injured, according to the report.

Thayngen is in the canton of Schaffhausen, for whose bombing by mistake earlier in the war the United States has paid an indemnity.

An American four-engined bomber was shot down by Swiss guns over Wuerlingen in the Aargau canton, also on the German border, the bulletin reported. Eight of the crew of ten bailed out but one drowned in the Aar river. Two were found dead in the plane. Seven survivors were interned.

AMERICANS SLAIN BY U. S. BOMBERS, BERLIN CLAIMS

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—A Berlin broadcast said today that United States bombers set fire to an American prisoner of war camp on the Lahn river Sunday and that many Americans were killed.

"Direct hits were scored on several barracks, one of which was a hospital for the wounded and sick United States prisoners, and all of them were killed," said the broadcast by Transocean, Nazi propaganda agency.

"Out of 60 American officers, the greater part were killed. Others were seriously injured. Other American prisoners of war who were being transferred to the camp from a train were machine gunned."

BLACK MARKET DEALS OF U. S. SOLDIERS TOLD

Army Gets Convictions; Offenders Sentenced.

PARIS, Dec. 25 (AP).—Army authorities made public today some details of black market cases involving American soldiers. As disclosed by the army, these included the following particulars:

Pvt. Morris L. Fredericks, white; Pvt. Herman Coleman, Negro, and Pvt. Turner Harris, Negro, went AWOL and lived two months in a Paris hotel allegedly supporting themselves on profits from the sale of government gasoline to the black market.

Hold Up Cafe.

On the night of Oct. 13, Harris and Fredericks held up a cafe in the Montmartre district of Paris and obtained $42,000 worth of jewelry, bonds and cash.

The following night they were arrested by military police, and the night after that Coleman was picked up by military police at another hotel. A general court convicted them and sentenced Harris and Fredericks to three years and Coleman to 10.

Case No. 2 involves Pvt. Herchel Maze Jr., Negro; Pvt. Calvin Perry, Negro, and Pvt. Robert T. Williams, Negro.

These men moved into a hotel in a Paris suburb. They had 11,000 packages of American cigarets and smoking tobacco which they said they bought from a Negro truck driver.

Get 10 and 15 Years.

For illegal possession and sale of government property, Maze and Perry were convicted and sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment and Williams to 10 years.

At the time of his arrest Williams carried $3,300 in francs. After his conviction this was returned to him on the ground that the court never had proved this particular currency was obtained illegally.

Case No. 3—Pvt. Homber B. Cardwell, white, was convicted of being AWOL, selling government property, and impersonating a noncommissioned officer, and sentenced to 25 years.

Case No. 4—Pvt. Walter L. Gordon, white, was convicted of desertion and selling a government pistol and clothing to a French civilian and sentenced to 25 years.

Sold 600 Gallons of Gas.

Case No. 5—Pvt. Raymond Maddox, Negro, was convicted of selling 600 gallons of gasoline to the black market. Arrested with him were three French civilians. Maddox was sentenced to 25 years.

Case No. 6—Pvt. Robert S. Jackson, Negro, was convicted of attempting to get gasoline under faked orders and sentenced to 10 years.

Case No. 7—Pvt. Elbert L. Hufendick, Negro, was a truck driver on the Red Ball [emergency] supply route. He was sentenced to 10 years for selling 225 gallons of gasoline to a French civilian.

Gets Life Term.

Case No. 8—Pvt. Efrid King, Negro, was convicted of going AWOL with a truckload of American food rations, cigarets, and other supplies and disposing of them in the black market. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Case No. 9—Pvt. Eddie Hackworth, Negro, was sentenced to five years for attempting to obtain gasoline on forged tickets.

Case No. 10—Pvt. Edward Frazier, Negro, was convicted of disposing of 1,055 gallons of gasoline in the black market and sentenced to five years imprisonment.

LEFTISTS RULE SOUTH FRANCE; PEOPLE FREEZE

Lack Fuel for Heat or Cooking.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOULOUSE, France, Dec. 19 [Delayed].—Leftist elements have seized the political posts of this region of southern France, which is one of the strongest Maquis [patriot] strongholds in the country.

Several propaganda centers have been opened, extolling the prowess of the Red army, and showing photographs of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, with excerpts from their speeches acknowledging that the allies owe their salvation to the Russian forces.

To counteract this propaganda and impress on the French that the Yanks and English have been fighting the Nazis, the Anglo-American civil affairs section has summoned an American psychological warfare unit to open a propaganda bureau.

Maquis Want Army Rank.

The problem facing the French is what to do with the Maquis, as the resistance officers insist on retaining the same rank in the regular army and the military hierarchy naturally wishes to preserve the prerogative of advancing selected men to higher posts. The army is seeking to solve this tactfully by persuading the resistance officers to undergo a period of training at the military schools, which has postponed any decision.

The resistance units still maintain a separate organization, but recently another appeal was made by the regular army for the Maquis to surrender their arms and join the regular forces or to disband.

Face Bitter Privations.

The socialist newspaper Espoir tonight editorializes that France must mobilize its man power to aid in defeating Germany and must forget the liberation festivities and parades.

This region faces a bitter situation this winter economically, politically, and militarily.

The people have been told point blank there would be no fuel for heating homes as all coal is earmarked for electricity and the railroads, and the lack of transport prevents the fetching of firewood.

Most of the women are stockingless, their legs blue with the cold. In the bleak, heatless apartments, hotels, and homes the people can only get warm by going to bed, as electric meters are strictly controled to prevent the use of electric heaters.

Get Gas Thrice Daily.

Gas is turned on from storage tanks at only three periods daily, for morning, noon, and evening meals. A number of persons, who forgot to turn off their stoves, were asphyxiated when the gas came on at the succeeding period.

The food situation is precarious, with the old French standby, soup, the principal form of nourishment. The brown bread ration is satisfactory, but the soggy, tasteless product does not appeal to the French.

Beans, always appreciated here, cannot be sufficiently cooked owing to the lack of gas, and meat served fresh from the slaughter is fibrous and tough. Most restaurants and cafes have abandoned serving the bitter ersatz coffee as the clients have refused to drink it.

GEN. LEE'S SON BLASTS BRIDGE, TRAPS 30 TANKS

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN BELGIUM, Dec. 23 [Delayed]—(AP)—Because of an exploit by Maj. John C. H. Lee Jr. and six other Yanks a convoy of 30 German tanks and a battalion of infantry are being whittled down in an American trap. Maj. Lee, whose father, Lt. Gen. C. H. Lee, is deputy commander of the European theater of operations, worked his way with his men thru the enemy lines and blew up a bridge over a stream. The enemy armor had crossed this bridge to strike north. Destruction of the bridge cut off the Germans' escape route and they were met head-on by American infantry. Maj. Lee, then a captain, was captured by the Germans during the Normandy landings on June 6, but escaped.

FRONT LINE CITY BORROWS LIGHT FROM NEIGHBORS

STRASBOURG, France, Dec. 23 [Delayed]—(AP).—This has become a city of borrowed light in the shadow of front line war.

American troops patrol its streets, French flags float serenely over its rooftops. But no part of this Alsatian capital is more than five miles away from German guns. Most of it is closer, and its waterfront on the Rhine is under machine gun and mortar fire from the opposite bank.

So it was a simple matter for German artillery to knock out a municipal power plant. The only surprise was that they waited three days before doing it after the 7th army drove them out of town. Since then nearly a month has passed and army civil affairs detachments collaborating with French authorities have managed to borrow enough electricity from towns well beyond the artillery range to illuminate all Strasbourg.

Street Cars Still Idle.

There also was enough for pumping the city's water supply and operating refrigeration plants and hospital electrical equipment. Only street cars still are idle.

Strasbourg's food situation is satisfactory, too, largely due to the fact that retreating Germans left so much behind.

Maj. Robert A. Gish, former Cheyenne, Wyo., engineer and now commanding officer of civil affairs detachments, estimated the stock was sufficient for eight weeks with the city's present population of 120,000. Under German occupation Strasbourg was the distributing center for Alsace, hence the size of the reserves. Additional supplies of various kinds will be available whenever the Germans fall back and the waterfront and its warehouses are freed from close range fire.

Highest Bread Ration.

Meanwhile, Strasbourg citizens are getting the highest bread ration in France—300 grams daily. Property damage was relatively light, many shops and a number of restaurants have opened, and retail trade has been resumed with German marks and French francs both circulating on the basis of 15 francs to one mark. The movement of civilians still is sharply restricted, however, and passes are required to go from one part of the city to the other.

There is no refugee problem here—in fact it is just the reverse since many thousands of German nationals fled across the Rhine while bridges still were available, leaving the city's population below normal.

German Civilians Problem.

On the other hand it is estimated that 30,000 German nationals still are living in Strasbourg. What to do with all of them is a political problem complicated by the emotional reaction of the French who lived under German occupation. For the time being the Germans are being closely watched.

The city looks so near normal during the day time that it is hard to get used to a 5:30 p. m. curfew. Churches have asked permission to resume midnight mass—forbidden during the German occupation—but authorities hesitate to lift the ban too soon. The Germans themselves take pains to remind the liberated city that they are just across the river, nightly using hog callers to broadcast across the Rhine:

"Take down those French flags, you people. We are coming back."

However, that is just what American troops on this front don't intend to permit.

FASCIST GANGS HOLD BUDAPEST IN GRIP OF TERROR, SAY REPORTS

BY P. E. BRIQUET.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Dec. 25.—Budapest is in the grip of ruthless gangsters as Russian armies, overrunning three-fourths of Hungary, have surrounded the capital except for a 10 mile gap, according to information reaching here from Hungary. Members of the Arrow Cross, Hungarian Nazi party, for all practical purposes have superseded government authority, it was reported.

However, this does not mean that the party officially is in control of Budapest but rather that armed bands, mostly of young men 15 to 18 years old, roam thru the streets, taking the law into their own hands.

Reports said Jews again bore the brunt of all attacks by Arrow Cross bands, women and children and the aged being beaten, ill-treated, and some shot down in the streets.

YANKS AND NAZIS TAKE TIME OUT FOR AIR SHOW

IN THE STAVELOT SECTOR, Belgium, Dec. 25 (AP).—Despite the intensity of the fighting in this narrow mountain pass not unlike the Adirondacks, both the Americans and Germans halted their fighting for short periods today and yesterday to watch the tremendous air show over their heads.

Thousands of planes streaked thru the skies and the earth shook with bombs as allied air forces delivered stupendous attacks. Hundreds of fighters were locked in combat and sometimes a unit in this village sent out a patrol to bring in American flyers who had bailed out in no man's land.

"We have given the German panzers [armored divisions] their worst beating since the Argentan gap debacle," said Maj. O. S. Sonesifer of Harrisburg, Pa. His words were borne out on a mountain road and a village a half mile from where he was speaking. The road was strewn with wrecked German tanks—39 of them alone being behind the American lines.

BRITISH REDS 4 TIMES STRONGER THAN IN PEACE

Influence Greater Than Numbers Warrant.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Membership in the British Communist party has quadrupled since the beginning of the war until it now totals 56,450, including 7,150 in the fighting forces who are not required to pay dues.

Each civilian member pays 28 cents dues a month, in addition to a quarterly assessment of 6 cents for the central election fund. Monthly dues give the party an annual operations fund of approximately $60,000, as the balance of the income is split among the district units.

The Communists by infiltrating into other organizations are exercising an influence out of proportion to their numbers. Members are urged by the party to run for elective posts at every opportunity.

Elected to Union Congress.

Bert Papworth, bus conductor who led the bus strike at the time of the last coronation, has become the first Communist to be elected to the general council of the Trades Union congress, which represents a membership of 6,642,000 and is the governing body for all the trade unions in Britain.

Arthur Horner, South Wales miners' leader, now is touring the United States and Central America as a representative of the Trades Union congress. He is often called into secret meetings in the house of commons to lecture Laborite members on problems in the coal industry.

Another Communist in an influential position is Joe Scott, executive member of the Amalgamated Engineering union. The union has seven full time executive council men, at least three of whom are usually fellow travelers if not actually members of the party.

They're Avid Pamphleteers.

Communist members in a position to do so never fail to push the party's point of view. The Trades Union congress document on post-war industry, in which it demanded state control for major industries, received the enthusiastic backing of the Communist party.

Eleven per cent of the delegates at the last T. U. C. conference in Blackpool, 73 in all, were party members.

The Communists also attempt to expand their influence by widespread distribution of pamphlets, of which 3,031,700 were produced in the last year. They had a retail value of about $600,000. The Communists also held 5,126 meetings, of which 1,107 were at factory gates.

The Communist party line, designed to appeal to youth, preaches the future glories of Britain. The Reds claim they are trying to rescue Britain from its state of economic backwardness and make it strong enough to play an important part in world reconstruction.

Leader Speaks Frequently.

Kingpin of the party is Henry Pollitt, general secretary, who tirelessly stumps the country. The 54 year old former Manchester boilermaker spoke at 105 meetings in a year. Collections at Pollitt's meetings totaled $14,000.

The Communists have one member in parliament, Willie Gallacher, representing a Scottish ship yard constituency. Fifty-three will be candidates for the next general election, which may be held next year.

Pollitt has advocated affiliation with the Labor party, with a view to forming a popular front to pull down the Conservatives. Labor party leaders, however, fight shy of any direct link with the Reds.

CANADIANS SAY 'NO' WITH GUNS TO TRUCE BID

WITH CANADIAN 1ST ARMY IN HOLLAND, Dec. 25 (AP).—French speaking Canadian troops on the German border answered a German bid for a Christmas truce with a withering reply of mortar bombs and machine gun fire, it was disclosed today.

Douglas Amaron, Canadian press correspondent, said the German bid for a 24 hour respite from fighting was broadcast over a public address system in front of the positions held by the French speaking Canadians about 10:30 Christmas eve. The request was followed by a recording of "Silent Night."

"The boys waited until the music ended and then replied with mortars," Sgt. Ned Ozimblowsky of Montreal said.

WILEY SAYS U. S. GETS TASTE OF THINGS TO COME

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—Sen. Wiley [R.-Wis.] said today Americans now are "experiencing the first shock of disillusionment over possibilities of post-war harmony and justice." He asked:

"Is not Europe's system still poisoned by thousands of years of national hatreds, class hatreds, religious hatreds, fear and suspicion? Has not war further polluted Europe's lifestream rather than purified that stream?"

He suggested that "we must be a good samaritan to Europe, helping it to help itself, rather than a Santa Claus, bountifully donating our treasures only to be inevitably abused when we cease our donations."

WIFE OF YANK AND FATHER OF 3 DIE TOGETHER

Found in Gas Filled Apartment Kitchen.

The young wife of a soldier overseas and a married man, father of three children, with whom she had been keeping company, died together in the gas filled kitchen of her apartment yesterday after playing "You Always Hurt the One You Love" on a phonograph.

She was Mrs. Elizabeth Hanes, 22, whose husband, Fred, whom she married after a campus romance at Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., is a sergeant in an army air force weather detail in Holland. She shared a four room apartment at 645 Madison st., Oak Park, with another young woman whose husband also is in service.

Wife Goes to Police.

The man who died with Mrs. Hanes was Louis Yangas, 28, a contractor, who lived at 3707 Nora av. His wife told Oak Park police he had been friendly with Mrs. Hanes for several weeks. Twice within the last week Mrs. Yangas met her husband and Mrs. Hanes and tried to persuade them to end their relationship, she said, and Christmas eve, when Yangas was absent from home, she went to the Oak Park police and tried to prevail upon them to interfere.

Mrs. Hanes' mother, Mrs. W. E. Zimmer, 522 Glencoe st., Highland Park, tried to extend Christmas greetings to her daughter by telephone several times yesterday, and late in the afternoon went to Oak Park. With the janitor, Frank Oberfranz, she entered the apartment. They found the bodies of Yangas and Mrs. Hanes on the kitchen floor, her head on his lap. All of the burners of the gas stove were open.

The phonograph had been stopped with half the record played, and the needle still rested in the groove. The choice of the selection and who provided the record caused discussion among police officers. Mrs. Hanes' record collection, contained in a cabinet, was composed entirely of classics.

Has No Explanation.

Mrs. Zimmer returned to her home after a brief talk with Lt. Freemont Nestor. She said she had no explanation for the tragedy.

A packed suitcase in the apartment suggested that Mrs. Hanes intended going home for Christmas. It contained gift packages marked "Mother" and "Dad."

Mrs. Hanes' soldier husband is a son of the Rev. F. Hanes, pastor of the United Lutheran church, Elkhart, Ind., who married the couple in July, 1943, after they met while attending the Quaker college.

Mrs. Hanes' father-in-law said last night he had been anxious all day because he had expected a Christmas message from her. He said he would attend the inquest, which is to be held at 1 p. m. today at 720 Lake st., Oak Park.

Mrs. Yangas told Lt. Nestor that she went to Mrs. Hanes' apartment last Thursday night and asked her husband to end the affair. She tried again last Saturday night, she said, and continued her pleading as she went with them on a round of taverns.

Sunday night she went to the police. They said yesterday she had given no ground on which they could act.

The Yangas' children are Barbara, 7; Louise, 5, and Richard, 6.

The young woman with whom Mrs. Hanes lived had been absent from the apartment several days to be with her husband, who is home on furlough.

NAZI PRISONERS STAGE YULETIDE PLAY IN CAMP

Dunkirk, N. Y., Dec. 25 (AP).—German war prisoners interned in a prison camp here observed their first Christmas in captivity by presenting a play, "The Origin of Silent Night," the camp's Protestant chaplain said tonight.

The Rev. Walter A. Haas, minister of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, said eight prisoners, speaking German, took part in the play, presented in a barracks before other prisoners and their guards.

At the conclusion of the play a chorus of 18 prisoners sang "Silent Night."

'WE'RE HUNGRY,' FLORENCE CRIES OUT TO F. D. R.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

FLORENCE, Italy, Dec. 23 [Delayed].—More than four months after its liberation, Florence is a discontented city, facing a Christmas as bleak as the bitter weather now sweeping down the Arno valley.

Much has been done for it by the allied military government, but it is hungry, and its people by tradition are turbulent and factional. It used to be the most fascist city in Italy and Fascism does not die quickly. At the opposite pole, its Partisans have great reason for dissatisfaction.

At the bottom of everything is hunger, Florence, like the whole zone north of Naples, gets only 200 grams of bread daily. When, during the American Presidential campaign the psychological warfare branch widely publicized a statement that President Roosevelt had said that the ration would be increased to 300 grams daily, Florentines believed it and rejoiced.

Signs Assail Roosevelt.

Now, in the streets, there are four signs, many painted on walls or sometimes printed and pasted up: "Roosevelt, are you a liar or did you mean it?" "We are hungry. Remember, that is the way the French revolution started." "Do you want Florence to be another Athens?" "We ask only for what you said that we would have."

There is widespread knowledge that in some respects conditions are better in the German occupied zone and that factor is naturally much exaggerated by distance and by effective radio propaganda. There is no ban on listening to anything and it is clear that Florentines, among others, do listen to fascist republican and German broadcasts, which, of course, make the most of their opportunities, including the dramatic developments on the western front.

Promises Can't Be Kept.

The chief difficulty here, as elsewhere, is that both before and during the liberation, many generous promises were made that could not be performed. Moreover, orders are often given from above that cannot, for material reasons, be carried out. The case of the Partisans here is an example.

Brig. Gen. Erskine E. Hume, chief civil affairs officer for the 5th army, has been ordered to disarm the patriots, clothe and feed them, and send volunteers forward as labor troops or as soldiers for the regular Italian army. The disarmament can be only incomplete, since every Partisan in Italy knows that rule and, as a result, a certain amount of arms has been hidden. Here, as in other countries, the patriots resent the disarmament order.

WHITE CHRISTMAS SLOWS UP ACTION ON FRONT IN ITALY

ROME, Italy, Dec. 25 (AP).—A heavy Christmas snowfall carpeted the Italian front today, confining activity to probing stabs at enemy positions after heavy German artillery, mortar, and machine gun fire thruout the night.

The northward and westward push of the 8th army above highway No. 9 has whittled the enemy salient east of the Senio river from a width of 10 miles to less than five.

Canadian units advanced along the heavily mined lateral road on the Senio's east bank, rooting the enemy from many fortified buildings in the area of Rossetta, 10 miles northwest of Ravenna. Ten miles to the south, the 8th army captured Pieve di Cesato, five miles northeast of Faenza, yesterday.

LOSES PURSE, $15, IN THEATER.

Mrs. E. G. Briggs of St. Paul, Minn., told police last night that she lost her purse, containing $15, in a theater at 57 W. Monroe.

31 NAZI PLANES SHOT DOWN BY BADGER'S GROUP

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—The 357th fighter group in yesterday's record assaults against the German offensive into Belgium was led by Lt. Col. Irwin H. Dregne, Viroqua, Wis. The group escorted bombers to the vicinity of Frankfurt and Fulde, where it encountered more than 150 Nazi planes. Its Mustang pilots accounted for 31 German planes, putting the 357th over the 500 mark in German planes destroyed.

"We engaged about 50 ME-109s and FW-190s which were steaming toward the tail end box of bombers," Dregne said. "There were dogfights all over the sky. Twenty German fighters came down to fight and 30 stayed up for top cover. We took the 20 first and then worked around to the other 30."

DIES AFTER HEART ATTACK.

Charles Woodward, 63, of 4641 Woodlawn av., suffered a heart attack yesterday while waiting for a street car at 47th st. and Wentworth av., and died in the quarters of engine company 50 at 4659 Wentworth av., where rescue squad 3, under Capt. Charles Sheehan, was unsuccessful in efforts to save his life.

10 DEAD, 17 HURT AS ARMY PLANE HITS MOUNTAIN

Ax Is Used to Rescue Soldier Survivors.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 25 (AP).—Ten soldiers were killed and 17 others aboard an army C-47 transport were injured when the plane crashed today on the fog shrouded summit of Roundtop, mountain five miles southeast of here while en route from Jacksonville, Fla., to Minneapolis, Minn., on a special mission.

The Middletown army air service command, announcing the casualties, said names would not be released until next of kin have been notified. Fifteen of the injured, suffering fractures and burns, were brought to the Harrisburg General hospital, and the other two were taken to a New Cumberland army hospital.

Free Passengers with Ax.

Fire Chief William Vogelsong of near-by New Cumberland, one of the first to arrive on the scene of the crash in a heavily wooded section, said the plan was crumbled against a tree and that a wing and one engine were on fire when he arrived shortly after 5 a. m. At least eight bodies lay near-by.

"It was the worst sight I ever saw," he said. "The men were in the plane crying for help and we had to cut our way to them with an ax."

Firemen had been summoned by a near-by resident, who reported a fire in the woods.

Vogelsong reported that much of the first rescue work was directed by Tech. Sgt. Charles Riddle of New Cumberland, home on furlough, who had been a member of the fire company. "He knew just what to do because of his experience on a crash crew in North Africa," Vogelsong said. Firemen got six injured men out of the wreckage before military personnel arrived.

Five Die in Navy Crash.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 25 (AP).—A twin engine C-46 navy transport plane crashed and burned in suburban Indianapolis today, killing five persons and injuring two.

The plane was bound for Columbus, O., after being turned back at St. Louis, Mo., on a flight to Olathe, Kas., naval air base. Everett Maxwell, Marion county deputy sheriff, said five bodies were removed from the wreckage. He reported the craft apparently was attempting to land at the municipal airport and overshot the field in a fog. It struck a tree as the pilot tried to pull up, Maxwell said.

Three of the men killed in the crash were navy personnel attached to naval air transport squadron 3 with headquarters at the Olathe base. Others involved were army personnel.

Three Killed in Ohio.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 25 (AP).—Three army flyers were killed and a fourth injured last night in the crash of a two engined army bomber south of Wilmington, O. Details of the crash were not revealed.

BRITISH TROOPS GAIN 10 MILES IN BURMA DRIVE

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 25 (AP).—British 14th army troops have pushed 10 miles toward the town of Yeu, 70 miles northwest of Mandalay, in a Burma jungle advance against slight opposition, southeast Asia command headquarters said today.

In Central Burma, British units advanced southward from Kokkogon, some 18 miles southwest of the Irrawaddy river town of Tigyiang, a bulletin said. Chinese troops operating in the northern combat area occupied two villages about two miles south of the Namhkam road near Dai Tik, just west of the old Burma road, it added.

American 10th air force planes supported ground elements. One formation bombed a Japanese supply area near Maymyo on the Mandalay-Lashio railroad yesterday and hit rolling stock on the same line.

TOKYO CLAIMS JAP SUBS STRIKE OFF U. S. COAST

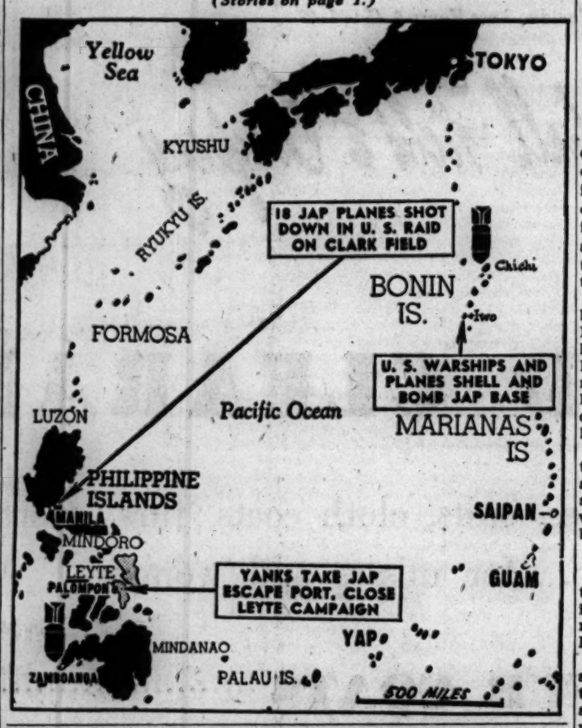

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—Japanese submarines are again operating along the United States Pacific coast, a Japanese broadcast said today. Domei news agency said submarines were "striking in force" after a two year period of "behind-the-scenes" supply operations.

The enemy report said four submarines alone, since the return to the offensive, had sunk four aircraft carriers, two destroyers, and four transports.

Summarizing submarine activity since Pearl Harbor, the Japanese claimed 15 aircraft carriers, three battleships, five cruisers, three destroyers, two submarines, and 200 transports, a total of 2,000,000 tons of shipping, had been "definitely confirmed as sunk."

Glider Pilots Put Behind Bars for Safety's Sake

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—To make their jobs less dangerous, allied glider pilots now are being put behind bars, it was announced today. The bars, however, are not those of a cell, but crash bars installed in the noses of cargo gliders to keep the flight ships from collapsing on the pilots after they land.

LONDON FORCED BY SUBWAY STRIKE TO STAY HOME FOR YULE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The British capital today spent a quiet "stay at home" Christmas, but not by choice. Angered at the authorities' refusal to give them two days off to make up for the Christmas shift, London's subway workers went on strike and almost paralyzed the city's public transportation system.

With bus and street car lines running on skeleton schedules and with no service on many lines after 4 p. m. and few taxis to be had, thousands found themselves stranded at home. Hardy souls, who ventured out, lined up at bus stops. Many despaired of even finding standing room in the jammed vehicles and either turned back home or walked to their turkey dinner hosts.

Hundreds of soccer enthusiasts, eager to see the Chelsea vs. Westham match which had been expected to draw a crowd of 30,000, were disappointed when, after they had successfully competed for taxis or changed buses several times to get to the stadium, the match was postponed because some of the players could not make it.

TELLS STORY OF 1ST CARGO SHIP TO REACH LEYTE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 [Special].—The story of the first American merchant ship to reach the Philippines—a Liberty vessel which came in two days after the island invasion, and despite Japanese air attacks, unloaded its cargo in less than three days—was told today by the war shipping administration.

The ship was commanded by Albion M. Burbank of Watertown, Mass., 32, a commander who already had seen action on the North Atlantic, Murmansk, and Mediterranean runs. One of his previous ships had served as bait in the trapping of the German battleship Scharnhorst.

The Liberty ship carried ammunition, jeeps, trucks, tanks, gasoline, and Piper Cub airplanes. She steamed toward Leyte in a huge, well protected convoy. She was to be the first ship to unload.

Jap Planes Attack.

On "A" [attack] day plus two, the big vessel entered Leyte passage in a squall. In the darkness, she missed colliding with a destroyer by less than five yards.

Early next morning the Japanese air attacks began. Two Zeros and three Betties bore thru the anti-aircraft fire to attack the ship. One was hit.

"Out of control," a war shipping administration representative reported, "he dove straight on the deck of a near-by vessel. There was a big puff of smoke, and the ship turned turtle and sank.

Plane Scrapes Ship.

"Another Betty screamed down from 2,000 feet. He pulled out neatly within 100 feet of the water and headed straight for us with all guns blazing. The plane was beginning to give off smoke and flame. The Jap lost control, dove for the side of the ship, zoomed up slightly and hit the flying bridge with only a wing, scraping across two gun tubs and the top deck and exploding in the water on the other side of the ship.

"Practically every man in the tubs or near them received bullet wounds from exploding ammunition which had spewed forth from the plane or burns from molten plane fragments."

After unloading the cargo Capt. Burbank ordered part of the ship's food sent ashore for the Filipinos. Then, ready to fight it out with more Japanese planes or ships if they should appear, he headed out for his next job.

$220 THEFT FROM NAVY OFFICER.

Lt. Comdr. James W. Hunter, Milwaukee, Wis., told police that burglars broke into his car, parked at Harrison st. and Wabash av., and stole a camera, binoculars, and clothing valued at $220.

CHINESE STAB AT JAP LINES IN KWEILIN SECTOR

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 25 (AP).—A series of stabbing attacks at Japanese supply lines northeast and northwest of enemy held Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province, was announced tonight by the Chinese high command. While the main body of Chinese forces still battled for Hochih in western Kwangsi, knifelike attacks struck at two important Japanese communications hubs deep in enemy held territory.

The high command announced that hit and run Chinese troops attacked the Japanese west of the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad town of Chuanhsien, about 70 miles northeast of Kweilin. Other Chinese attacked Japanese positions north of Hengyang on the Canton-Hankow railway.

[A dispatch from headquarters of the United States 14th air force said Gen. Marshall, United States chief of staff, had sent Christmas greetings to Maj. Gen. Chennault, expressing hope events of the new year would give the 14th air force back its lost bases in China.]

Memphis Frees 30 Drunks from Jail as Yule Present

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 25 (AP).—The city of Memphis said Merry Christmas to 30 persons today by releasing them from jail, where they had been lodged on charges of drunkenness.

PRESENTS BRING CHUCKLES FROM CHICAGO TROOPS

Soap, Spam, Cigarets Among Gifts.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY ON CHRISTMAS DAY, Dec. 25.—Bars of soap, cans of Spam, and cartons of cigarets were among the items which brought chuckles from Chicagoland soldiers as they told today of the contents of their Christmas packages.

Pvt. Jerome Sorkin, 5560 Monticello av., Chicago, reported getting 18 bars of soap. He was computing how many baths he could take with those bars and the army soap rations he receives regularly [presuming, of course, he could find enough bath water] when a comrade reminded him that soap stands very high as a barter item in France.

One of those who found Spam among his gifts was Pvt. 1st Class John Westenberg, 7640 Aberdeen st., Chicago. Grinning broadly, "Westy" presented this food item to his mess sergeant, who scowled and pointed to the heap of Spam already in the larder.

He'll Send Cigarets Home.

Staff Sgt. Howard R. Lash, 143 S. Springfield st., Midlothian, Ill., received a bumper crop of cigarets. The army gives him all he needs, and he is planning to send some of the extra smokes home to relieve his family's famine.

Corp. Ralph A. Nelson, 5645 S. Hamilton av., Chicago, and Sgt. Anthony Moles, 325 Harlem av., Forest Park, had no complaints about their gifts, but sorrowed for what they were missing at home. Ralph had only an hour with the new pinup girl in the Nelson family—Patsy Lynn, now six months old—and Anthony hasn't seen Carole Moles, who is two months old.

Sgt. Adam R. Neidenthal of East Chicago, Ind., came up with the observation that "winter over here is just like winter around Chicago." Neidenthal and Staff Sgt. Clarence V. Welch, 1345 16th st., Chicago, were glad to state all their Christmas packages arrived, and the same tidings came from Capt. Parker C. Fielder, 1039 Hollywood av., Chicago.

Sergeant's Gifts Late.

St. Louis S. Lancour, 3640 North av., was downcast because none of his gifts had reached him yet. He brightened up when his comrades invited him to share in some of theirs. Lancour is hoping in particular for a small radio.

Sgt. Pritchard E. Grimm of Hinckley, Ill., had only the best of words for the transoceanic Santa Claus. The sergeant said that his fondest hope is to be at home next Christmas morning and to read a Tribune eight column line which says "Merry Christmas to All" instead of telling of some war event.

YANK FLYERS' PARTY

U. S. 8TH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, Dec. 25 (AP). — Sgt. Robert Pacquin of Hollywood, Cal., robed as Father Christmas, arrived by Flying Fortress today with a bag of toys stowed in the bomb bay for 69 war orphans of Dr. Barnado mission.

Every officer and enlisted man on the station contributed either time, money, sweet rations, or all combined to give the English children Yuletide happiness.

It was the second annual Christmas party given by the 94th bomb group. Individual gifts went to each youngster and the base presented bicycles, model kits, books, games, construction, and chemical sets, and athletic equipment.

To top it off, Sgt. R. Becks of Quincy, Ill., party general chairman, arranged a Christmas dinner followed by a full length "Wild West" movie.

SANTA ON GUAM AGAIN

GUAM, Dec. 25 (AP)—[Via Navy Radio].—Santa Claus returned to Guam today for the first time in three years.

He wore a Seabee uniform under his brilliant red suit, and passed out gifts to the Chamorro children from the back of a carabao while American soldiers played boogie woogie for the natives from an improvised stage.

THE KING'S MESSAGE

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—In a Christmas message broadcast to the world, King George VI declared today that "the lamps which the Germans put out all over Europe, first in 1914 and then in 1939, are being slowly rekindled."

Queen Wilhelmina today sent to the people of the Netherlands a Christmas message of hope for a better and peaceful future "in the sure expectation of speedy and complete liberation," the Dutch news agency, Aneta, reported.

THE QUESTION.

What is the most exciting date you ever had?

WHERE ASKED.

Randolph st. at Michigan av.

THE ANSWERS.

Marilyn Evans, student, 7830 Luella av.—The high school prom at the Drake hotel! My friend and I asked two sailor friends of ours to escort us. It was my first time in a big hotel. After the prom they took us to a night club. I'd never been in a night club before and it was unforgettable and exciting.

Joann Russell, student, 8037 Ellis av.—It was the biggest dance of the year, and a high school senior asked me to go with him. He was one of the big wigs of the school — played on the football team and was a good dancer. It was the snowball dance at the Windermere East. I had a wonderful date and a perfect time.

Lorraine Sinden, student, 8121 Drexel av.—Keeping a date with a friend on Dec. 17 was most exciting. He was stationed at a naval base in the south. I left Chicago at 9 in the morning. It was my first trip on a big train, first time out of the state, and my first visit to a large naval air base. That day was complete enjoyment.

Shirley Helmar, student, 8240 Colfax av.—For five years I have been a rabid fan of Wes Aronson, who is prominent in roller skating. My friend asked me if I'd like to go to the armory to roller skate. We did and who should be at the door taking tickets? Wes Aronson! I've gotten his autograph 19 times.

Tula Athens, student, 7522 Chappel av.—I'd heard people talking about operas, had read about them in newspapers, and had studied them, but had never attended one. One night a friend asked if I'd like to see Carmen. Would I? It was such a delight. The costumes were lovely. I've never forgotten how happy I was.

BETHLEHEM CROWDED

JERUSALEM, Dec. 25 [Reuters].—Bethlehem's most crowded Christmas eve pilgrimage in living memory was witnessed here last night when the winding streets leading to the Church of the Nativity were jammed with vehicles and pedestrians.

Continuous lines of traffic moved back and forth along the main mountain highway from Jerusalem until dawn. Tens of thousands of people, mostly uniformed, from all allied services, flocked to attend the ceremony at the manger.

71 YEARS WED, CELEBRATE ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan W. Sanford, 97 and 91, respectively, who were married on Christmas day 71 years ago in Elkhart, Logan county, celebrated their wedding anniversary yesterday in Arlington Heights Rest home, where they have resided for a year and a half.

The couple was visited by many friends and by one of two granddaughters, Mrs. Paul D Stroud, who also lives in Arlington Heights. The other granddaughter, Mrs. William A. Bishop, resides in Urbana, Champaign county.

The Sanfords' two sons died at 19 and 38, respectively.

Among messages of congratulation received by the couple was one from Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Barse of Minneapolis, Minn., friends married on the same day 71 years ago.

STEAL $136, ADDING MACHINE.

Burglars who broke into the W. H. Long company, 441 N. Clark st., stole $136, including $13 in dimes and an adding machine, Morris Oppenheim, 2232 Burling st., the owner, notified police yesterday.

TRIBUNE SANTAS GET THANKS FOR GIFTS TO YANKS

Messages from officers of army hospitals continued to arrive yesterday at headquarters of THE TRIBUNE'S 2d annual "Gifts for Yanks" plan expressing the appreciation of convalescent men for the presents mailed to them by Tribune readers.

The last of approximately 25,000 gifts sent to ill and wounded army and navy men in 19 hospitals in Chicago and vicinity and eight neighboring states were distributed yesterday.

There Is a Santa.

"Gee, I didn't expect anything so swell," and "Did I ever say there isn't a Santa Claus?" were comments typical of the pleasure men at Winter General hospital, Topeka, Kas., derived from Chicagoans' remembrances.

Capt. Roy R. Anderson of the hospital staff wired: "Patients, most of whom only recently returned from overseas, were made happy by the spirit shown in the many gifts mailed thru the TRIBUNE'S plan."

Chicagoland men in Wakeman General hospital, Camp Atterbury, Ind., were among recipients of Tribune readers' gifts. The personalized campaign meant a great deal to men in the camp's convalescent wards as they gathered around a tree to open their gifts, public relations officers said.

Chicagoans Get Gifts.

Among men from Chicago and vicinity who were unable to get home for Christmas, but received gifts at Wakeman, are Corp. Frank Flowers of Kankakee; Pvt. Robert Nelson, 3438 Foster av.; Staff Sgt. Wesley Winters, 2837 Madison st.; Pvt. Venus Grant, 5723 Archer av.; Tech. 5th grade Henry Boerema, 7025 Ada st.; Pvt. Lawrence Foster, 4750 Racine av., and Pvt. Robert Williams, 10713 Avenue M.

The campaign, opened early in October, arranged for the distribution of blanks to wounded fighters in the hospitals. The men signed the cards, stating their gift preferences. The slips then were forwarded to generous readers wishing to remember wounded men at Christmas. The postoffice department did the rest, getting the thousands of packages to their destinations in time for the holiday.

GREEN DELIVERS MESSAGE FOR CHRISTMAS DAY

Gov. Green in his Christmas day message broadcast yesterday over station WLS declared that "peace on earth, good will toward men" shall endure "as long as there are brave Christian hearts and strong Christian arms to strike for God and right."

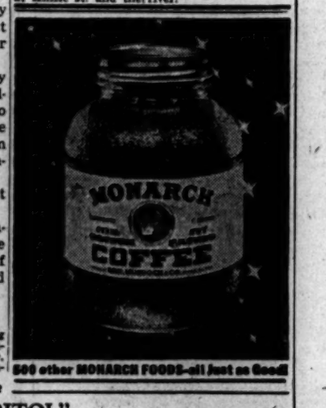

"Even tho in many homes there are vacant places this Christmastide which mark the absence of those who have given their full measure of devotion to liberty," the governor declared, "humble thanks can be offered God for the blessings he has bestowed.

"From the shock of bitter and treacherous defeat three years ago we have watched our heroic fighters drive the enemy back, advancing relentlessly upon the capitals of infamous foes while millions of other Americans became unified in the mightiest war production force of all time."

Gov. Green said that in the nation's fourth war time Christmas "the laughter of children and the kindliness extended to neighbor by neighbor are evidence that traditions nurtured in the hearts of a people who love peace and liberty will never die."

SERMONS POINT CHRISTMAS AS LIGHT TO WORLD

Pastors Tell Spiritual Lesson Given.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Pulpit utterances yesterday emphasized the spiritual aspect of Christmas. Preachers admitted that for many this year the season could not be "merry" in a worldly sense, but that for everybody there could be "joy" in the promise of the Incarnation that the Light of the World would never fail to extinguish terrestrial shadows.

"No one can say 'Merry Christmas' this year," said Bishop Wallace E. Conkling of the Episcopal diocese. "But we do well to remember it was not very merry on the first Christmas, when Christ was born. The stable was dark, cold, and forlorn. It is just because it was so that we know that in our present world of darkness and sorrow the Light still shines and, as the Christmas gospel truly says, darkness has never been able to put out that Light."

Spiritual Process Upheld.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison at Holy Name cathedral deprecated the intellectual approach to religion with its desire for theses, proofs, and conclusions. He stressed that Christmas was a happy event in life because it induced "the spiritualizing process of not only becoming as little children, and the impulse to adore the Christ-child and t..e Son of God in him."

Taking for his text, "Jesus began to do and to teach . . ." Msgr. Morrison pointed out that as a psychologist Christ knew that the proper approach to the human mind was thru the human heart.

"Can we not begin again to do?" Msgr. Morrison asked. "Do what? Love God in return for his great love to us, hope in God because of his great goodness, generosity, and kindness."

Christmas Leads to Heights.

The Rev. Adalbert R. Kretzmann at Evangelical Lutheran church of St. Luke, Belmont and Greenview avs., said "Let us frankly admit, even at Christmas time, that the Christian life has its restrictions, limitations, and constraints. It does cut a man off from things which attract; interposes a barrier between the heart and its desires; involves sacrifice and resignation. But acceptance of Christ means the entrance into a new sphere of the soul's seclusion. And this is what Christmas does for us. It leads us to the heights, opens the door to the better things of life."

The Rev. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, Fourth Presbyterian church, forsook theology for contemplation of the Babe of Bethlehem. "Thou camest as a tiny baby thing that made a woman cry," he said.

Meaning of Incarnation.

"Yes, but One who has wiped away more tears than any other son; one who some day will wipe away all tears. This is the meaning of the Incarnation—God becoming man, never man becoming God."

At the First Methodist church, Chicago temple, the Rev. Dr. Charles Ray Goff said, "Chistmas is filled with hopes and fears. It is at once the happiest season, yet at the same time there are dark fears in the shadows; this year, more than ever before, with our young people far away. But it has always been so, and never more so than at the first Christmas."

Christmas on Three Levels.

Dr. Harold W. Ruopp at Central church, Studebaker theater, stated that Christmas could neither be said nor sung—only experienced. "There are three ways in which we may experience Christmas" he said. "Superfically, as a kind of emotion. On a deeper level the experience may be ethical, evincing itself in action—we do good. At its deepest level, it is a religious faith in a God who came to us as the babe Immanuel."

The Rev. Allen Porter McCaul's sermon at Wheadon Methodist church, Evanston, was in reply to a man who remarked, "I'm glad I am not a clergyman, for what can one find to preach about at Christmas this year?"

"When the darkness is blackest, the candle of Christmas, be it ever so small, is all the more precious and worth our efforts to keep it burning," was the pastor's answer.

39 ANSWER PLEA FOR BLOOD TO SAVE WOMAN

An appeal for type 3-B blood donors, issued from Mount Sinai hospital in an effort to save the life of Mrs. Betty Waldman, 38, of 3609 Polk st., was answered yesterday by 39 persons, seven of whom were accepted after being typed. Mrs. Waldman, who is dangerously ill after an abdominal operation, has been given seven transfusions, and will receive another one Wednesday. She was reported "slightly better" yesterday. Doctors said type 3-B is rarely found among donors.

ITALIAN AUTHOR INJURED.

ROME, Dec. 25 [AP].—Emilio Lussu, author and Action party leader, was seriously injured yesterday when his automobile collided with a truck. His wife was slightly hurt but his 6 month old son was unharmed.

Bind 2 in Laundry; Safe Is Saved by Rap on Door

Someone knocked on the door of the Derby Steam laundry, 222 W. Ontario st., just in time yesterday to interrupt three men who had bound the watchman and a repairman and were at work on the safe. The three fled empty-handed.

CITY ENTERTAINS 132,000 YANKS FOR CHRISTMAS

While Yanks stationed in tropical climates dreamed of a white Christmas, Chicagoans donned overshoes yesterday for their trips thru streets coated with fresh snow to church and to family gatherings. Ponds and lagoons in the parks were frozen to ideal ice skating condition, and the moderate temperatures brought many out for winter sports.

Relatives of fighters spent the holiday quietly and reverently. Many of them gave long hours as volunteers at the service men's centers, which played host to 132,000 men and women in uniform over the week-end.

Turkey Dinners Served.

The loop centers served turkey dinners to all comers from 11 a. m. on. Special entertainments were presented, and army, navy, marine, and coast guard personnel visiting the centers were given more than 60,000 presents. The guests all were men and women unable to get to distant homes for Christmas, and who had been granted three day passes in the city.

Thirty-two states were represented by the military guests, many of whom came 200 or 300 miles to take part in the festivities. Children of service men also received presents.

Cast Gives Performance.

The cast of "Oklahoma" gave a performance during the afternoon at center No. 1. Mayor Kelly was among visitors at the center.

Most of the major war plants in Chicago and vicinity ceased operations for the day, except for skeleton staffs of plant protection maintenance men, and switchboard operators. The two women operators and 75 men on duty at the Douglas Aircraft company plant in Park Ridge yesterday were served turkey dinners and trimmings free of charge by Dan Baker, commissary chief. The meal was the gift of J. C. Buckwalter, plant manager.

Gifts to Orphans.

At the Oak Forest infirmary, chicken dinners were served to 2,400 inmates by the county, which also arranged for movies and entertainment. During the morning, various church groups visited the institution to sing Christmas carols.

Approximately 100 crippled children from Children's Memorial hospital were entertained in the Edgewater Beach hotel at the hotel's 15th annual Christmas party arranged by the management and guests. Gifts were distributed.

Several Catholic high schools, volunteer workers, and Chicago merchants sent toys and other gifts to St. Vincent's orphanage to make the Christmas tree celebration complete for the institution's 150 little charges, the oldest of which is three. All of St. Vincent's children eligible for adoption had been adopted by Chicago families within the three weeks preceding Christmas. The institution admitted no new waifs yesterday.

We get a lot of business right after Christmas. Men want to hide the neckties their wives gave them.

ST. NICK GOES BACK TO HORSE AND BUGGY AGE

Santa Claus crowded into a two seated buggy yesterday with two helpers for a round of calls on northwest side children whose fathers are serving overseas.

He was Robert Mueller, 4932 Grace st., a senior student at Carl Schurz High school. With the aid of Richard Printy, 5054 Waveland av., and Ray Jensen, 5008 Warwick av., both of whom expect to go into uniform soon, he distributed Christmas gifts collected by women in the neighborhood.

Ray owns the antique buggy, and he and the two other youths rented two horses that pulled it. The stunt excited popular acclaim, and many requests have come in for the boys to repeat next year. They have promised to do so, if they're not firing at the axis.

CHICAGO ACTORS DO THEIR BIT TO PLEASE TROOPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Chicagoland troupers in grease paint are taking part in shows at hospital, barracks, and bases during the holiday season.

One actor is W. A. [Babe] Waterlund, 627 Wrightwood av., Chicago. An acrobat with the Three Nonchalants act, he caught pneumonia in the field but has stuck it out for 18 months in Britain's clammy climate.

Among other Chicagoans here with U. S. O. units art Art and Ted Miller, a comedy act from 1244 N. Dearborn st.; Harry Behrman, who plays one of the leading roles in the vest pocket edition of "Three Men on a Horse," headed by a movie actor, Sam Levine; Beverley Allen, a redhead singing with a unit of which Jackie Le Maire is master of ceremonies, and Ralph Kirkhart, 3528 Congress st.

Others are Stan Ericson, piano accompanist for Crystal Cook, nee Crystal Annette Hammar, singer and dancer; Marie Elizabeth Kuhlman, dancer, 203 N. Wabash av.; Cecile Blair, acrobatic dancer; Helen Heller, nee Helena Louise Riley, actress; Phil Consola and the Melba dance team; Russ Wildey, accordionist, and Karl and Minoka, manipulators of a puppet act, who offstage are Mr. and Mrs. Karl Louis Sickenberger. Sickenberger's mother, Laura, lives at 1733 Ainslee st., Chicago.

Topping Chicago's contribution to the U. S. O. groups in France and along the western front, is Willie Shore, comedian.

Another Chicagoan on the continent is Floyd Rogers, a musician, whose nonprofessional name is Floyd Edgar Goodpasture, 2032 N. Mohawk st.

RAIL INJURY SUITS TRIPLE IN LAST SIX YEARS

Money Runs Into Many Millions of Dollars.

Records in the United States District court clerk's office yesterday revealed that personal injury suits filed against railroads in that court have nearly trebled during the last six years. Various reasons for the increase in that kind of suits in the court were advanced by lawyers.

While the number of suits filed in 1944 does not appear to be many—a total of 71—the money involved in the suits runs into millions of dollars. A judgment returned by a jury last week totaled $65,000 for an automobile and railroad collision that had resulted in two deaths and the permanent injury of a young girl.

Rise Is Steady.

In 1939 only 25 such suits were filed in the federal District court, and in 1940, 28 were filed. For the succeeding years the following number of suits were brought to that court: 1941, 37; 1942, 47; 1943, 59; 1944, 71.

No matter where an accident occurred, suit may be brought in federal court in Chicago if the mishap was within the scope of the federal railroad employes liability act or if the litigants can show that the plaintiff and defendant reside in different states.

A lawyer who has represented many plaintiffs in personal cases with success gave his reason for bringing every case that he could to the federal court. He said that, while he did not believe that the judgments in the federal court were higher on an average than those returned in the state courts, the jurors in the former court were of a higher type and that their judgments were sounder and in many cases of serious injury were higher.

Appeal Chance Better.

Many of the jurors in the federal court are selected from the suburbs and rural areas. The personal injury lawyer said that the principal reason for taking the cases to federal court was that a quicker trial and appeal may be had. He said that a case in the federal court as a rule comes to trial within four to six months, while in the state courts litigants usually wait for two years for a trial of their case.

He said that the Appellate courts were less likely to disturb the judgments returned in the federal District court than those in the state courts.

A trial lawyer for one of the large railroads said that the defendants had as many advantages in the federal court as the plaintiffs and frequently transferred cases from the state to the federal courts. He said that the defendants may ask the court to appoint physicians to examine the plaintiff as to the extent of his injuries and thus prevent fraud.

NEW YEAR EVE'S RESERVATIONS ARE AT PREMIUM

New Year's eve night club reservations in Chicago, New York, and San Francisco were reported at a premium yesterday.

Local cover charges in Chicago's bright spots range from a $17.25 top at Camellia house in the Drake hotel to as low as $2 in eating places catering to the family trade. The Palmer House reported three-quarters of its reservations already disposed of at the $14.28 minimum. Accommodations in the Pump room of the Ambassador East hotel are virtually gone at a $15.25 minimum, it was said.

In contrast with these preparations for hilarity, the war, it was reported, will impel numerous Chicagoans to watch the old year out at special services planned by many churches.

Chicago wet spots without a restaurant license must close at 3 a. m. Sunday, but those which serve food along with drinks will be permitted to make the welkin ring until 5 a. m. in ushering in the New Year, Police Commissioner Allman's office said.

TIRE ALLOTMENT DOWN 200,000 FOR CIVILIAN DRIVERS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—Civilians will get 200,000 fewer passenger tires in January than this month, the OPA said today. In addition, the January quota of small truck and bus tires is down sharply from 280,000 to 216,000.

In the heavy truck and bus tire category—where already there is a back-log of 100,000 priority applications—the allocation is pared to 110,000, down 10,000 from the December quota.

With "A" motorists due to wait until late 1945 for new tires, OPA urged full use of recapping facilities. It said that a "substantial" quota of this equipment is idle.

BILLFOLD WITH $20 LOST.

CIGARET CRISIS PUTS CRIMP ON PIPE SMOKERS

'Roll Your Own' Items Also Getting Scarce.

Pipe smoking is steadily increasing, pipe sales are up 25 per cent or more, while the supplies of tobaccos both to fill the glowing bowl and to roll your own are getting extremely short as a result of the cigaret shortage, retail tobacco dealers reported yesterday.

Several of the dealers said that the demand for pipes and pipe tobacco as well as for "makings" with which to roll cigarets is beginning to approach the proportions of a "run." They indicated it soon may be as difficult to obtain these items as it has been to keep cigarets in stock.

Not Many Quitting.

"Are any of the cigaret, cigar, or pipe smokers—particularly those who smoke cigarets exclusively—quitting because of the general difficulties of obtaining satisfactory supplies?" dealers were asked.

"Not many, if any," one of the largest retailers in the United States replied. "Some cigaret smokers may go to cigars or pipes, but they don't quit entirely."

Another retailer said: "Instead of quitting they've increased their smoking. The cigaret shortage has had the same effect that prohibition had. Just because they're hard to get, smokers want them more than ever. A lot of them hoard just to be able to boast that they can get them.

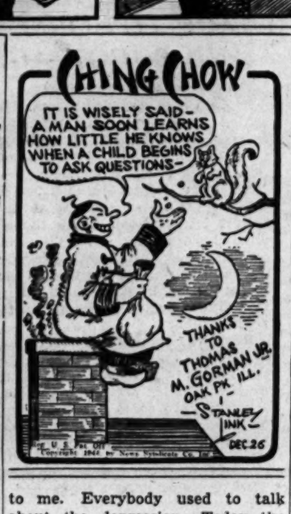

"It's like the depression, it seems to me. Everybody used to talk about the depression. Today the public has become tobacco conscious."

"The men behind the counters are taking plenty of abuse," another retail official said. "As a result hundreds of restaurants, stores, taverns, and other places have discontinued handling cigarets to avoid ill feeling."

Other Sales Fall.

On the other hand some drug store, cigar store, and other store owners admitted that the shortages have caused business in general to fall. Customers used to come in for smokes and make other purchases, store operators on the west, north, and south sides said. But such buying has dropped off as much as 10 per cent, some complained.

Retailers said jobbers still supply them about 60 per cent of the cigarets they were normally supplied.

LAY OFF HERO STUFF, PLEA OF RETURNING VET

Want Normal Lives, Travelers' Aid Says.

Returning ex-service men want to be treated as normal individuals and not as returning heroes, Willis H. Scott, member of the Chicago executive board of the Travelers Aid society, reported yesterday.

Scott said the society's services to World War II. veterans, the wounded, those in service, and others in trouble away from home had increased a million over 1943. The society is now carrying on its annual Christmas financial campaign.

Many Seek Anonymity.

Travelers Aid workers, Scott said, "from their strategic positions in the railroad station, report that the majority of the discharged service men who come to them for assistance or just to talk have shown a great desire to be accepted as normal individuals and not marked as returning heroes.

"Many already have been home, and have not remained for several reasons. They have come to Chicago or are going elsewhere to seek anonymity among strangers. Friends have wanted to know why they were discharged or have quizzed them on how it feels to be back. In many cases they have been expected to return to the same work they were doing before entering service, a job for which they often no longer feel qualified for physical or emotional reasons, or a job which they have outgrown by their training in service," Scott said.

Threefold Purpose.

"Discharged men often attempt to cover up feelings of personal inadequacy by critical attitudes toward civilians, toward the government, and toward strikers and black marketeers. Travelers Aid workers are sympathetic but unbiased listeners to these and other feelings the veteran often finds difficult to express, but which are natural manifestations of the inner battle of adjustment from military to civilian life that many experience.

"Our aim is to help returning veterans achieve emotional and financial independence, to help them preserve their self respect and to encourage a philosophy of usefulness, self reliance, and self sufficiency," Scott said.

BOY, 13, ATOP TRAIN IN BRITAIN FINDS LAST 388 MILES HARDEST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—A boy, 13, tried yesterday to hitch a 400 mile ride atop a London bound train and was caught after a 12 mile journey. He had a dismal Christmas today instead of the happy one he wanted to spend with a sister in London. Appearing in Juvenile court on a charge of disturbing the peace, the boy pleaded guilty and was sent to a detention home for three days. Officials will consult his father, who is in service, about whether he will have to stay with his grandparents in Glasgow or with his sister.

START WINDUP OF BOND DRIVE WITH 'IKE DAY'

Special observance of Gen. Eisenhower day tomorrow at the treasury center, 72 W. Adams st., will highlight the "mop up" plans for the remaining five business days of the sixth war loan drive.

Principal theme for the five day drive, declared Francis M. Knight, chairman of the campaign in Chicago and Cook county, will be the urgent need to support Gen. Eisenhower and his troops now engaged in one of the crucial battles of the European war.

Tokyo Raider to Speak.

Tomorrow's program, at noon, will include patriotic music and talks by Maj. Gus. Askounis of Chicago, pilot of the "Windy City" in the first Super Fortress raid on Tokyo several months ago, and Knight, who will discuss what the buying of bonds means to the hard pressed American fighting men.

A special drive to sell E bonds will be made by the Chicago and Cook county retailers' outlets division. State st. stores plan to change their war bond windows displays to emphasize E bonds and employes will concentrate on the sale of this issue to customers. Prizes will go to those making the best records.

Finish Up Home Canvassing.

All homes not yet canvassed will be covered in the next five days by the 40,000 members of the OCD house-to-house canvass division and Minute Men volunteer salesmen will do a clean-up job in the plants under the pay roll allotment plan.

Knight urged that special efforts be made to persuade all subscribers to complete their pledges this week and that all issuing agents get the stubs registering sales into the Federal Reserve bank for tabulation by Dec. 31.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

Saves Big Dollars. No Cooking.

This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It is so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving quick relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

PATRICIA'S LIFE SLOWLY EBBS IN YULE SHADOWS

Unable to Enjoy Gifts That Fill Room.

Patricia Attaway, 6, who is dying of lymphatic leukemia in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, was too sick yesterday to give attention to a room full of gifts sent from well wishers thruout the nation. She had a temperature of 102 and slept most of the day. Dr. E. M. Thomas said her life was gradually slipping away, and it was only a question of days until her death.

She has been in the hospital since Nov. 9. At that time, she was a cheerful little girl who took an interest in her gifts and hundreds of letters that arrived daily. Yesterday dolls which would make the heart of any little girl happy didn't receive a glance.

Thinks Only of Her Dad.

She wanted only her daddy, Chief Petty Officer M. F. Attaway, who has been at her bedside constantly since he traveled 8,000 miles from the South Pacific to be with her.

Chief Attaway was just enduring his ordeal. He knew that with each passing hour death came nearer and nearer, and he was reconciled to his child's loss. "I thought I had seen some pretty rugged times down in the Admiralties," he said, "but nothing I've ever seen or imagined can compare with this."

Father in Constant Vigil.

Attaway was en route home on rehabilitation leave when he chanced to pick up a newspaper in Honolulu and read of his daughter's illness. He kept constant vigil at her bedside after he arrived Nov. 25. His grief showed plainly in his face and he was weary from lack of sleep.

"She wants me every time she wakes up," he said, "and I'll be here."

Attaway's leave, which would have expired shortly after Christmas, was extended for 15 days.

SHOWDOWN DUE TODAY IN N. Y. MEAT 'HOLIDAY'

New York, Dec. 25 [Special].—A threat of the city's 10,000 retail butcher stores to close for a "business holiday" in protest against what was termed a squeeze between unlimited prices for live stock and fixed retail ceilings is expected to reach a showdown tomorrow.

Twenty per cent of New York's 4,000 Kosher butcher stores kept open an hour or an hour and a half today, selling meat remaining from the heavy week-end trade.

Jack Kranis, counsel for the New York retail meat dealers' committee, predicted an "almost complete shutdown" tomorrow because, he said, "no meat is available to be sold at retail ceiling prices."

"You won't have to make a speech, Sis. Just show up at school so the kids won't think I've been kiddin' them!"

BALL AND HATCH PLAN DRIVE FOR VOTE ON POLICY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—The senate would announce its foreign policy principles in advance under a proposal sounded today by four senators.

Altho their discussions still are in the preliminary stage, Sen. Ball [R., Minn.] told a reporter the group would meet after the holidays to attempt to frame a declaration of principles to be offered to the senate. The group also includes Senators Hatch [D., N. M.], Burton [R., O.], and Hill [D., Ala.].

Hatch said that in the past the senate had never taken advantage of what he conceived to be the constitutional right to advise the President in matters of foreign affairs.

"The senate's attitude always has been negative, that it holds the veto power," he said. "I think it also has the right to make an affirmative assertion of principles which would let the President know how far he can go in making commitments that would be ratified."

GIRL, 8, VICTIM OF LYMPHATIC LEUKEMIA, DIES

Mary Lou Shepe, 8, of 10115 Commercial av., a lymphatic leukemia victim since Dec. 12, died yesterday in the county hospital without seeing the Christmas presents her parents, Daniel and Martha, had purchased for her. Mary Lou, a third grade student at St. Michael's grammar school, grew worse on Dec. 20 and blood transfusions from her mother and relatives failed to save her life.

SANTA PACES STORK WITH BABIES BORN ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Christmas presents, in the form of babies, began arriving in Chicago hospitals shortly after Santa Claus yesterday, but title to the claim of first 1944 Christmas baby remained to be settled when the county health officers have checked all records.

Leading in the race last night, according to reports, was Herbert Green, Negro, born at 12:15 a. m. in County hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Green, 122 E. 43d st.

John Schneller Jr., 5923 Princeton av., reported that his daughter, Marylou, was born at 12:32 a. m. in Mercy hospital. Schneller is a cartage company manager. At 2 a. m. a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hillyer, 1518 Davis st., Evanston, in Evanston hospital. At 2:31 a. m., in Lying-In hospital, Mrs. David Moore, 3354 W. 60th st., gave birth to a son.

Ensign Robert Mueller was overseas in the South Pacific with the navy as his new daughter, Pamela Ann, was born to his wife, Eve, 2819 Lowell av., at 7:46 a. m. in Wesley Memorial hospital.

Hitch-Hikers Steal $350, 11 Coats, 9 Suits, and Car

Walter Wilkers, 1708 Darrow av., Evanston, a clothing salesman, told police yesterday he was robbed of $350, 11 fur coats and nine ladies' suits worth $1,800 and his automobile by two youths who hitch-hiked a ride with him from Gary, Ind., to Chicago.

PATRONS RUSH GROCERIES TO BEAT OPA CURBS

Delicatessens and corner grocers who stayed open yesterday reaped profits from new office of price administration regulations which put many canned vegetables back on the ration lists and increased the value of butter to 24 points a pound this morning. Hundreds were so alarmed that the buying stampede extended to soaps, washing powders, and other unrationed wares, grocers reported.

Grocers said high point values of canned fruit juices for the last three months had discouraged their purchase, so that thousands of housewives have plentiful supplies of blue stamps, or did have until they found a food dealer who had his store open on the holiday.

Sells 12,000 Cans of Food.

Al Escarraz, operator of Al's Food Mart at 1747 E. 79th st., reported 3,000 customers bought 12,000 cans of vegetables, 3,000 pounds of sugar, and 150 pounds of butter—all he had—between 7:30 a. m. and midnight. Two customers, Harold Dreb-ing, 8108 Bennett av., and A. C. Carlson, 8746 Dante av., donned aprons and waited on other buyers in the peak rush. Sales set a one day record for the store, Escarraz reported.

Butter went fastest, according to John Sfondouris, 3816 Broadway, who was out of it at 10 a. m. yesterday. At the Edgebrook dairy store, 1615 N. Ogden av., there was a limit of three pounds to a customer until supplies ran out at noon. Canned vegetables were going out in dozen lots as long as the doors were open.

Butter Supply at Low.

Greatest shock to customers in the new edicts was invalidation of old stamps.

Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, said last night that altho butter supplies for the nation are at the lowest point since the war began, with little chance for much of an increase in 1945, there is no actual shortage of canned vegetables.

"The OPA was afraid, however, that the 1944 pack would not last until the 1945 crop comes on the market," he said.

Fairer Distribution Sought.

Distribution of butter, he said, has been spotty for three months. While supplies in Chicago have been fairly plentful, many cities on the east and west coasts have had many weeks with no butter at all. Raising point values is expected to effect a fairer distribution, he said.

There will be about 127 pounds of meat per person in 1945, he said, compared with a national average consumption of 126 pounds from 1936 to 1939.

The American Meat Institute in Chicago estimated there will be 132 pounds of meat available for each civilian next year, if the war in Europe ends early in the year, but if it doesn't, the supply could run as low as 122 pounds. There will be less pork, but about 60 pounds of beef per capita compared with 51 pounds this year.

Awaiting Baby

ELYSE KNOX.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—Film Actress Elyse Knox said today she expects to become a mother next July. Her husband is Lt. Tom Harmon, former University of Michigan football player, who twice has returned from spectacular airplane crashes while serving with the American air forces abroad. In April, 1943, his plane crashed in a Brazilian jungle, and in the following October he was shot down by a Jap zero plane while in an aerial dogfight over China. He and Miss Knox were married at Ann Arbor, Mich., last August.

FOOD CONFUSION LAID TO DIVIDED U.S. AUTHORITY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—House Republicans renewed today their suggestion that a food "czar" be appointed with almost unlimited authority over pricing and distribution.

Their recommendation came from Rep. Jenkins of Ohio as he announced renewal of a Republican food study committee named last year.

Jenkins, chairman of the 44-man house group, did not comment specifically on OPA's announcement over the week-end of tighter food rationing. But he said the present food situation was due to failure of the administration to appoint a single man to supervise the handling of food as the committee recommended some time ago.

"A single individual, free from the administration's whims, could coördinate and regulate all ramifications of the food industry, eliminating many shortages and providing better distribution," the Ohioan said.

The proposed food "czar" would have the assistance of experts on wheat, corn, fruit, and vegetables.

Falls Asleep While Smoking; Burns Fatal

Andrew Gotschall, 39, a grocery clerk, died last night in Alexian Brothers hospital of burns received Dec. 2 at his home, 2612 N. Hoyne av., when he fell asleep while smoking a cigaret. His wife, Alice, extinguished the blaze.

BOARDS AWAIT BYRNES' ORDER; SET FOR ACTION

Chicago man power, draft, and war production board officials last night were awaiting copies of orders issued last Saturday by War Mobilization Director Byrnes and all had planned staff meetings for today at which enforcement programs will be mapped.

The orders gave the WMC and the WPB authority to withhold materials, fuel, transportation and rationed goods from firms refusing to obey man power regulations, banned horse racing at tracks by Jan. 3, and instructed draft officials to review military qualifications of professional athletes.

William H. Spencer, regional WMC director, said he expected to receive copies of the orders this morning and has called a series of staff conferences, starting today. John Nuveen Jr., WPB regional chief, said Byrnes' orders were "not unexpected," and that plans to carry them out are under way.

"The new order will be carried out in Chicago to the letter, with the fullest possible interpretation of its implications," Spencer said.

Selective service officials said they would speed to local draft boards Byrnes' order for the review of physical qualifications of athletes disqualified by draft physicians or discharged from service for physical disabilities.

MAGGIE ENJOYS YULETIDE IN HER FAVORITE JAIL

Miss Margaret [Maggie] O'Neil, 65, spent Christmas in the Bridewell in accordance with a wish expressed to Judge Frank E. Donoghue of Women's court in November.

The women's dormitory in the institution had a Christmas party yesterday, complete with gifts and carol singing. Miss O'Neil, who has been in and out of the Bridewell for more than 40 years, distributed the presents, contributed by Supt. William G. Milota and Matron Elizabeth Vosepke and Florence Clair.

When Miss O'Neil was brought into court Nov. 10 on a disorderly conduct charge arising from a drinking bout she indicated to Judge Donoghue that her misdemeanor had been intentional so that she might be sentenced to the Bridewell and spend Christmas there. The judge sentenced her to 105 days.

Some time ago, after numerous sentences in the Bridewell, Maggie was promoted to head waitress in the prison dining room.

WHY THIS WAR IS LIKE THE 30 YEARS WAR.

Secretary of State Stettinius has already received a number of protests from various organizations of Americans of Polish extraction and no doubt will receive many more. The occasion for the protests is his recent declaration that our government will approve changes in the Polish-Russian frontier, even if they are effected during the war, provided the new arrangements are entered into freely by both nations.

This policy marked a departure from the previous position that all such alterations must be deferred until the war is over. Americans generally may have difficulty in understanding why so much obviously genuine indignation has been aroused by a declaration that on the face of it looks not unfair.

There are two reasons. The first is that as long as the war continues, it will be quite impossible to consult the people concerned. Because of that fact, there can be only the semblance of the free acceptance of the terms which Mr. Stettinius talks about. The approval will have to come either from the Polish government in exile in London or from the rival government set up in Lublin under soviet auspices. The government in exile will consent only under pressure from Britain and America, a pressure that already is being exerted. The Lublin government will, of course, approve the plan without a moment's hesitation, but there is very little reason to believe that the Lublin committee is representative of any considerable body of Polish opinion. In short, to the friends of Poland, Mr. Stettinius' policy looks like a confidence game.

The other objection is usually phrased in language that is so full of lofty phrases that the meaning is obscured. The resolutions speak, for example, of "the untrammeled right of the Polish people to order their internal existence as they see fit." The eye tends to slide over such language as so much rhetorical decoration, but it has a meaning, and a profound one, that should not escape attention.

So far as Russia's neighbors are concerned, this war bears a striking resemblance to the Thirty Years war. The analogy was suggested in a recent bulletin of the institute of Russian studies of the Rand school in New York, in these terms:

"One of the reasons for the length, stubbornness and fury of the Thirty Years war was the fact that annexation of a given area carried with it a forcible change of religion. The intensity of feeling in the little Baltic nations against annexation by the soviet union is analogous. Here annexation means a forcible change in the social and political structure, and the imprisonment or deportation to Siberia of all who formerly led the social, political, cultural, and economic life of the land. This includes not only the old ruling class, factory owners, landowners, and officials, but the leaders and active members of political parties, including the labor, peasant, and democratic parties and of mass organizations, including the trade unions."

These lines were written with reference to Lithuania but they apply with equal force to Poland, to Yugoslavia, to Bulgaria, and to every other land that Stalin has taken or aims to take. The peoples concerned groaned under the German tyranny and now find themselves confronted with another and hardly less ruthless conqueror. To any one who has not succumbed to the propaganda of the Communist and the fellow traveler, the anguish of these peoples when they see the promises of the Atlantic Charter broken is real and understandable. They were probably prepared for some very considerable compromises with the principle of self-determination but they didn't expect that the principle would be wholly abandoned as it apparently is to be in all the territory coveted by Russia.

It is no sufficient answer to say that the eastern portions of Poland are to a very considerable extent populated by Ukrainians, White Russians, Jews, and other minorities who do not speak Polish by preference and have reason to resent mistreatment received under former Polish governments. No doubt some of these people would prefer Russian rule but we venture to say that the majority, and probably the great majority of each of the minorities, would prefer to take their chances with a reconstructed Poland. That would surely be true of all who own anything or wish to own anything; of all who desire to worship God in their own fashion; of all who make their livings as merchants and as craftsmen; of all who are engaged in the liberal professions; of all leaders of political parties and trade unions; of all who value individual liberty. It is these people to whom Mr. Stettinius' formula means, at best, an exile that for all practical purposes is indistinguishable from slavery.

The other day, Mr. Cyrus Sulzberger of the New York Times, reporting on conditions in the Balkans, said that in spite of all the help and recognition that have been given by all the allies to Tito, the communist leader in Yugoslavia, his rival, Mihailovich, still has 100,000 loyal followers. This is a symptom that should not be lightly overlooked. It serves to emphasize the fact that granting Russia everything she wants will not bring peace to Europe. On the contrary, it is much more likely to lead to continuing unrest of the kind that means war sooner or later.

In the 19th century there was much talk about self-determination. The great nations which dominated smaller ones were justly denounced as oppressors. Some of them, thru control of the schools and the courts, sought to discourage the use of native languages. All across Europe, from Greece to Ireland, the men of the little nations rebelled against the efforts to make them ashamed of their heritage, to humiliate them as if they were barbarians, to draw into the great capitals the wealth and talents of the provinces inhabited by minorities.

Today we use the same word, oppression, but in the 20th century it has a new and more terrible meaning. Then it meant a great number of irritations and harassments, accompanied occasionally, but only occasionally, by actual physical repression. Now it means complete absorption in an alien and hated civilization, with only exile or death as the alternative.

It is curious that many of the same people in this country whose sympathies were aroused to the utmost by the plight of Hitler's victims when he applied the process, are so blind to the sufferings of Stalin's victims. It is against that indifference that the friends of Poland are protesting. They know that our government may not be able to prevent Stalin from working his will but they cannot see why our government should encourage him to do his worst.

CONSCRIPTION IS ONLY A BEGINNING.

The war department has prepared a memorandum demanding a year's military training for all American boys after the war. Every young man physically able to bear arms will be taught when he reaches military age to play his part in the nation's defense. The only alternative to peace time conscription, the war department says, is a standing army and national guard of sufficient size to withstand an enemy for a year, during which others can be trained; this alternative is regarded as wholly impractical.

There is no need at the moment to rehearse the arguments for and against peace time conscription. It is noteworthy, however, that the department has abandoned, once and for all, the notion that military preparation is to be merely a by-product of a year devoted to what Mr. Roosevelt recently called national service. The young men are to be taught to fight. There will be no time left over for sight seeing, soul-searching, socialist indoctrination, desert reclamation, or anything else of the sort. It was well that the department made this clear; the American people will approve peace time conscription only if they are persuaded it is needed to safeguard their country from foreign enemies.

The truly astonishing aspect of the memorandum is the blunt statement that "America probably will be the initial objective of the aggressors in any new war and the first engagements of that war will quite possibly be fought in our own homeland."

If that is true, as well it may be, everything that Mr. Roosevelt has said in leading this country toward war and in the war is dust and ashes.

He argued that we must fight this war to preserve Britain and China as our outposts against aggression from Europe and Asia. What price, these outposts, if the initial attack is going to reach us anyway? We were told that if we did not destroy the aggressors of 1939 and 1941, we must remain armed to the teeth, at enormous expense, for all future time. Now we find that even after the victory, we must remain armed to the teeth.

And what of all the talk about the Dumbarton Oaks plan to preserve the peace of the world forever? We were told that if we entered this war, we should win from it an agreement among all the nations to prevent aggression before it got started anywhere. Was that just another Atlantic Charter?

Evidently it was. The revelation will astonish no faithful reader of this newspaper, but must be highly disturbing to those who thought when they voted for Mr. Roosevelt they were voting against future wars. The war department is run by men selected by Mr. Roosevelt. When the department says the next war will probably be directed against us and will be fought on our soil, Mr. Roosevelt's appointees are saying in effect that Mr. Roosevelt has deliberately misled the country, raised false hopes, and imposed on the faith of the voters.

If what the department now says about the national danger after the war is true—and we are far from saying that it isn't—a great many other provisions beside universal training are indicated. We must have not only the lease of military bases on a few of the islands off our shores, but full possession of every such island. Likewise we must not make the mistake of lending money or giving capital goods to other countries with a view to hastening their industrialization or recovery. Our great advantage, as revealed in this war, is our industrial leadership. At present our strength in this particular field is great enough to give us a substantial edge over any other nation. If we are in grave danger, we ought to preserve our leadership by every means at our command.

We must insist, too, upon the return to us of all the weapons of war and the instruments of transportation that we have sent abroad under lend-lease. If we are going to be attacked before long, we ought not to leave in foreign hands a gun, a tank, a ship, a locomotive, or a truck that we can reclaim as our own.

The OPA has put a ceiling on Tommy Manville's household goods being sold at auction. We hope OPA has more success with prices than Tommy had with wives. They wouldn't stay under Tommy's ceiling.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Which one of the following has the smallest value? 1/10 [1/10]² 0.04 1/25
2. A soldier driving his jeep along the Appian way would be in Burma Germany France Italy.
3. The approximate area of continental U. S. A. in square miles is 1 million 2 million 3 million 4 million.
4. Which one of the following pairs of elements represents the lightest and heaviest?
   Oxygen and iron Hydrogen and uranium
   Helium and mercury Lithium and gold
5. Which one of these states extends the farthest south?
   Louisiana California Texas Alabama.
6. Try to link the words listed in the left hand column below with the items in the right hand column to which they refer. You are entitled to one point for each correct judgment.

[a] Azimuth	[v] A flowering shrub
[b] Azure	[w] An Indian
[c] Aztec	[x] A group of islands
[d] Azalea	[y] The color blue
[e] Azores	[z] An angle

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

ANSWERS.

1. [1/10]², for it equals 1/100, or 0.01. 2. Italy. 3. Three million square miles. 4. Hydrogen and uranium. 5. Texas. 6. [a] Azimuth—Angle [z]. [b] Azure—Blue [y]. [c] Aztec—Indian [w]. [d] Azalea—Shrub [v]. [e] Azores—Islands [x].

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

YULETIDE AFTERGLOW.

The prize-winning Christmas card in this column's 1944 collection came from that old champion, Shandy Gaff, otherwise W. Russell Button, the peerless water-colorist of Line o' Type fantasy, for whose works we would like to hire a hall in the Art institute. This time Mr. Gaff depicted the column and its galaxy of contributors as a circus side show, with a dozen platforms and numerous customers. The drawing contains 44 characters out of the Line o' Type's Who's Who, and seven animals, including Ferdinand the Cat, and Choppy the engelhound.

* * *

At this carnival the Linemaster is practicing as a fortune teller by palm reading; Hig is selling patent medicines; Quizzicuss is barking for a cageful of animals, and Duke Bakrak is meeting all comers with boxing gloves under the slogan, "Put up your dooks with the Duke." The victim whom the Duke has just knocked out is unidentifiable, and if asked Mr. Gaff would probably say, "His name is legion."

* * *

Second prize goes to Hig, otherwise Harry John Higdon, for a magnificent example of nature study in photography from his own camera and dark room. Third to S'Amuser, otherwise Belle F. Owen, who found a paper back detective story that we hadn't read. . . . All the other card senders get honorable mentions.

After New Year's day comes Twelfth Night [Friday, Jan. 5] of ancient tradition in the calendar of Nativity festivals, but neglected in American folkways, except in literary circles. For example, it is observed by the Baker Street Irregulars as the eve of the birthday of their patron saint, Sherlock Holmes, and is marked by their annual dinner in New York. The Chicago chapter of this cult, called the Baskervilles, will also dine that night in a luxurious hide-out overlooking the waterfront. The two groups will discuss fine points of Holmesian scholarship, examine rare items of Sherlockana, and amuse themselves in various other ways that cause their wives or next-of-kin to suspect that they are a bit touched in the head.

Mary's hair is golden fleece,
Her eyes like sapphires glow;
But Mary's man is shipping out,
So where does Mary go?
For Mary has a soldier boy
In khaki, neat and trim,
Who often thinks of Mary,
But does Mary think of him?

Constancy is a lovely word
With an old familiar ring,
Preach'd to maids in the first Crusades
When Lion-Heart was king;
But knights who escaped the Saracen
Learned from the girls at home
That a maiden's mind veers like the wind
That stirs the ocean's foam.

The Wooden Chopping Bowl.

It seems just yesterday that no kitchen was complete without woodenware. Remember? The masterpiece was a giant chopping bowl with its twin rocker-shaped chopping blades.

Monday afternoons always found Ma busy with the bowl in her lap, making hash from Sunday's roast. Under her quick moving hands mounds of meat, potatoes, and onions were transformed into an evenly diced mixture. Suppertime was a treat then; perhaps only the wooden bowl ritual could impart that special flavor of slowly steamed and leisurely golden browned hash.

Christmas holidays put the wooden bowl to many tasks. First there was the cracking and shelling of black walnuts with a hammer in the bowl; then the dicing of orange peel, citron, raisins, cherries, and whole spice for the fruit cake, which resulted in deeply stained new knife marks in the bowl. Of course, you recall the goose with the giblet gravy. We kids took turns in mincing the heart, liver, and gizzard. Long after the holidays, whenever you passed the wooden bowl you were greeted by a pleasant aroma that was a mingle of Monday's hash and festive fare spices.

The modern kitchen has shelved the wooden bowl with yesterday's memories.

P. C. B. asks: "Can you tell me what it takes to get a second class petty officer rating in the navy Seabees? Do you know what rates are open in equipment operator jobs at present?"

A petty officer second class rate calls for four to six years of practical experience in the trade or field of specialization. Letters of occupational reference likewise are required. The first and second rates are open for bulldozer-carryall operators, also for crane operators, likewise for patrol graders. For interviews and additional information see Yeoman Lorenz, navy recruiting station, 321 S. Plymouth ct., or the nearest navy recruiting station.

There isn't much use of complaining because things have been moving pretty fast over in that area. You might send an inquiry about the packages to Army Postal Service, N. Y. P. TUBERCULOSIS MAY ATTACK AT ANY AGE.

FOR the last generation we have been accustomed to think of tuberculosis as a disease of youth. When we consider the most likely years, the period 15 to 45 represents about the limits of its manifestations.

But something has happened. It is not infrequent nowadays to find an older person who presents typical signs of the disorder for the first time. In a recent report, 27 per cent of a sizable group of patients had passed the 50th birthday. More than half of these had exceeded their 60th. This does not mean, however, that tuberculosis is on the increase. Quite the contrary. But a considerable number who have been thought to be in the immune brackets are becoming victims.

We have a right to assume that the ailment will disappear if we can catch it early, and if we can teach all and sundry how to select a balanced diet which will supply the optimum of nourishment. As we know, hygienic surroundings play an important role. Many of our communities have reduced the death rate within the last generation to less than one-fourth its former level. Furthermore, public education on how to live has contributed to a lowering incidence.

It is not too much to say that we are probably building up a national immunity to the great white plague. This is strongly borne out by the figures. Certainly, the more successfully we fight the malady, the better will we be able to resist its ravages.

Let us not take for granted, therefore, that the cough exhibited by the elderly gentleman who lives across the way is bronchitis. It may be something more—perhaps tuberculosis. We should always be on the alert if the patient complains of being abysmally tired and if he has lost weight. These signs, when combined, are sufficient to warrant a thoro investigation. We cannot dismiss tuberculosis merely because the sufferer is approaching the sixth decade of life. If shortness of breath and asthmatic symptoms appear, there is probably a sensitivity to the bacteria which have moved in to complicate the infection.

There is no diagnostic aid quite equal to that supplied by a careful X-ray study of the chest. Even small areas of destruction will be detected. Not so much reliance can be placed upon sputum tests. Repeated checks may reveal no positive evidence but, when the plates are inspected, the true state of affairs will be disclosed.

Not long ago I saw a 58 year old worker in a printing establishment who complained that he had not been feeling well for several months. His trouble began with a chill, followed by fever. A virus pneumonia was suspected and he was treated accordingly. Because convalescence was slow, daily examination of the sputum was carried out. While the first three or four were negative, the next was loaded with bacilli. An X-ray film confirmed the diagnosis. Under collapse therapy, he became temperature-free within 10 days and he is now well on the road to recovery. This particular individual had never experienced a serious illness of any type. It is wholly possible, however, that a latent form of the disease was lighted into flame by the acute virus invasion.

In our fight against what has been termed "the captain of the men of death" we must not forget the possible significance of fatigue, loss of poundage, and cough.

Secrecy.

A spy in New York reports meeting a young lady who told him about her grandmotner, a young thing of 83. The two, granddaughter and grandmother, had a cocktail party, and the grandmother, who began to study piano at the age of 69 with the intention of becoming a concert pianist and now plays quite well, spent all her time in a corner talking to a young piano player, a Communist. The grandmother now has become a Communist and hides the New Masses and the Daily Worker under her mattress for surreptitious reading so that her daughter, a stodgy conservative, cannot object.

Baser English.

Will Davidson, known around town as the Boswell of the bistros, recently was given the degree of doctor of frustration by the Boswell institute here, an erudite circle of pen-pushers. His acceptance speech, which the other frustrated litterateurs described as an example of the slickest jive jingo that ever battered the sensitive tympanum of a sincere scholar, follows:

"I'm going to slide my jib and see if you jills and jacksons can collar the jive. About six ticks this early bright the righteous queen and I finalled to the domi where I put the twister to the slammer. We'd had a ball at a brace of frolic pads and I was a little beat for doss as we'd been busting our conks in the groove every black for a set of seven brights. The main chick said I'd better stash me in the lily whites late since we were trucking down to this mellow mess in the early dim. So I nexed my threads and copped me a solid nod. Now we've dug our crum crutchers into a dicty feed and mitted some hard spiel by a couple of hip gates who are gassers in their slaving. You've killed me righteous and knocked me some home cooking, and I feel groovy. But so I won't get corny, I'll cut out prompt now with a 'Gimme some skin, gates. Plant you now and dig you later."

A translation of this into skeleton English later was printed for benefit of the scholars.

When enough shirt tails are gathered, they will be sewn into a patchwork flag as a symbol of the town's contribution to the war.

THE NEW DEAL STAIN.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Don't let us down. Keep on fighting for Americanism. Thousands of people you never hear from feel as I do—that we need strong friends in these perilous days.

My two cents' worth today is that people are turning off the radio whenever Orson Welles, Humphrey Bogart, and others who were for the New Deal come on the air. They are also refusing to see movies where these people appear. Americans are beginning to feel the "double cross" very deeply and would eliminate all those that have helped sell us down the river again and again and again. It is now truly a disgrace to have voted New Deal.

RECOGNITION FOR PRECINCT CAPTAINS.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Referring to the suggestion of S. W. Jr. in the Dec. 12 Tribune that aldermen should not be elected by nonpartisan ballot and that precinct captains should be elected by both parties, I wish to add that electing precinct captains would eliminate the power of the ward committeeman. It is the committeeman who has the distribution of patronage, but it is the precinct captain who does the canvassing, etc., to elect the committeeman. Very often the orators of the organization are placed over the heads of the hard working precinct captain who does all the work. The captain should be recognized and given some preference when it comes to distributing the various jobs that are allotted each ward.

BOMB WITH CARE.

New Castle, Ind., Dec. 13.—A bomb, it is reported, has been dropped inadvertently on the grounds of the Mr. Big of Japan. Doubtless no harm was done, outside, perhaps, of uprooting a couple of yasmada trees and disturbing the nest of the sacred whiffenpoof, whose plaintive lay lulls the royal buck tooth to the land of shut-eye. There may be sound reasons why TNT is not dropped on this fake kingfish, but [whatever they may be] I'd hate to try to explain them to an American mother who has lost her son in the Pacific.

So bomb, Sir Pilot, bomb with care,
And don't drop any on the emporaire.

"STEP TO THE FRONT."

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Delays in street car service are caused by the passengers themselves. Passengers line both sides of the aisle, which is all right, but then others will force themselves in between them near the back of the car, so that no one can get to the front. This causes a jam at the rear end of the car, so that the conductor cannot even make change or give out transfers.

If people used common sense and filled up the front end of the car, there would be no crowds waiting to board one car, as happens when they have to let about four cars go by.

NEW CROP OF ISOLATIONISTS.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Of course, we know an "isolationist" is an extremely nasty person, absolutely devoid of patriotism, but you can take it from one returned from overseas service, a new crop is being made daily. When they all get back it will be just good judgment on the part of the administration no longer to attempt to smear them.

An Overseas Soldier Going Thru Chicago.

ANTI-GROUP RIDE.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Let's quit kidding ourselves that we are doing anything to help the war effort by group-riding, because 90 per cent of the riding done in taxicabs is nonessential. There is not a place in Chicago that is not serviced either by "L," bus, or street car 24 hours a day. The only reason the majority take a cab is that they can get a cheap ride by splitting fares.

Taxicabs operate at the rate of 40 cents the first mile and 20 cents a mile thereafter, with an additional 5 cents on the total run for each extra passenger. The reason for your driver not wanting to take a long run is that the percentage is off the run after the first mile, naturally.

A reasonable way to solve this problem is to raise the cab rates, not on the first mile but on each additional mile, and to raise the rate for extra passengers from 5 cents to 25 cents. Then let's see how many will pass up their "L" or their street car, and let's see how many will ride when they have to split a fair cab bill instead of an unfair one.

In group riding the cab driver has to stand between his passengers in all arguments, protect his women riders against unwelcome attentions, protect his male riders from each other when one is in his cups. He has no way of knowing whether the party he picks up has been flashing a bank roll and a lot of jewelry around some night spot, and is being followed by stickup men who also use group riding to get into a favorable position to hold up driver and rider alike. I suggest the cab rate be raised and the federal government take a 30 per cent luxury tax.

BUTTER WITHHELD TILL IT SPOILED.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—For many weeks there was no butter to be had in the stores in my neighborhood. Then for a time there was a little and it was sold one quarter of a pound to a customer. Now there apparently is a good supply of butter, such as it is, because the storekeepers are willing to sell one pound at a time. However, this butter is either rancid or so bitter it is not palatable. Will some one tell me where this butter was during the extreme shortage? Why was it permitted to become uneatable instead of being released? V. W. F.

TIME FOR A CHANGE.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Why do our city officials insist upon automobile inspection for Chicago, while all the other cities in the state are free from this mania for persecution? Only those with political pull are careless concerning accidents. Again and again and again they are excused from careless driving as "first offenders," never being convicted or getting their names on the records as such, and thereby never becoming second offenders. Car inspection never did lessen accidents. It is time for a change. E. Birckenmeier.

URGES IMPROVED HEALTH SET-UP IN CITY SCHOOLS

Fishbein Says Program Is Spotty, Ineffective.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, declared yesterday that Chicago schools would profit by a survey of their health program with a view to making improvements. He said he is informed there is room for improvement.

Dr. Fishbein's comment came in connection with an article in the current issue of the AMA Journal which declares that on a nation-wide basis school health service is "probably the spottiest and least effective branch of standard, recognized health procedure."

Entering Pupils Healthy.

"If the nation is to have the physical fitness which military authorities, physicians, and educators now demand, the basis for such fitness must be the good health of our young people," the Journal asserts.

It declares that children are entering school in better physical condition than ever before, and schools should see that they finish in as good or better health than when they enter.

Fishbein said the Chicago survey might be patterned after that just completed in Boston, Mass., under authority of a city-appointed commission. This survey, Fishbein pointed out, showed that physical examinations of school children were hasty, often taking no more than one minute per pupil. He said Chicago examinations also are hasty and incomplete. Lack of sanitary facilities was shown in Boston, and Fishbein said Chicago might also be lacking in this respect.

Preventive Program Good.

A. H. Pritzlaff, public school director of physical education, said Chicago schools are probably little different than the average of other schools. He pointed out, however, that the public school health work is directed by the board of health of the city of Chicago. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, board of health president, said his funds for public health work were cut two years ago and have not been restored. He further said there is a shortage of physicians and dentists necessary to carry on a health program.

Pritzlaff said the preventive program against contagion in Chicago schools is good and that records bear this out.

He said the school program attempts to provide health examinations every three or four years, in line with the medical journal's suggestion that thoro examinations widely spaced are better than cursory ones every year.

Parents' Coöperation Essential.

Pritzlaff said examinations every week would do no good if parents did not coöperate to correct defects.

One hundred fifteen school physicians who visit schools, and about 30 dentists, working in 39 city and school clinics, are assigned in school health work, Bundesen said.

Bundesen said his physicians pay special attention to children returning to school after illnesses, to prevent spread of disease, as recommended by the medical journal.

Christmas Robin Comes as Harbinger of Spring

A Christmas robin in a tree at 4349 Ellis av. created a flutter of excitement yesterday morning. Mrs. Margaret Waltz, who lives at that address, and several of her neighbors gathered to watch the feathered premature harbinger of spring.

CRIME INCREASE OVER 1943 CITED BY COMMISSION

Trend for 10 Years Is Reversed.

Crime increased in Chicago in 1944 and punishment decreased, says the year-end report issued by the Chicago crime commission. Statistics compiled by Rudolph Dvorak, assistant operating director of the commission, show that for 11 months of 1944 the totals for various kinds of crimes are greater than for the 12 months of 1943.

Until this year the trend had been the other way. Over a period of 10 years the statistics of 1943 showed a gradual reduction in major crimes, with the number of criminal court convictions dropping off and an improvement in the parole picture. For the present, no blame is being placed for the slackening of prevention and punishment, the crime commission official said.

"War conditions have been about the same in 1944 as in 1943," Dvorak commented.

Cites Comparative Figures.

He cited comparative figures, as follows:

	1943, 12 mos.	1944, 11 mos.
Murder	169	176
Manslaughter	59	51
Rape	267	237
Robbery	3,804	3,430
Agg. assault	1,594	1,803
Burglary	8,691	8,657
Larc. under $15	9,474	9,810
Larc. over $15	4,365	4,894
Auto Theft	3,739	3,029
Total	30,862	32,087

Prison records furnished the conviction and parole data on which the crime commission made comparisons. These are made on the basis of figures for the first 11 months of 1943 and the same period of 1944. They show:

	1943.	1944.
Received from Cook county courts	493	440
Paroled to Cook county from Joliet	441	401
Paroled to Cook county from Pontiac	564	261
Paroles violated	60	130

Increase in Rape Cases.

Dvorak said war conditions might account for the large increase in sex crimes. An increase of 50 per cent in rape cases reported to the police is something to be alarmed about, he added.

Several times during the past year the crime commission has issued statements concerning the great amount of time put in by policemen in making gambling raids which the courts treat as of little consequence. The commission called attention to the smallness of the fines imposed and the number of cases thrown out altogether by Municipal court judges.

Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the commission, said considerable attention had been given to the police department by his observers and investigators. However, he was not ready to disclose the results of their work, or to make recommendations.

STORE LOOTED OF 4 RADIOS.

Burglars stole four radios from Joseph Sefermann's store at 10555 Torrence-av., he reported to police yesterday.

ZOO, TOO, COMES IN FOR SHARE OF YULE CHEER

The Christmas spirit extended yesterday to Lincoln park zoo's animals in the form of extra rations. Bushman, the world's largest captive gorilla, and always a hearty eater, gulped his Christmas dinner while photographers' flashbulbs popped.

Animals in Elgin's Lord's park zoo were treated to extra tidbits yesterday, too. Tarzan, the zoo's Humboldt Woolley monkey, and its prized possession, had bananas on his menu. Commissioner John Zimmerli Jr. said that he is contacting zoo directors thruout the nation in an effort to find a mate for Tarzan.

COMPLETE YULE MAIL DELIVERIES IN CITY BY DUSK

All first class Christmas mail and gift packages sent parcel post to Chicagoans living in residential districts had been delivered before dusk yesterday, postoffice officials here reported last night.

The delivery of first class Christmas mail, they said, had been completed late Sunday by a special carrier service. At a late hour last night, Frank B. Wolfe, night foreman in charge of city parcel post deliveries, said that the only Yule packages still to be delivered were those that had come in on evening trains or that had been misaddressed.

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said that this year's "extremely heavy" mail could not have been handled without the aid of 3,075 sailors from the Great Lakes naval training center and 150 soldiers from Camp Ellis, Ill., and Camp McCoy, Wis.

NOTE—From time to time, in this paper, there will appear an article which we hope will be of interest to our fellow Americans. This is number seventy-four of a series.
SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CORP., NEW YORK

Still Champion!

Some time ago we wrote a piece about Schenley, Pennsylvania, a little town tucked away in the rugged country—thirty miles north of Pittsburgh. It is a tiny community of twenty homes and proudly calls itself—"CHAMPION WAR TOWN, U. S. A."—because every one of its remaining able-bodied men is doing a wartime job—at home. Of course, the normal population of one hundred sixty-five in Schenley has been considerably augmented by men and women from adjoining towns.

Recently we paid another visit to our plant in Schenley and found our employees with heads high and chests out. Some new figures had been released on September war alcohol shipments. They are almost unbelievable—489,565 gallons! We learned that 489,565 gallons are sufficient to provide synthetic rubber, equivalent to the natural product obtained from a forest of 1,713,477 rubber trees—in a year. The men and women working in that plant can hardly be blamed for their pride of achievement.

Well, there are thirteen other Schenley plants doing the same kind of a job, vying with each other in friendly, healthy rivalry and scanning the production sheets to see who is in the lead.

By the way, last August was the first month since October 8, 1942, in which the distilling industry was permitted to make beverage spirits. So, when our Schenley, Pennsylvania, plant went back to war alcohol production in September they certainly turned out an enviable record. Incidentally, the industry has again received permission to make beverage alcohol during the month of January, 1945.

Once again this recorder is reminded of how fortunate we are in this country, that the distilling industry was here—so that it could convert, practically overnight, its peacetime production to the making of precious wartime alcohol.

UNITED AIR LINES

Dances Give Subdeb Set Gay Holidays

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE holiday season is gayest in point of view of dancing parties for the subdebutantes. They are the only young women who can count on a sufficient number of beaux to make a generous stag line, as their elder sisters' masculine friends mostly are in service.

Young Lake Foresters of high school and first year college age will be wearing their best dancing dresses and dinner jackets tonight for the annual Lake Forest Junior assembly, traditionally given the night after Christmas. This year's party will be a supper-dance in the Onwentsia club.

The young people who attend the Sophomore assembly parties will gather for their formal Christmas dance tonight in the Indian Hill club. The party originally was scheduled to be given last Tuesday, but was changed when the Evening Parties series decided not to give its holiday dance tonight in the club.

Five Winnetka subdebutantes, Miss Lee Holiday, Miss Judith Campbell, Miss Dain Fuller, Miss Dixie Greeley, and Miss Heath Williams, will be hostesses to a group of their young friends next Tuesday at a dance in the Indian Hill club.

James E. Bennett will give a small dinner at home preceding a performance of the Sonja Henie's ice revue Friday night for his twin daughters, Janet and Joan. The sisters are freshmen at Bennett Junior college.

The O. Victor McGrews are entertaining at dinner in their Evanston home tonight for their daughter, Vava Jane, and her classmates at the Roycemore school.

Birth News.

The most exciting Christmas present in the Richard D. Nugent family arrived a day early, an infant daughter, their first child, who was born Christmas eve in the Highland Park hospital. The baby's mother is the former Carol Bullard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sellar Bullard of Santa Barbara, Cal., formerly of Highland Park. Mrs. Bullard is here to welcome her granddaughter, who has been named Barbara Gray. Mr. and Mrs. Nugent live in Lake Shore dr.

On the Calendar.

The annual meeting and fathers' and sons' luncheon of the Yale Club of Chicago will be held at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow in the Blackstone hotel. Yale men in service stationed in the Chicago area are invited to attend the luncheon, as are non-Yale fathers of Yale sons, and vice-versa, as well as uncles and nephews. Herster Barres, national director of the Yale Alumni Placement service; Coach Howard Odell, and the football captain-elect for 1945 will be special guests. The club's post-war program, Yale Association of Illinois, will be discussed.

Masculine members of the Key club who attend a "hangover breakfast" on New Year's day will wear their gayest new Christmas

Cities Offer Wide Variety of Attractions

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you live in Chicago, New York, or some other large city, there are a hundred things of interest for a child of almost any age to see. Yet I know boys and girls who live in or near some great metropolis who are never taken anywhere on a jaunt for pleasure—and inevitably, for education.

If you live in a smaller city or town, it, too, will have in it or near it something well worth your children's seeing—and probably your seeing, too.

So, if you want to do something special in what is left of the school holiday vacation, and if a party [which we'll talk about tomorrow] is not in the offing, take your children on some sort of trip—not just the movies, but a treat of a different kind.

There are all sorts of places you can go, depending on the age and tastes of your children, and you might even take a small group. After you return you will notice, I'm quite sure, what a source of interest and conversation the experience provides and frequently how it will show itself in their play, games, painting, or drawing.

Variety of experience is quickening to the mind—and broadening, too.

Here are some suggestions, not arranged according to age:

The zoo—delight of all young children.

A railroad yard or station.

The Shedd aquarium.

The Chicago Natural History [formerly Field] museum.

The Art institute—choose some special exhibit.

The Museum of Science and Industry.

The Chicago Historical society.

Adler planetarium.

A commercial airfield or any field where visits are permitted.

A factory where visits are permitted.

A steel mill—if visits are now permitted.

If the budget allows and the children are not too young, end your jaunt with luncheon or an early supper at a restaurant or tearoom. But if you are treating little boys and girls who tire easily, it is usually more restful for them to have a little prearranged snack at home on their return.

Paris Fashions and Ensembles Match Hosiery

BY ANNE BRUYERE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Robert Piguet's latest fashion novelty, presented in a midseason show, is hosiery which matches ensembles. Light woolen green, black, and red plaid stockings are shown with an all-around plaited skirt of the identical plaid. The shoes are trimmed with the same black worsted as the thigh length, action back jacket.

A gray, red, and white tweed suit with large military pockets is worn with sheer hose in the same color effect. Gaiters made of opossum go with a roomy, square shouldered coat of the same fur. Another sports ensemble embodying the same idea is composed of a zigzag lined black and white woolen dress with matching hosiery and a box coat of Persian lamb.

For evening wear this house shows a black woolen gown on which fine knife plaiting covers the winged shoulders vertically, and encircles the bust to the waist horizontally.

Elbow length gloves have six inch wide flared cuffs of flimsy, white tulle. The hose are made of the same material as the cuffs, and shown beneath a floor length, fitted slit skirt.

Marcel Rochas uses eight inch wide, multicolored fringes on new midseason models.

"Skyscraper" is an evening gown made of graduated rows of black silk fringes. Five of the rows form a slightly flared skirt and four encircle a fitted waist, leaving the shoulders and arms bare. Two full blown, red velvet roses appear on the left side of the bust.

A short fringed, removable cape shawl appears on a dark purple gown of sheer wool. Beneath the shawl is a plastron made of glimmering, purple sequins. Intricate drapery covers the waist. A floor length skirt is fitted to the knees and circular below.

"Tahiti" is a green afternoon frock worn under a full length coat which is formed entirely of red fox scarves. The bolero of the dress is fashioned from rows of inch wide fringes, which also cover the skirt. A high off-the-face toque, worn with the ensemble, is fashioned of multicolored velvet leaves and large tropical flowers.

Fringes also appear on sports clothes. A black, red, green, and white scotch plaid dress, with an all around plaited skirt, has eight inch square fringes in the same colors covering the pockets and hanging from a plaited scarf which forms a plastron.

Another woolen sports dress in tiny black and white checkered pattern has a wide, square, raised collar, covered with narrow black and white fringes. A separate skirt is attached to the waist by patent leather buttons.

Taffeta frocks with flared and ruffled skirts falling a foot below the knees, and velvet dresses trimmed with jewel studded plastrons are other new features presented by Marcel Rochas.

Miss Eileen Mary Thornton, head of the college library at the University of Chicago, has been appointed librarian of Vassar college, according to recent announcement by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar. She succeeds Miss Fanny Borden, whose retirement next July will terminate 37 years of service at Vassar.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

It's Different.

New York is different now. It's winter. It was spring when last I was here. The war then seemed close to an ending . . . two Presidents were being nominated . . . it was June.

One President has been reelected. The war is not ended. The warm late spring days are replaced by snow and chill and slush under foot. The white collar girls no longer wear flower atop their hair-dos. They wear bright colored woolen scarfs over their heads; they wear bright woolen mittens; they wear hats—many of them small, fetching circlets of fur like miniature haloes. They are trudging along in galoshes, hugging fur coats about them as they dash out of the stores and office buildings at 5:30.

The Christmas windows are beautiful but no more beautiful than Chicago's. Best of all, I like the snowflake windows [there are several of them on Fifth av.] which, with the softly falling snow, just before Christmas, created a world of white enchantment.

The mad rush to buy is over. The sales clerks dropped onto their beds Christmas eve "too tired to hang up our stockings if there was a Santa Claus," said one. The lovely little altar at the Church of the Ascension still displays the flags of the allies, and the business girls—so many of whom now live in Greenwich village—burn candles even more resolutely than last spring.

Catching Up.

It doesn't take long to catch up with friends. Marion is editing a trade magazine. . . . Helen is with a lecture bureau. . . . Thelma has a new art assignment. . . . Theo [who just a year ago said, "We're so thankful Bob could be here for the baby's Christmas"] is remote now from the tastefully furnished little house in Glencoe, her Bob wounded and in a hospital in France, the baby doing without much of his mother's care while she works as section manager for the drapery department of a New York store.

A clipping awaits me. It is a White Collar Girl paragraph written last spring about ex-Chicagoan Jane Theriot, here in New York doing technical testing for a war plant. The clipping from the CHICAGO TRIBUNE traveled back to the United States from New Guinea, where Jane's brother is stationed. A brother officer noticed the item and placed it on Capt. Theriot's desk one morning. He mailed it to his sister and back it came to me. Thus do miles disappear when ties are strong.

Start Tomorrow.

Jobs are plentiful here; tho, as in Chicago, really good jobs do not hang on Christmas trees. The help wanted columns of the newspapers offer post-war advantages—almost every advertisment carries alluring promises for the future. An employed couple pleads for a housekeeper at $125 a month . . . a secretary offers her services, in the situation wanted column, for $300 a month . . . one valiant employer dares to mention "exacting work," but the majority of the ads woo the white collar girls with the semblance of no work and all pay . . . one cryptic statement sums it up this way: "Call today . . . start tomorrow." . . . The hotel employes held their annual Christmas party last night while two dejected bell boys, one elevator operator, and a frenzied desk clerk [feminine] were brought in for the duration of the party.

With the Christmas buying all finished, one small incident lingers among memories of extravagant, incredible expenditure. Two urchins, dirty, unkempt, hoarse, and tough as the Dead End Kids, stood in a huddle on Madison av. "Sure, sure, give her a mink coat!" said one, catching the lavish spirit of Christmas, 1944!

Winter White Wool Dresses Are in Fashion

BY REA SEEGER.

Winter white wool dresses are back in the fashion spotlight. It's not the dazzling chalk white of the summer collections, but the soft off-white shade so flattering and easy to wear, in simple but decorative wool materials like jersey, rabbit's hair wool, and serge, with a few smooth gabardines for extra interest. All the dresses are made in simple straight line silhouettes. Most of them have short sleeves, including the new wide kind that end about three inches below the shoulders.

Skirts are made with side fullness, clustered tucks, or simple gathered sections held with a narrow band belt, so as to keep the additional fullness flat at each side and the front smooth and flat. Most of the belts are of the same material as the dress. They are so attached that they can be removed easily in favor of very decorative dress-parade belts. Neck lines are high but flattering. The contrasts are cleverly achieved with new and unusual designs in braid, embroidery, and dressmaker details such as bands, scrolls, and appliqued motifs.

One super collection of these winter dresses, to be found in a smart Michigan av. shop, features all sizes and many unusual models. There are those trimmed with very narrow and most effective dark brown rick rack braid. One dress has the entire bodice covered with the braid in lattice pattern. Another has just the yoke and sleeves decorated in a wandering all-over design. Another has a shimmering gold metal thread embroidered crown and crest motif high on the left chest section. Handsome buttons in gold metal set with pearl trim a fourth model and make it and the others specials for contrast duty under winter coats of fur or fabric.

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Current history enacted in film form, even while the headlines are fresh in every one's mind, with Hollywood actors impersonating living characters, is one of the recent and more interesting developments of the movies. It could be awful, but in "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo" it has resulted in a gripping rehearsal of one of the most daring deeds of recorded history. If there's a little sugar coating in the form of slightly too protracted conjugal love scenes, some unnecessary dance sequences in the officers' club, some out of place background music, that's all right, too, if it brings to the public at large some measure of the meaning of Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's first raid on Tokyo and what it involved in the way of heroism and suffering for his men to drop the first United States calling cards on Nippon.

The picture follows faithfully, with omission of but few important details, the chronicle of the famous mission as recorded by Capt. Ted Lawson in his book, "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo." It shows the inception of the idea with the then Lt. Col. Doolittle, the gradual growth of the plan, the recruiting of the men, the constant precautions to preserve perfect secrecy, the extensive training and drilling in every detail of the projected flight. There are a few moments at the beginning when you might wish that some of the sentiment could be omitted in favor of more technical details, but the human element of the saga is developed along with the military, with final powerful emotional impact.

You see the men, their training at last completed, aboard the carrier Hornet, and as the crucial hour approaches your nerves tighten with theirs. And when, 24 hours earlier than planned, 800 miles away from the coast of Japan instead of the intended 400, they have to take off because they have been sighted by a Japanese vessel, you live vicariously with them that perilous journey and those breath-taking seconds over Tokyo that sound the first signal of doom for Hirohito. Nor does the tension relax when the plane is wrecked on the coast of China, the badly injured men are rescued by friendly guerrillas, and the long trek to safety and medical attention is begun. It is to the credit of the director, Mervyn LeRoy, that little of the men's suffering is minimized, nor the grisly tragedy of Capt. Lawson's amputated leg softened for popular appeal.

You don't think of actors in this picture until it is over—then you realize that Spencer Tracy as Gen. Doolittle and Van Johnson as Capt. Lawson have done a splendid job, and that Phyllis Thaxter has been very good and sympathetic as Mrs. Lawson. And a big hand for all the other boys.

This picture should be a must and on the way out there should be a bond booth immediately available. It will be easy to buy an extra one after you've seen this.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 25.—After all this to-do, Howard Hughes' "Outlaw" will be released by United Artists in early spring. John Meyers, who introduced Faye Emerson to Elliott Roosevelt, set the deal. While I'm about it, I'd like to make a suggestion. The picture's a straight western. They could make it the funniest comedy of the year if they'd add a couple of scenes of animated horses talking back to the players and telling them what to do with those guns. This is just a suggestion given free, because my heart is overflowing with holiday cheer. . . . Anita Colby is being offered a radio deal. It couldn't happen to a nicer girl. . . . Fanny Brice is sorry now she didn't go back east for "Seven Lively Arts." She and Beatrice Lillie always have been great friends. They talk over the telephone two and three times a week, and Fanny is homesick to see her old pal.

Back to Fighting Form.

Congratulations to Perc Westmore, who celebrated 10 years of the house of Westmore on Christmas eve. Yet when he opened his friends gave him 10 months before the sheriff moved in. . . . For the closing scene of "Love Letters," Joe Cotten and Jennifer Jones walk into the sunset. William Dieterle kept saying, "Put a little more feeling into it, Joe." At that moment an electric cord started burning, and Dieterle said, "What smells?" Quick as a flash, Cotten replied, "Don't anybody answer that question!" . . . You know our cozy way of making gangsters into district attorneys, ministers, lawyers, and what have you. Now little Skippy Homeier, Nazi fiend from hell in "Tomorrow the World," may do another version of "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Must be the Christmas spirit that's driving them mad. . . . Mary Pickford and Samuel Goldwyn have had many a battle but all is serene now, and Mary's about to rent space in Sam's studio, which was her studio before the Goldwyn period. People can be as far apart as the poles here, but when there's any chance of large sums of money changing hands we can get together quicker than those bugs in that rug.

Brings a G. I. Love Letter.

Pat O'Brien brought this love letter to his wife from Walter A. Dutch of the 10th combat cargo squadron: "The Johnnies who send you this are in love with you because you must naturally make Pat the great Joe he is. Personally I love you." A perfect ruby was enclosed in the envelope. . . . Louis Mayer returned to Metro to find a Christmas tree in his office, and on it more than a thousand cards of welcome from Metro employes from all the fighting fronts. . . . That play Franchot Tone is rehearsing, "Hope for the Best," is about a Hollywood columnist who aspires to be a political columnist [I couldn't be more flattered!]. All takes place in his home, with one stage set, like "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Producers' Same Trouble.

Buddy De Sylva passes this on—about an orange sorter who was going nuts. A friend suggested he be psycho-analyzed. He went in weeping, and the psychiatrist asked his business. "I sort oranges." "What does that mean?" asked the psycho. "Well, I have to pick the culls from the real ones, ripe ones from the too ripe ones, green ones from orange ones." "So what?" And in a Niagara of tears, he replied, "Don't you see? I have too darned many decisions to make!" . . . Hollywood all but folded up when Ann Miller was picked as one of the 10 most glamorous women of 1944. . . . Rights to an hour's version of "Show Boat" for "Hall of Fame" cost only $2,500. To me "Show Boat" is a classic of all time. . . . Turnabout: Now it's Curt Bois playing Paul Henreid's stooge in "Spanish Main." Ten years ago Henreid was doing that for Bois, who had the lead in a stage play in Vienna.

ties, for prizes will be given to the two ties judged the best looking. Three women will select one tie and three men another, and out of the contest may come the answer to why some men never wear the ties their wives give them. The Key club will have its usual New Year's eve party Dec. 30.

The Convent of the Sacred Heart will give its senior supper-dance Saturday night in the Grand ballroom of the Drake hotel. On the committee are Miss Mary Frances Wall, Miss Jane Murphy, Miss Joan Hickey, and Miss Patricia Kenney.

Debut Parties.

Before a screen of snowy garlands, Miss Joan Fulton Johnson and Miss Anne Wilson and their parents, the C. Wallace Johnsons and the junior Theodore W. Robinsons, will receive guests from 4 to 7 p. m. today in the Racquet club at the debut tea-dance of the two young women. Assisting the buds will be Miss Johnson's sister, Angeline; Miss Ariel Tatman, Miss Florence Howell, Miss Carla Hawley, Miss Helen Burch, Miss Barbara Ann King, Miss Kay Manning, Miss Ann Cornelisen, Miss Ruth Lee, Miss Nancy Madlener, Miss Nancy Underwood, and Miss Barbara Gammie, who is here from New York to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Alexander G. McLaughlin, and Mr. McLaughlin.

The club will be decorated in red poinsettias and carnations and white trees. After the party the assistants and their escorts will go to the Palmer House for dinner and dancing.

Mrs. William George Lee is entertaining at luncheon today in the Racquet club for Miss Ann Gregory, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Gregory. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sears will entertain at dinner in the Pump room tonight for Miss La Verne Knight, also a debutante, taking their young guests afterward to see "Winged Victory."

Miss Edith Soames' debut on New Year's day in the Lake Forest home of her mother, Mrs. Julian Soames, will be an old fashioned reception from 4 to 7 p. m. to which friends of the bud and her mother, as well as of her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Scott, will be invited. Miss Soames is here from Bryn Mawr college to spend the holidays.

Mrs. Nathaniel Leverone will give a luncheon Saturday in her home in Lake Shore dr. for Debutante Helen Burch.

Recent Bride

Mrs. Jerome J. Gordon.

Mrs. Jerome J. Gordon is the former June Goodman, whose marriage to Mr. Gordon, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gordon of Chicago, took place recently in the Standard club. Mrs. Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Goodman of Glencoe and Pearson st., was graduated from the North Shore Country Day school, attended Stephens college, and received her degree from the National College of Education. Mr. Gordon attended the University of Chicago.

Romance Over, Girl Is Advised to Return Ring

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I went out with a man for two months and he gave me a diamond ring. Then recently he broke off with me, informing me that he can't stand being bossed around, and we'd better call it quits.

"Well, I said nothing and so we just didn't see each other any more. We have met on the street and say 'hello,' but that's all. It's over three months since the romance ended. When we met on the street he never said a word about my returning the ring. Now he writes me telling me that since we are no longer what we were to each other, he would like the ring back. In fact, he said he couldn't see why I didn't return it voluntarily.

"My question is: Am I supposed to return that ring since he was the one to break off first. My opinion is that I should keep it as long as I had nothing to do with breaking the engagement." Signed T. V.

We think, under the circumstances of your brief relationship, comparatively speaking, that the young man is entitled to have the ring back, regardless of who broke up the romance first. Or, put it another way, a girl should not want to retain a ring given her as a binder of a promise to marry when no marriage is in the offing. Had a man strung a girl along for years, say, and then, for no good reason, jilted her, there are those who think, if there is any consolation in ownership of the ring, it is the girl's right to keep it. We aren't exactly of that school of thinking. The ring is given in a spirit of troth and that's the symbol it should remain. When the troth is broken, the ring no longer belongs on the girl's finger. And we think it should be returned voluntarily.

SYNOPSIS: John Ranger and three cattlemen go in search of rustlers who shot Rod Spillman. In an attempt to get away one rustler is killed and a stranger, Cape Sloan, is held. Uhlmann and Sholte want to hang Sloan saying he is one of Scarface's bandits. Sloan escapes. Singlehanded he rescues Sandra and Nelson Ranger from raiders and wins the friendship of their father. At the Ranger ranch the Negro cook recognizes Sloan as Mr. Webb, escaped prisoner. Mr. Ranger voices his suspicions of Jug Packard. Sandra notes Sloan's reactions and gets him to admit he is Bob Webb. From Stan Fraser, Sloan learns the petition for Webb's pardon was blocked by Packard who fraudulently secured the Webb share in the Johnny-B mine and framed young Webb for the killing of Giles Lemmon. The Rangers persuade Chandler Newman, former bookkeeper at the Johnny-B mine, to talk. Uhlmann recognizes "Webb." Trapped in the hotel Fraser and Sloan seek refuge. Ranger hides them. Packard rushes to Ranger's room and finds Sloan there. At the point of a gun, Packard is forced into a ruse that permits Sloan and Fraser to escape under gunfire. String Crews heard Uhlmann, while drunk, admit Packard paid him to do away with Webb's father. Reward is offered for the capture of Webb, escaped convict, who robbed a stagecoach and killed a man in Tucson. The Rangers and Newman visit the governor in Sloan's behalf. A missing witness must be found. Packard arranges with Uhlmann to do away with Webb. On the way to see Mrs. Mary Uhlmann, missing witness, Sandra meets Fraser and later Uhlmann who demands she reveal Webb's hideout. To make him release her horse she lashes him and he fires after her. She returns to Uhlmann's ranch to plead with Mary. Scarface encourages Mary to talk, protects Sandra, and denounces Uhlmann for shooting at a woman. Mary tells them Uhlmann shot the wrong man, Lemmon, and Packard covered his mistake by framing Webb.

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.
HEAVY DEMANDS.

Mary Uhlmann went on, as tho something inside of her was forcing her to talk at last.

"Hans' story was that you had come in to kill Packard and that when you started shooting he had to draw a gun to save the life of his boss. Afterward I knew that wasn't true just as I knew I couldn't change him. He was bad—not bad the way Scarface or Cole Hawkins is. They are wild and reckless, and I reckon both of them have killed men in fights, but they are kind hearted and they are always gentle to me. Hans is evil. There is something about him that makes my flesh creep." Her voice broke.

"You're thru with him for good and all," Fraser reminded her cheerfully. "We'll take you where you will be safe—where he can't reach you."

"There's no place I can go," she said. "I don't know anybody now but riff-raff and outlaws."

"My sister would be glad to have you stay with her at Tucson," Bob said. "But if Uhlmann found you she couldn't give protection from him."

"Miss Ranger asked me to come to their place, but I expect her father would feel differently about it," the woman said.

"The very place for you," Fraser cried. "John Ranger is a man among a thousand. Of course he'll want you there, just as Miss Sandra does. I happen to know they were trying to get a housekeeper a week or two ago when they were in Tucson. You'd be fine for the job."

"I think I could look after a house," Mary admitted doubtfully.

"Of course you can." Fraser assumed this settled. "Rhino shot Bob's horse. We'll have to run up a couple, one for you and one for him."

"I didn't say I'd go," the woman protested.

"We'll kidnap you," Fraser laughed. "Bob and I are old hands at it. We've just turned loose a sheriff we kidnaped."

Bob carried his saddle in from the knoll where the dead horse lay. He found Mary Uhlmann packing a cheap telescope valise. The clothes she put in it were old and patched, but he noticed that they were clean. Fraser brought in two horses that he had roped in the pasture. They saddled and rode out to the road which led down the valley.

Mary felt safe with these men, tho one of them was reputed a desperate criminal. She knew instinctively that they were good.

Altho she was giving up forever the shameful life she had been forced to lead, Mary's heart was heavy within her. She lacked the courage to face a future spent with decent people. A sense of unworthiness weighed her down.

Sandra Ranger had been kind, but that might be because she was trying to get something out of her. When Mary showed up at the Circle J R she and her father might make it very plain they wanted to have little to do with her.

In the darkness Uhlmann's horse picked its way thru the brush up Double Fork. Until nightfall he had lain hidden in a hill pocket. He did not know whether any posse of cattlemen was out after him, but he had to keep from being seen for fear his presence in that locality would be reported. There was an open season on him now.

The narrow valley of the Double Fork widened into a small park. At the foot of a rocky bluff, sheltered by a few scrubby live oaks, were a corral, a stable, and a small cabin. There was a light in the house, and as Uhlmann rode forward a dog began to bark. At once the light winked out.

"You alone, Pete" the fugitive called warily.

There was a long silence before an answer came. "I can't do a thing for you, Rhino. The boys are aimin' to tack yore hide on a fence. You better light out for the border right now."

"Open that door," Uhlmann ordered.

"You hadn't ought to of come here," the man in the cabin reproached. "This is the first place they'll look for you. If you had any sense you would know that. Like as not somebody is lying back there in the brush with a rifle trained on you this very minute."

"Yeah, you're mighty anxious for me not to get hurt," sneered Uhlmann. "If I was shot, you wouldn't go down to the store and tell everybody how fine it was I had got my come-uppance at last, seeing I always had been a killer and a bad man. Not you, Pete." The voice grew suddenly harsh and imperative. "Fling open that door. And don't light the lamp. We won't need it."

Sholte's wheedling voice protested. "Now looky here, Rhino. Down at the store couple a hours ago I was warned to keep outa this if I knew what was good for me. I don't mean to let myself get drug in."

"I'll blast my way in and come a-smokin' if you don't open," the hunted man threatened savagely.

"That's no way to talk to a friend," Pete grumbled. "I'll let you in, but there's nothing I can do to help you. It's not my fault you got yore tail in a trap." He drew back the bolt and opened the door.

"Have they started a posse out after me?" Uhlmann asked.

"I dunno. They were still talking when I left. But the boys are crazy mad. They'll get you sure, if you don't pull yore freight. What in tarnation made you shoot at the girl?"

Uhlmann said bluntly, "I want money."

"I was down to the store buying supplies," Sholte answered quickly. "I ain't got but three dollars left. I'll divvy with you 50-50."

"I'll take $300. Get it outa the hiding place where you keep yore dough."

"Three hundred dollars," wailed Sholte. "Why, I haven't got that much in the world."

"Dig it up. I'll give you a bill of sale for enough of my stock to cover it."

"How could I use that bill of sale? The boys would know I had contacted you and they would string me up for helping you to make a getaway. They would claim I always had been in cahoots with you."

"I don't care whether you use it or not." Uhlmann growled. "It's the money I want."

"But I tell you I haven't got it." Pete pulled from his pocket a small handful of silver. "You can have all I got. Here it is."

Uhlmann's small eyes glittered like those of a cat in the darkness. "The boys are gonna hang me, you claim. Or maybe shoot me as they would a wolf. They can't do any more to me for rubbing you out too. I want that money."

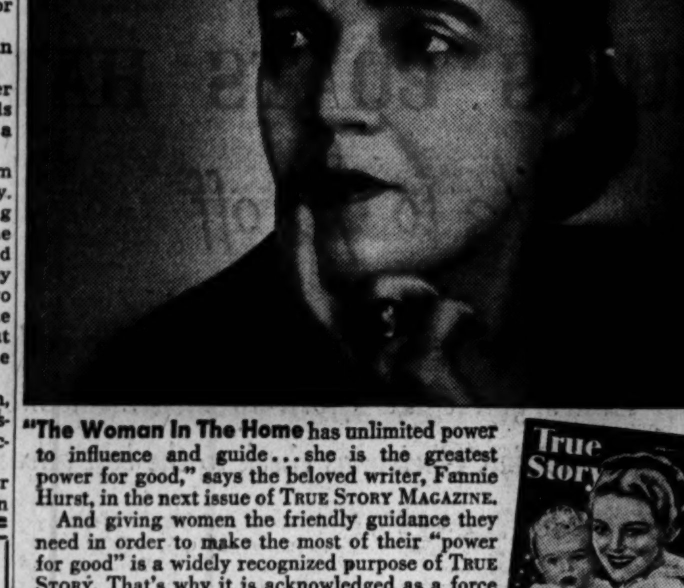

"If I had it, Rhino——"

"Don't talk," interrupted Uhlmann. "Get busy, or I'll let you have it and do the hunting myself."

Some of our favorite vegetables belong to families of flowers. The onion, for example, is a lily, little as it may resemble that pure blossom in fragrance. The sweet potato belongs to the morning glory tribe.

Morning glory or not, it's a mighty fine vegetable. Rich in vitamin A, vitamin C, and minerals, the sweet potato doesn't have to be sold on its nutritional quality—flavor made it popular long ago.

Sweet potatoes have been a staple food in the south for so long that most of the recipes we use in their preparation are those which were developed by southern cooks.

Sweet potatoes baked, mashed, and whipped to a fluff with a seasoning of butter, brown sugar, and nutmeg are a Texas specialty. In Maryland and the Carolinas they like sweet potato pie, much like pumpkin pie and made in the same way. Georgians love their "yams" with ham.

Here are a few other southern ways with this rich fleshed yellow vegetable:

Sweet Potato and Nut Loaf.
[Serves Five.]

2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
1 beaten egg
¾ cup dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon salt
¼ cup margarine
1 cup chopped peanuts or walnuts.

Save out ½ cup of the nuts and several tablespoons of crumbs for the topping. Mix other ingredients and pack into greased pan. Sprinkle nuts and crumbs which were reserved on top. Bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees and serve hot with tomato sauce.

Sweet Potatoes with Turnips.

Combine mashed sweet potatoes and mashed white or yellow turnips in equal parts, season with salt, pepper and margarine, and serve hot.

Baked Sweets with Apples or Oranges.

Alternate layers of sliced sweet potatoes and apples or oranges in a greased baking dish and season each layer with bits of margarine and a sprinkling of brown sugar, maple sirup, or honey. Add just enough water to cover bottom of pan. Cover and bake in a 350 degree oven until potatoes are tender, uncovering during last few minutes to brown. Pineapple may be used in this way, too.

Sweet Potato Biscuits.

1 cup sifted all purpose flour
½ cup mashed sweet potatoes
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons lard
Milk.

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together and add to potatoes, mixing with a knife. Work fat into mixture lightly. Add just enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a floured board and pat out to about ½ inch in thickness. Cut into biscuits; bake 12 to 15 minutes in a 400 degree oven.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Bologna Treats.
[Serves six.]

6 slices large bologna, ¼ inch thick
6 eggs
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
¼ cup water
6 slices of toast

Do not remove skin from bologna slices. Saute in hot fat until slices curl into nests. Break an egg into each bologna nest and sprinkle with salt and chopped parsley. Add water to the pan and cover. Cook over low heat until eggs are set. Arrange on toast and serve with tomato sauce if desired.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	1 spade
2 spades	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	4 spades	Pass
7 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: 2 of spades.

A most remarkable series of cue bids took place when the above hand was played. The North player's repeated cue bids in a suit that his partner had already cued were made to a certain extent out of devilitry, and I am quite persuaded that he did not foresee the far-reaching effect those bids would have on his partner's subsequent bidding. In point of fact, they enabled South to make a very fine decision as to the final contract. It will be noted that a contract of seven hearts would have been doomed to failure.

East's overcall of one spade is not sound strategy. Very little is to be gained by such bids. Better tactics by East would have been a preëmptive bid of three spades [not too drastic a step when the vulnerable conditions are taken into consideration]. This would have made it virtually impossible for the opposition to reach seven diamonds, and they would have had to be content with a small slam. South's immediate cue bid of two spades showing no losers in that suit is justified after partner responds with one heart, which makes slam prospects very bright. North decided to take things easy and allow space for further conversation, by merely bidding three diamonds. South now showed the heart support and North bid 3 spades.

Since partner has shown a void of the suit, it is doubtful that he will enjoy hearing about the ace, but North felt it could do no harm. South's next bid of four clubs was routine, and North countered with a spectacular repeat cue bid in spades. This bid could have no other meaning than an intent to show the king of the adverse suit.

South all along had been planning to play the hand in hearts, but the information that his partner had the ace and king of spades caused him to change his mind. If the hearts were not solid, South's two losers in that suit could be discarded on the ace and king of spades. It was reasonable to assume that North held both red kings and he was willing to gamble on a singleton club in partner's hand. At the very worst the success of the hand would depend upon the spade bidder having the king of clubs. He therefore bid seven diamonds, which contract was easily fulfilled by setting up dummy's hearts after South discarded two of the suit.

on the SOLID side

And then there's the interesting story of the young character who was everything a reasonable Joe could ask for—and then one or two things more. And it was that "something" that made her a king-sized failure in the smooth date department.

She was a good conversationalist with a quick line of chatter, a good dancer—could take it fast or smooth, a pretty pigeon, well groomed, neatly stacked. She knew how to crack the books of an evening and could outtalk most other gals when it came to books, plays, music, and world events. And besides all this she knew how to laugh in the right places, smile at the right people, and listen at the right time. In fact, her ability to be a good listener was one of her chief charms.

Take any Friday night [and in the beginning she had at least one Joe to take any one of them]. The evening might begin with a little bright light and music, some boy-girl conversation, and would inevitably end up with the beau boy thinking she was the sweetest thing this side of Joan Leslie. All she did was give him that baby-blue stare and her undivided attention and any boy would begin to talk.

She gave them sympathy, understanding, attention, and everything was strictly in the all right department because they all thought she was a sincere and honest character and loved her for it—until the next day.

It seems that this honeychile just couldn't learn the meaning of keeping a confidence. Every bit of chatter that went between her and her date the evening before was lunch table gossip for the girls the next. With a smile and a smirk, she would go over word for word—everything that her date had told her the night before, taking time out for the girls to be amused at his confidences.

And she liked to chalk up scores by telling the gals how he had wanted to hold her hand and what approach he had used when he asked to kiss her good night. One word led to another and finally the whole story would wind itself right back to the boy involved. And, being the smart Joe he was, that boy promptly crosses that gal off his datebait list. All of which proves: She who talks less, lasts longer.

Daughters of Sweden Aid Refugee Children

As their major Christmas philanthropic project the American Daughters of Sweden have sent cash contributions and boxes of clothing to the Radda Barnen organization which is caring for refugee children in Sweden. An affiliate of Save the Children federation whose headquarters are in New York, Radda Barnen is taking under its wing the youngsters who, it reports, are coming from Finland, Denmark, France, Belgium, and the Baltic states at the rate of 500 a week. At present between fifty and sixty thousand of these children are in Sweden, and clothing and other necessities are urgently needed. Miss Nellie Fredeen is president of the American Daughters of Sweden.

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Even at Christmas, there is a limit to good will. A year ago when "The Waltz King" played the Civic Opera house I thought it a fatuous bore, and when fate decreed I should spend Christmas night seeing it all over again with some cast and choreographic alterations, the show hadn't changed much, and my opinion of it not at all. Well, maybe once. If Litzie Helm, billed as the Hedy Lamarr of Vienna, had a chance with good lines and direction she might be able to capitalize on that warm quality, tho I think she looks more like Gladys Swarthout than Hollywood's Hedy.

Margit Bokor is entranced with holding on to high notes, and Anthony Marlowe beats her by a good second in the Jan Kiepura handicap.

But don't necessarily take my word for it. During some of the drearier proceedings a character on the stage, prompted by the librettists, who may have had an ax to grind, lilted, "Just one exciting event after another." And when two of my confreres slunk quietly up the aisles and out to their typewriters, a character in front of me muttered indignantly, "Bunch a' jerks. You see a good show and do they like it the next morning? Nah! Bunch a' jerks."

Colleges Look to Vets to End Dearth of Men

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 25 (AP).—An estimated post-war flow of 650,000 war veterans to college campuses for federally financed studies "represents the chief hope of American colleges and universities for rescue from the present dearth of men students," Dr. Raymond Walters, nationally recognized college statistician, reports.

Dr. Walters' comment is contained in his 25th annual survey for School and Society, education weekly.

As of Nov. 1, Dr. Walters said, there were 608,750 full time students and a grand total of 925,084, including summer and part time students in 679 approved institutions. Despite good sized freshman classes of 16 and 17 year old boys, new students currently in these schools were from 50 to 94 per cent below figures of 1939, last normal peace time year.

As of Nov. 1, among institutions which reported to Dr. Walters both this year and last, 648 had 593,271 full time civilian and army and navy students, against 454,759 full time civilian and approximately 353,000 in army and navy units in November, 1943. For 646 institutions reporting grand total figures for both years, there were 893,883 this fall and 1,099,043 in 1943.

Slightly more than 60 per cent of the current collegiate population are women. In 56 publicly controled universities, 58.4 per cent of the full time students are women; in 50 privately controled universities, 53.2 per cent are men, in 142 independent arts and sciences colleges, 74 per cent are women; in 52 independent technological institutions, 64.9 per cent are men, and in 92 independent teachers' colleges, 75.7 per cent are women.

A large section of Dr. Walters' report is given over to comments as to prospects for returning veterans by Omar W. Clark, assistant administrator for the veterans' administration in Washington.

The peak load for colleges and universities probably will come a year and a year and a half after Germany's and Japan's defeats, Mr. Clark believes, in warning that war veterans will not arrive on college campuses in a rush, but will be distributed over several years.

Approximately 2,400 disabled veterans are currently studying in colleges and universities.

WAC to Continue Recruiting; Hospital Technicians Needed

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—Recruiting for the women's army corps will continue in 1945, with emphasis on obtaining qualified hospital technicians.

The war department, in announcing this today, said there is an acute need for medical and surgical technicians. WACs recruited for this duty will receive specialized training.

Women with other special skills also are needed.

Thru the Looking Glass

These are times when we can rejoice that our pet eye pads are again abundant.

They're superb picker-uppers when you're laid low by the kind of exhaustion that is peculiar to holidays, when you stay up later than you should, pop around more than you should, and undoubtedly eat, smoke, and drink more than you should.

Packed in a glass jar, these little eye pads, of cloth, cut out like carnival mask, are saturated with some solution specially prepared for tired eyes. What's in it we don't know; it seems to us just a grand mixture of magic and menthol and it does wonders in bringing up some sparkle when the eyes grow dim with weariness. Lay the moist mask over closed, aching lids and lie down flat for five minutes. When you get up you'll feel like a new woman—and your old familiar face will be a far better looking one!

That five minutes spent lying down will help all the tired muscles of your body, of course, and the tense nerves will come undone if you know how to relax, but the big switch will be in the improvement of your eyes. The redness and tight, aching sensation will vanish. You'll have more energy, and your facial attractiveness undoubtedly will be doubled. This is a beauty treatment worth five minutes of any woman's time.

Mrs. George H., Chicago—After taking the stain from a piece of furniture I use a furniture polish if the finish is "satin." If the finish is glossy I use a polishing wax. This brings up the original luster.

Miss Erna Petersen, Gary, Ind.—To remove the sticky substance that is often left after adhesive tape has been removed I use a fingernail polish remover.

Mrs. Harold D., Evanston—If egg is spilled on table linen or any washable garment I take a blunt knife and scrape away as much of the stain as possible. Then I sponge with cold—not hot—water. Hot water makes egg stains almost impossible to remove.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 25.—Raymond Hitchcock, a good many years ago, popularized a song, "Ain't It Funny What a Difference Just a Few Hours Make?" . . . Paraphrasing Ray, I was reminded today of how much greater difference a few years make. . . . This was impressed upon us as we spent Christmas, a day of peace, at nearby Fort Benning where paratroopers, infantry men, artillery men and almost every other department of army life are busily engaged, getting ready for combat service. . . . It was only five years ago that the United States observed its last Christmas at peace. . . . It was a normal holiday evening. . . . Some of us went to a movie, helped the neighbor's children enjoy their toys, or stayed quietly at home listening to the radio. . . . Those who went out into the night saw an occasional soldier or sailor, because conscription already was in operation. . . . The fighting force had become an accepted fact, altho few believed these young men ever would experience the shock of combat. . . . With the world on fire, it was comforting, nevertheless, to know they were standing in readiness. . . . America went calmly to bed. . . . Many Americans dreamed that night, but few dreamed that before another Christmas rolled around we would be in the thick of the conflict. . . . Less than a year later Young America donned warriors' trappings, pulled on flying suits, infantry dungarees, and naval uniforms while the Japs and Germans sneered. . . . The youth of the United States was weak and decadent, they told their people. . . . It had been softened by idleness and rich living. . . . It had wasted its time playing games like football, baseball, basketball, softball, and tennis, while the supermen of Germany and Japan developed the strength which comes from mass calisthenics and rigid discipline. . . . There were even patriotic Americans who referred to our great athletic programs as evidence of the era of hysterical nonsense. . . . These critics doubted the qualities of this generation of Uncle Sam's youth. . . . They questioned its ability to get in there and fight, its ability to take it, and dish it out.

The critics of American sport are invited now to tell it to the marines and the G. I. Joes from Guadalcanal to Tarawa and Saipan, and up to Leyte and Mindoro. . . . Tell it to the men who braved the beaches of Normandy and streaked across prostrate France. . . . Tell it to the men who stayed in there and took it when the Germans lashed back with their recent counter-offensive. . . . Let the German radio commentators tell it to the home folk as the bombs rain down from planes piloted by decadent American youth. . . . Explain it away as the men from the era of hysterical nonsense come storming thru the Siegfried line, heading for Cologne and Berlin, for they're coming, never fear. . . . Where did they get this indomitable will to win? . . . Ask any one who worked with these same young men a few years back. . . . Ask a football coach, an athletic director, a gymnasium instructor. . . . Ask Gen. MacArthur, who many years ago predicted that our competitive games some day would pay rich rewards. . . . Our weakness, if any, was not too great stress on athletic contests, but too little. . . . It ought to be the job of educators after this war to see that every able bodied boy experiences the thrill of competition, and develops a desire to excel in whatever activity he goes in for—throwing a left hook, pitching a baseball, kicking a football, passing a basketball. . . . That seed is nurtured and developed best on the playing fields of America. . . . Nearly every officer at Fort Benning or any other military base will bear witness to the truth of that statement.

The Shadow on the Dial.

"Time is the shadow on the dial"
Was written long, long ago.
The dial, of course, is each of our lives,
The shadow, the hours as they go;
For each, however young we may be,
The shadows lengthen apace,
Slowly at first the sands of time
Filter thru, then quicken their pace.

"Time is the shadow on the dial"
When the sun is high and bright,
One scarcely sees the shadows move
In the glory of noon's clear light;
But as evening draws nigh we notice them more,
And somehow, who can say why,
They bring an ineffable sadness
That the light so shortly must die.

"Life is the shadow on the dial"
Look often and mark the time,
Let's live so that every hour left to us
Brings us nearer to the sublime!
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

16 PREP FIVES PLAY TODAY IN MAROON MEET

Junior Tourney at Fenwick High.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Pre-season high school basketball tournaments sponsored by the University of Chicago and Fenwick High school will open today, the former in the Midway fieldhouse at 1 p. m. and the other one in the Fenwick gymnasium in Oak Park at 7 p. m.

The Chicago tournament, inaugurated in 1902 by Amos Alonzo Stagg, is being resumed after a lapse of three years. Today's action will bring together 16 teams in eight games, five to be held this afternoon.

Survivors will advance to Thursday's second round play, where they will be joined by eight additional squads which will qualify in tomorrow's second session of first round games.

Lane to Battle Parker.

Among today's contests will be one between Lane and Parker, both of which earned the right as a result of victories scored in eliminations in the fieldhouse last Saturday. Lane, which beat Parker for the tournament title in 1934, eliminated Fenger, 42 to 20, and Parker disposed of Medill, 52 to 8.

Du Sable, which won the last University of Chicago event in 1941 and consequently will be defending champion, begins play at 2 p. m. tomorrow against Crane Tech.

Four preliminary games are on tonight's junior tournament program in Fenwick gymnasium and four more will be held tomorrow. St. Patrick will oppose Fenwick, the host school, in the second contest at 8 p. m. Coach Dave Hayes, whose St. Patrick seniors captured the St. George tournament in Evanston last week, is confident his junior quintet will bring the west side school a second title.

St. Philip Is Confident.

Clem Naughton, St. Philip coach, has other ideas, however. Clem, whose seniors were runner-up to St. Patrick in the St. George meet, says his juniors will be in top form for their opening encounter against St. Michael at 9 p. m. tomorrow.

Quarter-finals will be held Thursday, semi-finals Friday, and finals Saturday. Today's schedule:

AT U. OF CHICAGO.

Lane vs. Parker; Dunbar vs. Tuley; Vocational vs. Phillips; Gage Park vs. Steinmetz; Calumet vs. Walier; Farragut vs. Austin; Englewood vs. Marshall; Lindblom vs. Sullivan. [Play starts at 1 p. m.]

AT FENWICK HIGH SCHOOL.

De La Salle vs. Loyola; St. Patrick vs. Fenwick; Weber vs. Joliet Catholic; St. Ignatius vs. St. Rita. [Play starts at 7 p. m.]

Here's a Bowl Game with No Advance Sale

SPAGHETTI BOWL HDQ., Italy, Dec. 25 (AP).—The possible starting lineups for the New Year's day football game between the 5th army and the 12th air force, scheduled in the Spaghetti bowl at an unannounced site, are filled with former college players. The opening array, announced today, shows the air force Blockbusters boasting a back field averaging 201 pounds behind a line weighing 214 per man. The Doughboys will rely on an all-corporal batch of ball toters averaging 197, operating behind a forward wall averaging 218.

The probable lineups, with home towns and colleges:

DREAMS OF A WHITE CHRISTMAS COME TRUE—SNOW FOOLIN'

A pair of sailors join two sisters on a toboggan ride in Ryan woods yesterday. The four, reading from front to back: Eleanor Reese, 8018 Bennett av.; Norman Mills, R. T. 3d class; Marian Reese, and Eugene W. Whitaker, seaman 1st class.

Riding a toboggan big enough for one and strong enough for two—but not three—Marilyn Mills, 13, and her brother, Clyde, 11, of 9745 Beverly av., are also enjoying the Ryan woods snow festivities. Don't look now, but they are losing a passenger, their cousin, Russell Mills, 6 years old, whose arm is discernable as he is about to part company with the toboggan.

Skiing is the outdoor forte of Jim Sims, 8913 S. Leavitt st., who joined the devotees of winter and greeters of a white Christmas in Ryan woods yesterday. Altho the competition for skiiers was not so keen as those in the toboggan department, Jim encountered a few thrills on the slide anyhow. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

WITH U. S. FORCES ON WESTERN FRONT, Dec. 25. — Four big leaguers and a baseball writer last night put on a show for the baseball hungry G. I.'s which had them so entranced they forgot it was Christmas eve and they were in a strange land.

Frankie Frisch, Mel Ott, Dutch Leonard, and Bucky Walters, with Roy Stockton of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch serving as master of ceremonies, came on after a half hour motion picture showing the highlights of the last world series. It was a show that would have done credit to veteran troupers. Leonard told of the final game in the American league in which he let the Detroit Tigers down with four hits.

Frisch Louder Than Guns.

Ott reminisced about his many years with the New York Giants, including some John McGraw stories; Walters told of his transformation from infielder to hurler, while Frisch, in the raucous voice famous thruout the land for its umpire baiting qualities, gave expurgated versions of some of his encounters with the arbiters while the ack-ack guns outside began barking, their noise seeming dwarfed by Frankie's foghorn tones.

When the brief talks ended Stockton threw the meeting open for questions, with those asking them being rewarded with autographed league balls thrown from the stage.

Ott Has an Answer.

The questions ranged from "What became of Jack Winsett?" put forward by Master Sgt. Jimmy Cannon, former sports writer and Broadway columnist, to "Hey, Mel, when you gonna do something for the Jersey Giants?" [Giants' farm club] which brought the quick rejoinder from Ott, "When are they gonna do something for me?"

Draft May Take Athletes Who Failed in First Tests

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—Physical standards for military service have not been lowered, but this does not necessarily mean that 4-F professional athletes called up for reëxamination would again be rejected.

This question arose today as the result of War Mobilization Director Byrnes' instructions to selective service to review the military qualifications of men in professional sports.

Byrnes said last Saturday it was difficult for him and the public to understand how men can be physically unfit for military service and yet be able to compete with the greatest athletes of the nation in games demanding physical fitness. A substantial number of these athletes hold 4-F classifications due principally to injuries sustained in sports competition.

Some May Be Taken.

A selective service source pointed out that many of these 4-Fs may be borderline cases, and that local draft boards probably will check their records to spot such cases.

Reëxamination may disclose that the physical condition of some of these 4-Fs have changed for the better since their last examination, making them acceptable for induction into service.

It is not unusual for selective service to submit such cases to the army or navy three or four times, the selective service pointed out.

The decision as to whether a man is fit for service is entirely up to the army and navy following examination at an induction center.

May Induct Men Over 28.

Byrnes' reference to "a large number of men between the ages of 18 and 26 engaged in professional sports" brought up an additional question as to whether the suggested reviews would be limited to that age bracket.

For the last six months, concentration has been on men from 18 to 26, but selective service has indicated that older men will have to be taken in the future.

Presumably, if a professional athlete above 28 is called up for review and is found physically acceptable, he will be inducted.

Grange League Is Doubtful of Opening in '45

Harold [Red] Grange, newly elected president of the proposed United States Football league, told the Associated Press yesterday that he had little hope his organization would begin operating in 1945, as had been tentatively planned.

"At our last meeting in Akron, O.," said the former Illinois and Chicago Bears' star, "we talked over the possibility that war conditions might prevent our getting under way. We all agreed, of course, that winning the war is the first thing and playing football is secondary.

"If conditions in this war continue as they are right now I don't think any league should operate."

BROOKLYN AND TENNESSEE WIN GARDEN BATTLES

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—Striking back in the last half, Brooklyn college upset Western Kentucky, 49 to 45, in the first game of a basketball double header in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Both teams were slow to find the range but the Kentuckians spurted to take a 22 to 18 lead at the half. With Bill Rosenblatt and Bernard Barnett leading the attack, the Brooklyn five quickly tied the count at 22 to 22 and the score was tied six other times before Jerry Remer sent the local five into a 45 to 43 lead with five minutes remaining.

The Brooklyn attack was well spaced with Remer scoring 14 points and Barnett 11. Lawrence Jones, 6 foot 6 inch center of Western Kentucky, paced the losers with 14.

Tennessee beat New York University, 50 to 48, in the second game.

WINGS DEFEAT LEAFS 4TH TIME IN ROW, 6 TO 4

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 25 (AP).—The Detroit Red Wings took a 5 to 2 lead in the second period tonight, then hung on to whip Toronto for the fourth time this season, 6 to 4, and moved within a single point of the National Hockey league lead. A holiday throng of 10,907 fans watched the game.

The Red Wings had beaten the Leafs at Toronto Saturday night, thus making it two victories in three days over the third place occupants and four victories and a tie against the Leafs this season.

Toronto, after being dropped behind, 5 to 2, in the second period, punched in two quick goals in the first eight minutes of the third period to come within a hair of tying it up. But Rookie Steve Wochy of the Wings celebrated his 22d birthday by hammering in the clinching marker with four and a half minutes to play.

Scores 100th Detroit Goal.

Wochy's goal was his second of the night, his other one being Detroit's 100th of the season.

The Red Wings gained an early 2 to 0 lead on goals by Joe Carveth and Carl Liscombe before Nick Metz scored Toronto's first counter on Gus Bodnar's long pass just before the first period ended.

Eddie Bruneteau's rebound shot was matched by Art Jackson's first Toronto goal, but Wochy and Grosso counted to hike the Detroit lead to 5 to 2 before the second period ended.

Carr Intercepts Pass.

Lorne Carr intercepted a pass to score unassisted and Metz hooked a back hand shot past Harry Lumley to make the score 5 to 4 before Wochy's punch salted away the verdict. Frank McCool had a busy evening in the Toronto net, saving 31 Detroit shots.

SWOPE DENIES HE'LL ASK BAN BE MODIFIED

Crowd 2d Largest in Track's History.

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 25 (AP).—A big Christmas crowd gave racing a merry start on its last lap today by betting a record sum of $716,716 at Tropical Park's inaugural program.

Herbert B. Swope.

There was a surge of optimism at the track as 14,171 brightly-dressed spectators poured thru the turnstiles, and horsemen began to take renewed hope that the government might relent and take some of the sting out of a request that the sport shut down Jan. 3.

There was a rumor that Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of Tropical's directors and a leading official, would go to Washington in an effort to have the ban modified, perhaps to permit racing twice a week, but Swope later declared that he had no such plan.

But the spectators, second largest crowd ever to attend a program at Tropical, apparently were interested only in getting down a few bets before the shutdown.

Day of Upsets.

The total wagering on the nine races and the daily double far exceeded the previous high mark of $629,038 bet on Tropical's closing day last April 8.

Only throng to exceed today's was the 15,168 which saw the New Year's morning card in 1939.

It was a day of upsets, only two public choices scoring.

Field horses, animals considered such long shots that they are crowded together in the betting when more than 12 racers run, finished one-two in the first $7,500 division of the featured six furlong Inaugural handicap.

A. M. Bank's Offenbach, a 3 year old gelding ridden by G. L. Smith, triumphed in a driving four horse finish and Woolford farm's Silvestra was second. Quien Es, one of the better liked contestants, was third.

Those who bet on the combination of Offenbach, Silvestra, and Tidy Reward got back the handsome return of $45, $26.50, and $13 across the board. Offenbach's time of 1:10 1-5 was only a fifth of a second off the track record. Quien Es had a show price of $6.50.

Arcaro Rides Winner.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro returned to the races after a rest to boot Greentree stable's Dustman to a two length victory in the second division of the Inaugural, equaling Offenbach's time.

The 3 year old gelding paid $11.70 to win, $6.20 to place, and $5.30 to show. Bobanet stable's Sophocles couldn't maintain an early lead, but nosed out Hasteville for second place. Sophocles paid $14.70 and $8.60, Hasteville $10.10.

Tropical already had planned today's sparkling inaugural program when the racing ban was announced Saturday, and decided to go ahead with eight days of racing.

A ninth race will be added to the regular daily cards, net proceeds going toward the relief of stranded horsemen.

Hope to Start Fund.

A plan was inaugurated here today that its proponents hope to see grow into a national fund for the relief of racing men during the emergency. Organization is known as Racing Relief, Inc., and papers will be filed in Miami tomorrow seeking a charter to administer details of the group.

The aim of the new organization is to collect funds from racing organizations thruout the country and to start a fund that can be administered for relief of horsemen and all others connected with racing. Officers of the new association made it plain that the fund would be turned over to a national group.

Seek $2,000,000 Total.

Messages have been forwarded to all race track associations and directors by President A. J. Cleary, who fostered the national idea for participation in the national plan and complete coöperation. A sum close to $2,000,000 is hoped to be raised to meet the emergency for which no specific time has been set.

The fund will be administered to all men in need regardless of their association with any racing organization or group, and the care and maintenance of horses will receive primary attention. The entire body of local directors and their officers will resign in favor of the national group who may be selected to administer the fund nationally so that all sectors will benefit and all connected with racing will not suffer.

GEORGIA TECH'S ATTACK IS BUILT AROUND BROYLES

Veteran Back Threat to Tulsa in Orange Bowl.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 25 (AP).—When big Eddie Prokop, a 10 second triple threater, left the Georgia Tech campus last March with a navy V-12 transfer, about two-thirds of the Ramblin' Wreck's potential back field power went with him.

Prokop beat Tulsa virtually by himself, offensively, in the 20 to 18 Sugar bowl victory last January, gaining 199 yards on the ground and accounting for 83 thru the air.

Of those who assisted him, only Frank Broyles, a triple threat All-Southeastern back this season, and pint sized Mickey Logan, are available for Tech's Orange bowl game with Tulsa Jan. 1. However, Logan, hurt early in the year, has been ineffective for the most part and in the waning weeks lost his starting berth to George Mathews, a 155 pound freshman half back.

Williams Powerful Punter.

Rounding out Tech's 1944 back field are Allen [Dinky] Bowen, the nation's leading high school scorer last year at Greenville, Miss.; Tex Ritter, Broyle's understudy, and a sub last year; Billy Williams, a powerful punter with plenty of promise as an all-around back; Johnny McIntosh and Charley Helzer, both blocking backs of fair ability.

The usual secondary replacements include Jack Bills, a fair passer; Tom Carpenter, rated as a good runner, Jack Carver and Charley Nixon.

Does Bulk of Passing.

Broyles is the "daddy" of the outfit, doing the bulk of the passing and kicking, and his share of the running. He has scored six touchdowns and thrown touchdown passes for 17 more of the 36 Tech scored this year. Broyles also does the quarter backing and is rated as one of the best pass defenders in the business. Tulsa will see plenty of him in Miami.

Bowen's forte is an end sweep, but he also runs off tackle and handles extra point chores. He racked up 48 points this year, and on defense he plays safety and is classed as the team's best tackler.

Mathews is a tricky runner in an open field and has few peers when it comes to snaring passes. He has scored eight touchdowns, all on passes.

Cooper Major Reason T.C.U. Is Bowl Team

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 25 (AP).—A youngster who asked so earnestly for a chance to play football that the coach took him in despite his 167 pounds—light for a center—is a major reason why the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs are to play Texas A. & M. in the Cotton bowl Jan. 1.

Sept. 1 Jim Cooper showed up on the campus and sought out Coach Dutch Meyer. "I'd like to play for you," he said.

Liked His Spirit.

Meyer looked him over and wondered how a fellow like that would fare in this rough, tough Southwest conference. But this is war time and football material is scarce—and besides Meyer liked the guy's spirit.

Today Jim Cooper is All-Southwest conference center. He was the pivot of a rugged, fighting line that beat down the heralded University of Texas forward wall; he was the player who led T. C. U. to victory over Rice in the game that won the conference championship.

But the day Jim came out for the T. C. U. team, Bryan Taylor, 210 pounder, had caught Meyer's eye and held a wide edge at the center post. Cooper played hard in practice but looked erratic and Meyer still thought he couldn't go.

Steps Into Breach.

But on opening day Taylor came up with a knee injury. Into the breach stepped Cooper to play 58 minutes against Kansas. He did well enough that Meyer began to take notice and to work with him. He played half or more of every game after that and when Taylor became scholastically ineligible Nov. 1, Jim was the No. 1 man.

CHICAGO GEARS LOSE, 64 TO 47, TO CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., Dec. 25 [Special].—Cleveland defeated the Chicago American Gears, 64 to 47, in a National Professional basketball league game here tonight.

The defeat snapped a Chicago victory string of three games.

INVADERS IN TOURNAMENT OF ROSES CONTEST

These University of Tennessee football players probably will be in the starting lineup when the Volunteers oppose the University of Southern California in the Rose bowl game in Pasadena, Cal., Monday. Linemen (in front, left to right) are Buddy Pike, Bo Stewart, Bob Dobelstein, Russell Morrow, E. J. Asbury, Russ Dobelstein, and Charles Wildman. The backs are Bill Bevis, Buster Stephens, Mark Major, and Casey Stephenson. The Vols already are working out in Pasadena.

PARHAM, JAMES HEAD MARIGOLD CARD TONIGHT

Charley [Peewee] Parham, hard hitting Milwaukee welterweight, and Tommy James, former city Golden Gloves 147 pound champion, will meet in an eight round bout heading the final show of the year tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace st.

Parham, who lost a fierce eight round fight with O'Neil Bell of Detroit in his last Chicago appearance in the Stadium on Nov. 24, will be seeking to qualify for a match with George Costner, knockout specialist from Cincinnati, at the expense of James.

Prior to his battle with Bell, Parham stopped Jerry Pittro in Milwaukee.

Change Next Week's Date.

Costner has been signed to appear in the first 1945 card in the Marigold arena next Tuesday night and his foe may be Parham. Next week's show was set back a day because New Year's falls on the club's regularly allotted Monday.

Doll Rafferty, 145 pounder, also of Milwaukee, is paired with Benton Cobbins of Cincinnati in an eight round secondary feature this evening. Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun yesterday made two changes in the supporting program. James [Smyles] Wilson, south side middleweight, has been substituted for Roland Hopp of Indianapolis against Mike Sopko, Indiana Harbor, in five rounds, and Eddie [Kid] Carson, lightweight, also of the south side, has replaced Ray Glenn, Indianapolis, against Marion Rhoten, Milwaukee, in four rounds.

Ellison to Meet Hubbard.

An additional five rounder will bring together Claude Ellison, Des Moines heavyweight, and John Hubbard, Milwaukee.

Chief Petty Officer Tony Zale, world middleweight champion, spent Christmas with his wife and baby in Gary yesterday as a result of being given a nine day leave from his duties at the naval station at Norfolk, Va.

Seeing Eye Wins Mexico's $2,500 Christmas Feature

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 25 (AP).—Heavily favored Seeing Eye, owned by G. Z. Carranza of Mexico City, won the $2,500 added Christmas handicap today at the Hipodromo de las Americas racetrack. The top weighted 3 year old son of Bulldog and Owena ran the mile in 1:38. Naidu was second and Endy third.

COSTLY TO OREGON.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 25 [AP].—Oregon, where $10,691,704 was placed in dog racing bets this year, stands to lose over a third of a million dollars if the war mobilization director's racing ban stays in effect thru 1945.

Vols Come Into Rose Bowl on Single Wing and a Prayer

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—Tennessee came from a teamless 1943 to a Rose bowl bid this year, all on a single-wing and prayer.

And Coach John Barnhill took the youngsters to the top on straight football, without aid of the ballyhoo that might accompany such a phenomenon.

Tennessee played essentially the same style this year that the Vols' fans have seen for many a season—the backs line up in a single wing formation and the line shows nothing fancy in the way of tricky shifts. Coördinated blocking, combined with faultless ball handling, is the heart of the system.

Stephens Stopped Once.

In Freshman Tail Back Buster Stephens, Tennessee has a scoring threat that only Alabama was able to stop completely tho the length of his gallops diminished as his fame spread and opponents were drilled to "stop Stephens."

Doing much of the line bucking was Full Back Mark Major, while Casey Stephenson, a Navy dischargee who played with the Iowa Seahawks last year, ran reverses. Bill Bevis, a junior and a member of the 1942 squad, handled the ball and the team as blocking back.

Developing into a triple threat as the season progressed, Stephens passed either from kick formation or after a lateral run to one side, and quick-kicked the Vols out of several tight spots.

Stephenson Regular Kicker.

Distance kicker was Stephenson, with freshman Guard Joe Steffy being called in from the bench to place kick extra points. After Steffy was hurt, however, Stephenson booted three for three in the second game against Kentucky.

Gone are the days when a Tennessee coach had at least three full teams to soften up a foe. Tho the roster numbers 38 men, 29 are freshmen and substitutions have been held to a minimum. For example, Bevis has played 60 minutes in four of the Vols' eight games.

The lineup against Southern California New Year's Day probably will be:

Ends—Buddy Pike and Roy Cross or Charles Wildman, with Blessing and Hill in reserve.
Tackles—Russ Dobelstein and Mike Paldousis, with Regan and Stewart in reserve.
Guards—E. J. Asbury and Bob Dobelstein, with Chadnock and Edmonds in reserve.
Center—Russ Morrow, with Miller in reserve.
Backs—Bevis, Stephenson, Stephens, and Major, with Holsclaw, Manning, Redding and Law in reserve.

Trojans Favorites

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—Southern California's Trojans, unbeaten in seven Rose bowl appearances, tonight ruled 19 point favorites to beat Tennessee in the Pasadena stadium next Monday.

Coach John Barnhill put on a Santa Claus party for the Volunteers this morning, then sent them thru a brisk afternoon workout. The Trojans, under the direction of Coach Jeff Cravath, confined their activities to blackboard diagrams.

HOLIDAY STAKES AT FAIR GROUNDS TO MANY LANDS

New Orleans, La., Dec. 25 (AP).—Al Wellman's gelding Many Lands nipped the favored Brownie for a nose victory in the five and a half furlong $2,500 added Christmas handicap today at the Fair Grounds. Many Lands, a field horse, paid $57.40 for $2.

Before a crowd of 10,800 which bet approximately $280,000, Joe W. Brown's Brownie and Many Lands laid far back until the final furlong. Brownie made the first bid, heading Mrs. H. P. Bonner's Defense and J. J. Keith's Four Deep.

Then Many Lands, with midget Andy Lo Turco up, charged in on the outside and in the final jump nipped the wire in a photo finish. Defense held third and Four Deep was fourth.

Brownie carried top weight of 122 pounds, Many Lands 108.

The mile and 70 yard Holly purse, secondary feature of the day's eight race program, went easily to Mrs. F. Nugent's Troop Train. Steve Brooks pushed the big gelding hard for the distance and coasted home. Mrs. Bonner's Triple Scotch and Mrs. H. L. Donovan's Valdiva followed in the order named. Troop Train paid $11.20 for $2.

AUSTRALIA ALSO PUTS CURB ON HORSE RACING

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 25 (AP).—A spokesman for the Australian Jockey club, chief racing body in Sydney, said today Australia had placed restrictions on racing for purposes similar to Washington's decision to close tracks during war time.

In order to save labor and critical materials, the spokesman said, Australia dropped her race fixtures from a normal 111 annually to 40 at one stage. Recent modifications have restored the number to 55.

28 RACES MAKE UP PROGRAM FOR ICE SKATE MEET

Twenty-eight final races, including six for beginners, are on the program of the Western Open ice skating meet scheduled for Sunday afternoon in Humboldt park under the sponsorship of the George F. Barrett Athletic club. Titles will be decided in all classes from midget to senior for both boys and girls, and with the present cold spell apparently assuring perfect ice, competition is expected to be the best in years.

Full teams are entered from the Catholic Youth organization, Northwest Skating club, Peirce playground, Barrett Athletic club, Glen Ellyn Skating club, and the Champaign-Urbana S. C., with smaller groups representing many of the Chicago parks and playgrounds.

Bill Beck, coach of the sponsoring club, expects entries from Wisconsin and Missouri in both the senior ladies and men's races. The program for beginners, sponsored by the Chicago Sports association in coöperation with the Illinois Skating association will consist of a series of races for midgets, juveniles, and juniors.

The complete program, with the first event scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p. m., follows:

SENIOR MEN—220 yards, 880 yards, and 1 mile.
INTERMEDIATE BOYS—220 yards and ¾ mile.
JUNIOR BOYS—220 yards and 880 yards.
JUVENILE BOYS—220 yards and 440 yards.
MIDGET BOYS—110 yards and 220 yards.
CLASS B MEN—880 yards.
RELAY—1 mile [4 men each skating ¼ mile].
SENIOR WOMEN—220 yards, 880 yards, and 1 mile.
INTERMEDIATE GIRLS—440 yards and 880 yards.
JUNIOR GIRLS—220 yards and 440 yards.
JUVENILE GIRLS—220 yards.
MIDGET GIRLS—110 yards.
CHICAGO SPORTS ASSOCIATION BEGINNERS' RACES [all 220 yards]—Junior boys, juvenile boys, midget boys, junior girls, juvenile girls, midget girls.

JAKUCKI NAMED TOP AMATEUR GRADUATE OF '44

Wichita, Kas., Dec. 25 (AP).—Sigmund Jakucki, St. Louis Browns pitcher, was the leading graduate of nonprofessional baseball in 1944, the National Baseball congress said today.

Jakucki, who participated in three national tournaments before signing with the Browns, clinched the American league flag by blanking the New York Yankees in the final game of the season. He formerly had played with nonprofessional teams at Houston, Tex.; Waco, Tex., and Buford, Ga.

Runner-up for the honor was Charles Hostetler, 38 year old rookie outfielder of the Detroit Tigers.

HORVATH JOINS EAST STARS AND LEADS IN DRILL

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—Paced by Les Horvath of Ohio State, eastern football stars had their best workout today preparatory to the East-West charity contest New Year's day.

Horvath, a late arrival due to studies, checked in last night and was welcomed by Coaches Andy Kerr, Bernie Bierman, and George Hauser.

Gifts for Players.

The eastern boys, drilling at the University of Santa Clara, went thru one long workout before having Christmas dinner. Gold watches, gifts of the Shriners' organization sponsoring the game, were handed out.

The western squad had an even more intensive workout. Coaches Orin Hollingbery and Homer Norton sent their charges thru a practice lasting more than three hours. Don Paul, center from the University of California at Los Angeles, has been converted into a guard.

SOUTH TRIES PASSES

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 25 (AP).—The Southern All-Stars continued work on passing plays today, determined to outflank a formidable northern line in the annual Blue-Gray football game Saturday.

Charley Trippi, former University of Georgia back field star and sparkplug of the 3d air force Gremlins, did most of the passing but also on the throwing end were Y. A. Tittle of Louisiana State and Pete Layden, former Texas star who played this year with Randolph field.

The receiving combination was composed of Ted Cook, former Alabama end and one of Trippi's Gremlin receivers; Dewell Rushing of Florida; Dub Lamb of Maxwell field, and Jack Russell of Randolph field.

GARFIELD PARK WINS B. B. Y. O. REGIONAL MEET

Garfield Park chapter won the Great Lakes Regional B'nai B'rith Youth Organization Aleph Zadik Aleph, affiliated chapters' basketball tournament yesterday in Lane Tech gymnasium by defeating Sachar, 46 to 18. The new champions led, 24 to 12, at half time, and their attack was paced by Orville Shane with four baskets and three free throws.

In the morning semi-final games, Sachar defeated Detroit No. 309, 30 to 25, and Garfield Park beat Detroit No. 504, 36 to 33.

FRANK MURPHY, MICHIGAN BRIBE RECEIVER, DIES

Ex-Lieutenant Governor at Liberty on Bail.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 25 [Special].—Frank Murphy, 47, who served a term as Michigan's lieutenant governor in 1941 and 1942 and last June pleaded guilty to accepting bribes from distillery interests, died in his home here tonight of heart disease.

Murphy had been at liberty under $2,500 bond since Judge Leland W. Carr of Lansing accepted his guilty plea. Sentence was deferred pending the trial of four Detroit distillery executives indicted with him.

Planned Restitution.

When he entered his guilty plea, Murphy told the court he was seriously ill of a heart ailment and did not know whether he had "60 days or six years to live." He said he wanted to get the bribery charge off his mind and planned to make voluntary restitution of $2,500 he admitted receiving.

The state charged that this sum was given Murphy in exchange for his assistance in obtaining passage of a 1941 law reducing the distillery license fee from $5,000 to $1,000.

Elected on His Name.

Murphy was a field auditor for the board of tax administration from 1932 to 1935 and was little known politically when he became one of a nine man field in the race for the Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor in 1940.

His nomination and subsequent election was generally credited to voter confusion as to his identity. He was unrelated to United States Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, a former Michigan governor.

UNION OFFICER QUITS; CHARGES RED DOMINATION

New York, Dec. 25 [Special].—Charles A. Bardunias, president of the New York local of Western Union employes, which is an affiliate of the CIO American Communications association, today announced his resignation in protest against what he termed Communist control and domination of the local and its parent organization.

Bardunias said he resigned from the local, which has a membership of 8,000, because he believed that the Communist faction in control of it and of the national organization had "discarded principle for expediency" in planning for a nationwide collective bargaining election of Western Union employes to be held within the next two weeks by the national labor relations board.

The employes will be asked to choose between the American Communications association and the commercial telegraphers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

LEWIS TO OPEN MINE CONTRACT PARLEY MARCH 1

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—John L. Lewis, who admits he will ask for more money for his United Mine Workers if President Roosevelt eases present wage restrictions, also is making arrangements to reopen contract negotiations with the coal operators March 1.

Lewis has said that if the President yields to AFL-CIO pressure for upward revision of the wage policy, he will follow with an immediate demand for higher pay for the miners.

Like the AFL and CIO, Lewis will base his case on the rise in living costs. The President's cost of living committee reported these expenses were approximately 30 per cent above January, 1941, levels. The Little Steel formula, upon which present wages are based, allows a 15 per cent increase over January, 1941, pay. Wages will be discussed here next week by John T. Jones, representing the UMW, and Ezra Van Horn for the operators.

PRAISE SOLDIER AID FOR SAVING LIVES IN N. W. TRAIN WRECK

Survivors of the Viking, Chicago and North Western railway passenger train which was wrecked Sunday night a mile east of Poplar Grove, Boone county, 75 miles northwest of Chicago, last night credited soldiers from Truax field, Madison, Wis., with providing the first aid and rescue work which held the death toll to one person. Mrs. Anna Quirk, 68, Beloit, Wis., was killed and 22 others were injured, five of them critically.

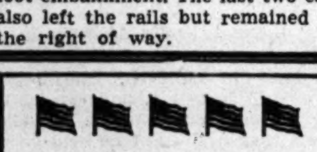

Mrs. Helen Whalgeil, 41, of 1150 Olive st., Janesville, Wis., one of the injured, said the soldiers, who were aboard the train, improvised stretchers from the seats of automobiles that stopped on a near-by highway to aid in relieving the injured. Eight of the soldiers it was learned had been litter bearers on western Europe battlefields.

One of the most critically injured passengers was Donald MacKenzie, 33, of 5219 W. 64th st., a war worker. He is in St. Joseph hospital, Belvidere, with a possible skull fracture.

Railway officials ascribed the wreck to a broken rail. The first 11 coaches of the 15 car train passed safely over the break, but coaches 12 and 13 were hurtled over a 15 foot embankment. The last two cars also left the rails but remained on the right of way.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

PREDICTS REDS WILL STOP USE OF LEND-LEASE

N.A.M. Says Amtorg Will Buy Again.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—The NAM News, published by the National Association of Manufacturers, predicted today that Russia will withdraw from lend-lease at the end of its present commitments, liquidate the soviet government purchasing commission by summer, and return control of its buying and selling transactions in this country to Amtorg, the soviet agency with headquarters in New York.

The magazine said the fourth protocol, which covers lend-lease commitments to Russia during the current fiscal year, has not been signed. This has caused some confusion among American manufacturers handling lend-lease orders, and "apparently some concern among state department and foreign economic administration officials," it said.

According to FEA officials, the magazine said, Russia requested large amounts of industrial equipment under the fourth protocol. The United States countered by offering to fill a limited amount of these requests under section 3-C of the lend-lease act, which permits sale of lend-lease goods.

Unsigned for 10 Weeks.

A contract was drawn listing the items to be shipped under 3-C—somewhere between 25 and 50 per cent of the 3 billion dollars' worth approved for 1944-45—and specifying credit terms and methods of payment. This was sent to Moscow about 10 weeks ago but Russia has not replied, the News said.

Meanwhile, signing of the fourth protocol is being held up. The third protocol expired June 30. Some essential military equipment is being shipped to Russia pending signing of the protocol. However, manufacturers approached by the Russians regarding items coming under section 3-C have been advised that if they proceed before receiving an order from the treasury, army, or navy procurement they will do so at their own risk, the News said. It added that no orders have been or will be issued until the protocol is signed.

Several Choices for Congress.

The magazine also said it has learned from sources close to Russian officials in Washington that the administration's loan program calls for giving congress the choice of any one or any combination of these plans:

1. Expansion of the Export-Import bank to allow loans to foreign governments for approved purchases in the United States. In case of default the United States government assumes the loss.

2. Extension of loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to United States manufacturers who offer attractive credit terms to foreign purchasers. In case of default under this plan the manufacturers would assume the loss.

U. S. Guarantee Possible.

3. Selling government export insurance to the exporter for a nominal fee. Under this plan the exporter who grants short term credit would be insured against loss up to a certain fixed proportion of his commitments, probably 50 per cent. The government insurance agency would be managed so as to balance collections against claims.

4. A direct government guarantee to the exporter to reimburse his losses up to 50 per cent. Under this plan the taxpayer would assume the burden of all claims.

In addition to these, which are solely United States plans for purchases in the United States, congress would be asked to approve the Bretton Woods proposal which creates an 18 billion dollar pool of short term and long term credit, of which the United States would subscribe 5 billion 925 million.

Almost 6 Billions Since '41.

That the Russians expect one or more of these proposals to be passed by congress as a prelude to a United States-soviet commercial treaty is evidenced by their intention to keep most of their purchasing commission officials in the United States to handle Amtorg business, the News said.

President Roosevelt in his report to congress on lend-lease to Russia said shipments from March 11, 1941, to June 30, 1944, amounted to $5,931,944,000.

A breakdown shows that ordnance and ammunition, tanks and parts, aircraft and parts, motor vehicles and parts, and watercraft amounted to $3,177,330,000; industrial materials and products, $1,728,832,000, and agricultural products, $1,025,782,000.

USE OF COPPER, ZINC TO RISE ON MUNITION BOOST

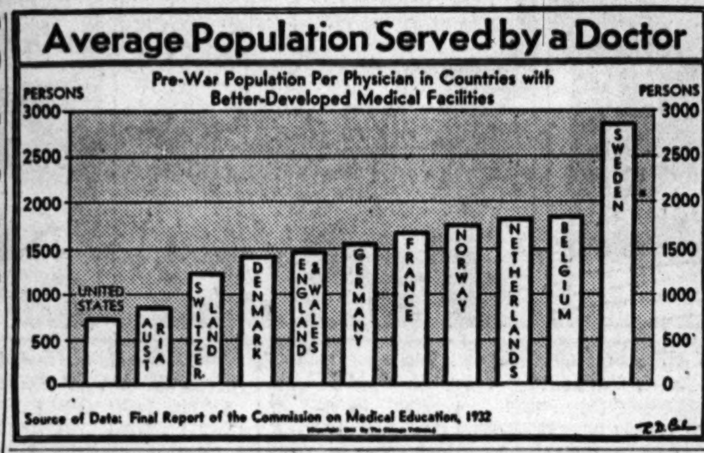

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—Swelled by requirements of the accelerated ammunition program, demand for copper and zinc, the components of brass, are expected to rise sharply in January.

Producers of copper said today inquiries for January deliveries indicated consumption might rise to 140,000 tons or more for that month. Zinc consumption is expected to be larger than for several months, and reserve stocks will be called upon for the first time, some trade authorities believe.

ON SHORT WAVES

LONDON.

The North American service of the BBC from London includes the following programs today. The frequencies [in megacycles] employed after 4:15 p. m. are: 11:93, 9.58, 9.82, 6.11, 7.26, 9.51. 4:30 p. m., Front Line Family; 4:45 p. m., News; 6:30 p. m., Radio Newsreel; 7:15 p. m., The Listening Post; 7:30 p. m., What War Means to Me; 11:05 p. m., War Review; 11:30 p. m., news.

Feed Supplies Adequate, Big Crops Indicate

Near record supplies of feed grains are available for consumption or for export during the 1944-'45 crop year, the department of agriculture's final report on the 1944 harvest indicated.

Production of corn, the major live stock feed, was a record 2 billion 910 million bushels, compared with 2 billion 725 million in 1943. Altho the carryover of corn grain from last year's crop was unusually small at 218 million bushels, the total available for use this season is 3 billion 128 million bushels. Observers said this should be more than sufficient for all requirements and leave a substantial carryover into the next crop year.

Feed Grain Use Slackens.

Disappearance of feed grains during the last few months has been substantially below the amount consumed during the corresponding period in 1943. Little prospect of any scarcity before next year's harvest exists, with the possible exception of barley. The barley supply for the 1944-'45 crop year is 352 million bushels, or 76 million less than last year.

Malting types of barley are scarce and sell at ceiling prices for the choice kinds used by brewers and distillers. However, feed grades of barley have to compete with corn and oats. With corn in good supply, demand for feed barley is below that of the last few years.

Distillers to Use Corn.

Some use of corn for distilling purposes has been authorized by the war food administration and 5 to 10 million bushels is expected to be used during the January shift by distillers from industrial to beverage alcohol production. A large part of this grain is understood to have been purchased recently, but inability of elevators to dry corn to the low moisture desired slowed sales last week.

Altho much corn remains in the fields in parts of Iowa, Nebraska, and Minnesota, offerings for deferred shipment from that area have been unusually large. For the first time this season Chicago elevator interests last week refused to purchase corn from that area. Much of the grain has an unusually high moisture content and must be dried before it can be stored or shipped to distillers and feed manufacturers.

SAFETY DEVICES.

I should like information regarding the products and earnings of Gamewell company.—C. R.

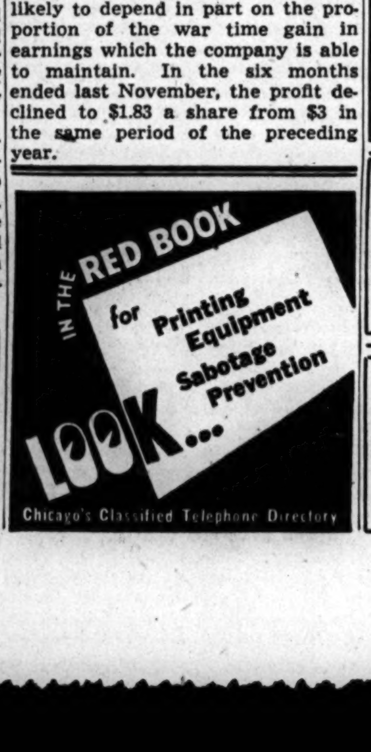

Normally the company's business consists chiefly of the manufacture and installation of fire alarm, police signal, and sprinkler systems; auxiliary equipment to operate fire doors and water curtains; and traffic signal devices.

In 1940 Gamewell and its subsidiaries adapted their standard products to the requirements of war industries and military uses, and sales have increased steadily. In the fiscal year ended last May 31 the volume was $17,272,000 compared with $5,276,000 in the 1940 fiscal period.

Profits since 1939 have been substantially in excess of those in the immediate pre-war years, ranging from $3.07 in 1940 to $9.50 in 1942, on the 119,304 no par shares. In the 1944 fiscal year the profit was $5.54, after renegotiation reserves, and in 1943 $4.50 after renegotiation settlement.

In 1939, however, the share earnings were only 39 cents, in 1938 $1.65, and in 1937 $1.36. Net losses were reported in each of the four preceding years.

Cash dividends in 1944 have totaled $3 a share. Stockholders recently approved a three for one stock split. The stock has risen from a low of 9 in 1939 to above 54 this year [before giving effect to the stock split], highest since 1931. Its peace time price level appears likely to depend in part on the proportion of the war time gain in earnings which the company is able to maintain. In the six months ended last November, the profit declined to $1.83 a share from $3 in the same period of the preceding year.

Markets Reopen

Security and commodity markets in the United States and abroad, closed yesterday in observance of Christmas day, will open as usual today, except for the Winnipeg grain market, which will reopen tomorrow.

Don't Forget Courtesy, Rail Tells Employe

The Milwaukee road is telling its employes that even tho they are "busier than a German air raid warden," the matter of courtesy to railroad passengers and shippers cannot be overlooked.

The road set forth this idea in a 20-page booklet which is being distributed to its 35,000 employes in the hope of combatting what it calls "war jitters" or a lack of politeness and friendliness on the part of employes to rail patrons.

Stands or Falls on Service.

"The Milwaukee road is essentially a service institution and it must stand or fall on the brand of service it supplies to shippers and travelers," said the booklet in its preface to a list of railroad "do's" and "don'ts."

"The conduct of personnel and the condition and appearance of facilities are constantly open to criticism anywhere thruout the plant—a plant which is nearly 11,000 miles long."

Among practices which it said make enemies and lose customers, the road listed these examples:

Calling trains in a manner resembling a tobacco auctioneer, handling luggage like a wharf worker, expressing anger and impatience with patrons seeking last minute accommodations, and banging cars unnecessarily when making up trains.

Urges Friendly Attitude.

The company urged employes to be kind to children, considerate to elderly travelers, and cordial to service men and women. It also asked that equipment be kept clean and workable, that coaches be kept at comfortable temperatures, and that dining car meals be fresh, tasteful and attractive.

"Every friend we make for the railroad now is a stake in the future," the booklet said. "Friends not only give us their business but talk favorably about us. Word of mouth advertising is always the surest means of building good will. And stated simply, good will means having friends on a wholesale scale."

DAYTON RUBBER FILES STOCK FOR PUBLIC OFFERING

The Dayton Rubber Manufacturing company, Dayton, O., announced yesterday that it had filed a registration statement with the securities and exchange commission covering 60,000 shares of common stock, of which 50,000 shares will represent new financing by the company and the remainder a sale of holdings of J. A. MacMillan, chairman, and his wife.

Lehman Brothers is expected to underwrite a public offering of the shares. Proceeds received by the company will be used to complete at an additional cost of about 1 million dollars an expansion program which has cost $3,739,387 during the last five years. MacMillan will retain 447 shares and Mrs. MacMillan 12,478 shares.

Illinois Central's Profit Declines for November

The Illinois Central railroad yesterday reported November net income of $1,078,447, compared with $1,790,080 a year earlier.

INTERCITY BUS LINES TO NEED 6,000 COACHES

Industry Will Give Jobs to Many.

Filling the post-war needs of intercity bus lines will require 6,000 motor coaches costing about 90 million dollars, the National Association of Motor Bus Operators said yesterday. Orders for the buses will be placed as soon as materials restrictions are lifted.

In addition the industry will have to rahabilitate as much of its existing equipment as is worth keeping. Filling all its needs will require the services of tens of thousands of workers, the association said.

Need 2,000 Buses a Year.

"The country's intercity bus lines normally require nearly 2,000 motor coaches annually," said Arthur M. Hill, president. "Because transportation is vital to the war, the manufacture of a limited number of buses has been permitted in the last three years, but far less than actual requirements. Also these are 'victory' models that lack the comfort and luxury post-war travelers will demand."

Hill said that the intercity bus industry's requirement of 6,000 motor coaches may appear small as a job factor compared with the expected vast demand for passenger automobiles, but it must be remembered that the buses, with new luxury appointments, will average $15,000 in cost and will require a correspondingly large number of man hours for manufacture.

Keen Competition Indicated.

"Even when the pent-up demand is met, the anticipated post-war travel boom will send requirements for subsequent years above previous levels," Hill predicted. "Plans of nearly all bus companies provide for completely rebuilding the major portion of their fleets when man power and parts are available."

Orders placed by Greyhound lines some months ago indicate that bus competition will be keen and will force all lines to obtain the most modern equipment to hold their business. Greyhound placed orders for one experimental bus with a subsidiary of General Motors corporation and another, using an air cooled engine, with Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation.

The White Motor company, Cleveland, O., has been building buses for city use having automatic transmissions which eliminate gear shifting.

STOP NUT FIRM WILL PAY $500,000 MORE ON 'V' LOAN

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—W. F. McGuinness, vice president and treasurer of the Elastic Stop Nut Corporation of America, announced tonight that the company would make a payment of $500,000 tomorrow to the Guaranty Trust company, reducing its "V" loan obligations to $2,500,000. He said the company since January had paid 8 million dollars of its "V" loan borrowings. McGuinness said that after making the $500,000 payment, the company will have about $5,500,000 cash on deposit to cover income tax and royalty obligations and current requirements.

People and Events

The Institute of Medicine of Chicago will meet in the Drake hotel Feb. 12 to discuss rehabilitation. The conference precedes by one day the congress on industrial health under the auspices of the American Medical association and will be held in conjunction with that meeting.

Appointment of Goodwin N. Roberts as district engineer for the fire division of the Cardox corporation was announced by H. W. Lange, sales manager. Roberts' headquarters will be in Chicago.

J. Ernest Fender, president of the Acme Brick company of Fort Worth, Tex., was reëlected president of the Structural Clay Products institute, national association of the manufacturers of brick and tile.

Delmar S. Harder has been elected president and a director of E. W. Bliss company. Harder formerly was general factory manager of the fabricating division of Fisher Body division of General Motors corporation. He succeeds H. H. Pinney, who has been made chairman of the board, a new position.

GIVE UP HOLIDAY, WORK ON SHIP AS CHRISTMAS GIFT

Brunswick, Ga., Dec. 25 (AP).—More than 1,500 shipyard employes voluntarily gave up their holiday today to work without pay on a cargo carrying vessel as a Christmas gift to the men on the fighting fronts. An additional 500 volunteered for the night shift.

The workers are among the 13,000 employes of the J. A. Jones Construction company. Scores of office workers joined with members of Brunswick families in helping serve the employes free meals donated by the shipyard cafeteria.

Government regulations require that the workers be paid, but sponsors of the move requested a separate pay roll so that those who worked today could indorse their checks to the treasury department.

KING-SEELEY'S STOCK WILL BE OFFERED SOON

The King-Seeley corporation, Ann Arbor, Mich., has entered into an agreement with F. Eberstadt & Co. and Watling, Lerchan & Co. covering the public offering of 100,000 shares of 5 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock, it was announced yesterday. A registration statement is expected to be filed soon with the securities and exchange commission.

DPC Boosts Indianapolis Plant Contract of G. M.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—The Defense Plant corporation reported that it had increased its contract with General Motors corporation, Detroit, to provide additional equipment at an Indianapolis plant with an expenditure of about $2,800,000.

Baldwin Profit Last Year Cut by Repricing

War contract renegotiation reduced 1943 net sales of the Baldwin Locomotive Works nearly 13 million dollars and reduced net income by $233,322, after tax adjustments, from the figures given in a preliminary report last March, Baldwin's delayed annual report disclosed yesterday.

Sales last year totaled $221,545,903 against $167,259,141 in 1942. The revised net income was $4,840,157, equivalent to $3.67 a common share, compared with 1942 profit of $5,316,344, or $5.01 a share. Total tax provisions were equal to $13.86 a share in 1943.

Some War Work Canceled.

During 1943 the company completed and shipped 647 steam locomotives and 272 diesel electric switching locomotives. It received orders for 2,021 steam and 343 diesel locomotives. Its order backlog was reduced during the year from $451,572,668 to approximately 250 million as of last Jan. 1, partly thru cancellations of government tank and locomotive orders.

The John B. Stetson company, Philadelphia hat maker, reported an increase in net income for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1944, to $458,731 from $406,218 the year before. Sales increased to $16,850,819 from $16,251,831 the preceding year.

Implement Firm Earns Less.

Net income of Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company and subsidiaries in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 was $1,313,193, equal to 96 cents a share on common stock after allowance for one year's preferred stock dividends. Profit in the preceding year was $1,632,406, equal to $1.42 a common share. Dividends on the preferred are in arrears $36 a share as of Nov. 15. Sales increased to $42,932,697 from $40,851,007 the year before.

LEGAL NOTICES

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS AND BUILDINGS.
DIVISION OF WATERWAYS.

Sealed proposals for furnishing all labor, services, equipment, materials and doing all work necessary for the construction of a gravity outlet culvert and reinforced concrete headwalls, together with all appurtenances through the levee on the south bank of Willow Creek, two and one-half miles east of the City of Meredosia in the Willow Creek Drainage and Levee District, County of Morgan, State of Illinois, will be received by the State of Illinois, Department of Public Works and Buildings, Division of Waterways, 201 West Monroe Street, Springfield, Illinois, until 10:30 A. M. Central War Time, December 28, 1944, and then publicly opened and read.

Among other items, the project includes the placing of approximately 30 cubic yards of reinforced concrete and 112 lineal feet of corrugated metal pipe.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the Division of Waterways, 201 West Monroe Street, Springfield, Illinois, where they may be obtained free of charge by interested parties. The prevailing wages to be paid on said work are as listed in said specifications.

Authority to start construction and material allotment have been granted by the War Production Board. Award of contract is contingent upon an agreement being entered into between the State and the Willow Creek Drainage and Levee District of Morgan County.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a Bank Cashier's Check or Bank Draft in the amount of at least ten (10) per cent of the total amount of the bid.

The State reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Thomas B. Casey,
Acting Chief Engineer.
